ATTACK ON COHALAN EVOKES COOL DENIAL

Justice Avers He Did Not Take Pay to Find a Political Job for John A. Connolly.

RETURNED WORTHLESS NOTE

Accepted It Originally, He Says, as an Evidence of Debt—Former Ally Accused Him of Grafting.

Describing it as so contemptible that he did not care to notice it further, Supreme Court Justice Daniel F. Cohalan last night issued a statement in denial of a charge made against him that under threat of a suit he had returned to John A. Connolly, formerly his friend and co-worker in Tammany Hall, a promissory note for $4,000, alleged to have been accepted in payment of services to be performed by Justice Cohalan in obtaining a political berth for Connolly.

This note, bearing date of April 5, 1911, and accompanied by an estoppel affidavit in which Connolly averred there were no defenses, counter-claims, or offsets against the note, was turned over last Thursday to Connolly's lawyer, Lyman E. Warren of 261 Broadway. The transfer took place in Justice Cohalan's private chambers, whither he had summoned Mr. Warren following the receipt of a letter, written the previous Tuesday, announcing that a suit would be started within forty-eight hours unless the note were returned to Connolly. This letter read:

Demand for the Note.

New York, May 19, 1913.

Hon. Daniel F. Cohalan.

My Dear Judge: I have been consulted by Mr. John A. Connolly in regard to a promissory note made by him and delivered to you in April, 1911, said note bearing date April 5, 1911, for $4,000, and accompanied by an estoppel affidavit, his statement to me being that said note was given by him upon your express promise to procure him a position, which you have failed to do, although more than two years have now elapsed.

He states to me this note was given you after you had had some differences arising with the conduct of the Victor Heating Company, which had been theretofore adjusted.

If this statement is correct, I have advised him that he has the right to receive back this note, it being an obligation which might be enforced against him, and he has requested me to bring suit for the surrender and cancellation of this paper; but as experience has taught me there is always two sides to most controversies, I declined to bring an action until I had requested a return of the document, and hence this letter is sent to you requesting the return of the same, with the estoppel affidavit accompanying it. I am leaving for the Court of Appeals in the morning and shall return on Wednesday, at which time I trust I may have a reply to this communication.

The note and affidavit can be delivered at my office. Unless I hear from you on or before Thursday A. M., I shall treat your silence as a refusal, and I am instructed by Mr. Connolly to bring an action for its recovery. Trusting this unpleasant duty may be obviated either by a delivery of the paper to me as his attorney or that I may be convinced his statement as to its procurement or delivery is incorrect, I beg to remain, very respectfully, LYMAN E. WARREN.

Justice Cohalan's Reply.

Justice Cohalan left his home at 23 East Ninety-fourth Street yesterday afternoon, and, following a conference with friends and advisers, issued this statement:

After I received the letter that Mr. Warren wrote me, the sense of which I perfectly understood, I decided to return to Mr. Warren, as the attorney for a former friend and client, a promissory note which was of no pecuniary value to me because I did not expect the note to be paid, and accepted it only as an admission by Connolly that statements he had previously made were unfounded.

When I returned the note and Connolly's affidavit to Mr. Warren, I said to Mr. Warren that the statement contained in Mr. Warren's letter to me, and there imputed to Connolly, that this note was given upon a promise to procure a position for Connolly was false and without any foundation whatever.

I told Mr. Warren that there never had been a moment after receiving the note when I would not willingly have returned it, since the note and affidavit had simply meant to me the admission by Connolly that he did owe me money, and owed it certainly, and that prior statements of his to the contrary had been made without justification.

Of course, the suggestion that the note was given by Connolly as a consideration for any promise by me to seek or obtain a position for him, public or private, is utterly false; and it is so contemptible that I do not care to notice it further.

Charges Made by Connolly.

Connolly formerly owned a controlling interest in the Victor Heating Company and was a contributor to the campaign funds of Tammany Hall. His charges, which Justice Cohalan describes as contemptible, have it that during 1904, 1905, and 1906 he paid to Mr. Cohalan sums aggregating $3,940.55 as commissions on city contracts. This was during the first administration of Mayor McClellan, when Mr. Cohalan was coming into prominence in the councils of Tammany Hall.

According to Connolly's story, Mr. Cohalan accepetd the $3,940.55 in accordance with an arrangement by which he was to receive 55 per cent. of the net profits on work done for the city and which came to the Victor Heating Company through Mr. Cohalan's political influence.

Connolly alleges that in 1906 he had a falling out with Mr. Cohalan, when the latter demanded $1,500 more than was due to him. He further alleges that in 1909 the facts were placed before Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, who ordered the return of the so-called commissions, and Mr. Cohalan complied.

But before this was done, according to the Connolly story, he consulted with Alfred B. Cruikshank, a lawyer, of 43 Cedar Street, and now living in Nyack.

Cruikshank Disputes Connolly.

Mr. Cruikshank came to this city yesterday, and after reviewing Connolly's charges, he also issued a statement. It read:

I acted as Mr. Conolly's attorney in giving the note for $4,000 and the accompanying affidavit to Mr. Daniel F. Cohalan, who was at that time a practicing lawyer in New York City. I drew the affidavit that Mr. Connolly swore to, and I personally delivered the note and the affidavit to Mr. Cohalan.

I understood then, and do now, that the sole consideration for that note was a money claim of Mr. Cohalan against Mr. Connolly. As a part of that transaction there was, so far as I know, no promise made by Mr. Cohalan to Mr. Connolly to obtain for him any political or other ap-

FATIGUE CONQUERS FARLEY.

Cardinal Has to Leave Church in a Dedication Ceremony.

Special to The New York Times.

KINGSTON, May 25.—Fatigued by the many ceremonies at which he had officiated in the last week, Cardinal Farley pleaded indisposition following his dedication of St. Joseph's Parochial School this afternoon and left St. Joseph's Church before the benediction had been pronounced.

The Cardinal officiated at two dedication services yesterday and at the dedication of the Loretta Rest for Superannuated Priests at Cold Spring to-day. He reached Kingston at noon, and in spite of his weariness took part in the parade through the streets which preceded the dedication ceremonies. In the latter part of the march he had to be supported on both sides by members of his suite.

Cardinal Farley made a long address to the children of the school. The dedication of the outside walls and the school building followed. He was expected also to make an address at the ensuing jubilee meeting, but the Rev. William Briody, pastor, announced to the large congregation that the Cardinal was unable to speak.

It was announced by Father Briody in St. Joseph's parish house late this evening that Cardinal Farley had retired early and was feeling much better. The Cardinal will return to New York to-morrow afternoon.

MISS FRICK'S CLUB OPENS.

Boston Working Girls Her Guests at Farm Near Wenham.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 25.—Several girls from mills, factories, stores, and offices have gone to the Iron Rail Club near Wenham, where Miss Helen Frick, daughter of Henry C. Frick, will have them as guests for short vacations.

Miss Frick started the club several years ago to carry out some of her ideas in sociology. When it became a success she set about making some ambitious plans, and now the club occupies a commodious old mansion on a farm of 150 acres.

Miss Frick will be aided in her work this Summer by Miss Frances Dixon of Baltimore.

HARRIED PASTOR TAKES ACID

Church Trouble Thought to Have Been Cause of His Suicide.

Special to The New York Times.

SCRANTON, Penn., May 25.—Leaving a note for the Coroner saying his death was "a plain case of suicide," the Rev. John Jurco, pastor of the Slavish Lutheran Church in Jessup, ended his life early to-day by drinking carbolic acid. The body was found by boys behind bushes near the railroad tracks between Jessup and Olyphant.

Trouble in his congregation is thought to have driven Jurco to the act. He was in this city last evening, and telephoned to his wife that he would not be home until to-morrow. It is thought that he framed his suicide programme before leaving the city. Besides the note to the Coroner, two were found in his pocket—one to his family, written in German; the other to the congregation, thanking it for its kindness to him and praying the Lord to protect it. The note to the Coroner read:

Don't bother disturbing my body. I have taken carbolic acid.

The preacher had been pastor of the Jessup Slavs, a small, struggling flock, for three years. It was stated to-night that there had been internal discord recently, and that it weighed heavily on the pastor's mind. A widow and two small children survive him.

DANCING GIRL DISAPPEARS.

Parents Seek Gertrude La Mott, Late of the Winter Garden.

A general alarm was sent out by the police last night for 16-year-old Gertrude Rye, a dancer, who recently appeared at the Winter Garden. She disappeared from her home, 522 East One Hundred and Thirty-sixth Street, early Saturday evening and her parents, after a twenty-four hour search for her, notified the police of the Alexander Avenue Station. The girl, who her mother said, has been on the stage since she was 8 years old, left home saying she was going out for a moment and would shortly return. She took with her neither money nor extra clothing.

The missing girl is of the pronounced blonde type, is slightly more than five feet tall and weighs about 100 pounds. When she left home she was dressed in a gray suit of the latest mode, black suede shoes and picture hat.

After an engagement at the Winter Garden she obtained work in the Metropolitan Theatre, a small playhouse in the Bronx. She was not satisfied with her work, according to her mother, and often expressed a desire to seek better employment. She was a dancer in Eddie Foy's Company, "Over the River" for several months. On the stage she was known as Gertrude La Mott.

PASTORS ADOPT EUGENICS.

Won't Perform Marriages for the Physically Unfit.

Special to The New York Times.

LYNN, Mass., May 25.—The Protestant clergymen here (Methodist, Episcopal, Congregationalists, and Baptists) have resolved individually to take a stand for the physical fitness of applicants for marriage, and this week they are to meet to concentrate their energies in behalf of the protection of society.

The Rev. C. Thurston Chase of the Central Congregational Church, the pioneer in the movement, said to-day:

"I have performed my last marriage ceremony in which it will not be necessary for the couple to furnish certificates vouching for their physical fitness.

"I maintain that a minister should refuse to perform the marriage ceremony when he thinks it should not be performed."

CATCH 32 PARK VIOLATORS.

Boy Arrested for Catching Fish with a Pin at 110th Street.

In obedience to Commissioner Stover's instructions, the police served thirty-two summonses yesterday on persons found violating the ordinances regarding throwing rubbish on the walks of Central Park. The summonses are returnable in the Harlem Court this morning.

Bernard Armour, 14 years old, of 1,574 Park Avenue, was arrested on a charge of fishing in the pond at 110th Street in the Park. The police say he was equipped with a birch rod, a line, and bent pin, and a bottle, in which he had his catch—two small fish.

GAVE UP HIS PISTOL TO BE SHOT WITH IT

"If I Had a Gun I'd Kill You," Said Actor Devlin—"Take Mine," Said Policeman.

UNWELCOME GUEST DYING

Had Followed Mrs. Devlin to Cliffside Home from Hotel, Where They Had Been Drinking.

Special to The New York Times.

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 25.—With his wife standing beside him in the parlor of their cottage in Cliffside at 1 o'clock this morning, James Devlin, a little, hot-tempered vaudeville actor, shot down his strapping big neighbor, Patrick Considine, a member of the borough police force. The weapon used was the policeman's own revolver, and to-night Considine lies in the North Hudson Hospital with little or no chance of his recovery.

To his fellow policemen, as policemen, the wounded Considine would not speak a word of what had happened. To some of them as friends he whispered bits of the story.

"Devlin said I had been too friendly with his wife," he said, "and I told him he had me wrong. Then Devlin made the crack that if he had a gun he'd shoot me. 'All right,' I said, 'if you feel that way about it, my lad, here's my gun. Take a shot.' Well, he let me have it, and here I am. And I'm making no squeal."

When County Detective Blauvelt, armed with instructions from Prosecutor Wright of Hackensack, came hustling over to the hospital to take Considine's statement, he found the wounded man inscrutable.

"If I'm going to cash in," he said, "you can bet your sweet life I'm not going to sign any statement that might be the means of making another fellow cash in. So clear out."

Just what happened to provoke the shooting has not been told, and the best explanation yet furnished to the excited neighbors is that all three had been drinking—the policeman who was off duty without leave, the vaudeville actor who was "resting" between engagements, and the vaudeville actor's wife, herself a vaudeville actress and his team-mate in Ellwood & Co. They had been on the road in a sketch called "The Girl from Yonkers," and had been telling Cliffside they were shortly to do time at Hammerstein's. Devlin formerly played in "Piff, Paff, Pouf," and Mrs. Devlin was with Al Wilson's show for five years.

Jimmy Devlin, as they call him, weighs about 125 pounds, and cannot by any excess in heels reach higher than 5 feet 5 inches. The man he shot is an inch better than 6 feet and strong as an ox.

As far as can be learned, it was about 11 o'clock last evening when Mrs. Devlin and Annie Devlin, her husband's cousin, came back from a visit to Bender's Hotel, where they had several drinks with Considine, whom they found hanging about the place. He did not commit the indiscretion of walking home with them, according to the cousin, but sauntered at a close distance behind.

At the gate the little husband met them and scolded his cousin for keeping such late hours. Only a week before he had turned her out of the house for staying out late, and this time he was in a fine temper when Considine strolled up and brushed him aside. There were high words, and Devlin's mother caught the girl by the arm and rushed her out of the way.

The girl and Devlin's mother walked about until 1 o'clock this morning, when they made a cautious return and approached the cottage noiselessly. Just as they entered, intending to slip upstairs, they were halted by the crash of a pistol shot. Annie Devlin looked into the parlor in time to see the policeman sink into a chair, and then she raced out and down the road, shrieking the alarm, till half Cliffside was up and out of bed to see what it was all about.

In short order Devlin was locked up in the Hackensack jail to await the outcome of Considine's injuries. The hysterical wife was taken as a material witness before dawn, and early this evening the young cousin was also held as a witness. Ex-Assemblyman Berg of Fairview is representing the Devlins, and to-morrow morning he will try to have the women released on bail.

The drink theory seemed to find favor with Mr. Berg, who, however, admitted that he could only conjecture what had happened in the Devlin parlor just before 1 o'clock.

"At least," he said, "premeditation played no part in this shooting."

Considine is 34 years old and has been a policeman in Cliffside for three years. He is very popular there and considered a fine officer. He and Mrs. Considine separated about three months ago.

PATIENT PUZZLED DOCTORS.

Girl's Heart Stopped Beating at Intervals in Scarlet Fever Case.

East Newark physicians are greatly puzzled by the strange scarlet fever attack which resulted in the death last night of Miss Helen Dillon, a nineteen-year-old schoolgirl, of 210 Central Avenue.

She had been attending school regularly until Thursday when she remained at home, complaining that she felt ill. On Friday she became very weak and suddenly lost consciousness, and her heart ceased to beat. There was no physician present, and the members of her family believed the girl dead. By the time a physician had been summoned, however, she was breathing again.

At intervals on Saturday and yesterday Miss Dillon fell back into unconsciousness, and heart action stopped. When she was conscious, she complained of a sore throat and suffered from a high fever. The trouble was then suspected to be scarlet fever, but no rash appeared. A rash appeared yesterday, however, removing all doubt as to the nature of the disease. During the evening she died.

PUSHED OVERBOARD IN FERRYBOAT PANIC

Man Drowned When Crowd Stampedes Forward After Backfire on Auto.

CAMDEN, N. J., May 25.—As the ferryboat Wildwood of the Pennsylvania Railroad approached her slip here from the Philadelphia side of the river this afternoon the crowd waiting to embark heard a loud explosion on board. The oncoming boat was crowded with people, and in a moment women were screaming and men shouting, all surging forward.

The boat, which was only fifty feet out from the slip, started to settle at the bow, due to the passengers crowding forward. Soon the steering way was affected and the big steel boat began to sway. As her head went down the broad runway for vehicles in the centre became an inclined plane which sloped at a considerable angle.

Suddenly the confusion was increased in a startling manner. Those on shore saw a heavy automobile, which stood in the first row of vehicles, give a lurch and start forward. The man in the driver's seat worked madly at the brake lever, but it did no good. The machine gained momentum, and there ensued a wild scramble to get out of its path on the part of the passengers. The machine, with four passngers, struck the guard gate with a crash and ripped it aside. The front wheels went over the bow and hung spinning there. Then those on shore saw men rush forward, and hold the body of the car while others assisted the four passengers out to the deck.

The next moment among the mass of people struggling at the bow a man was forced out and hung over the water. He held on desperately to the rail, but his grip was soon broken by the crush, and he went overboard. His body was not seen again.

When at last the ferryboat was made fast Pennsylvania Railroad officials hurried aboard. They first tended to the injured. Carl Kurtz of 3761 Wharton Street and Jacob Hinter of 718 South Third Street, Philadelphia, were removed to the Cooper Hospital, suffering from wounds on the head and body.

Simultaneously a search was started for the body of the man who was forced overboard. It was learned that he was William F. Goss, 28 years old, of 833 North Twenty-seventh Street, Camden. Every effort was made to recover the body, but the searchers had not been successful up to a late hour.

Special Policeman Archibald, who was on the ferry slip, notified Prosecutor Kraft of the accident. In the investigation it was learned that the explosion that had started the stampede resulted from a bad case of backfire in an automobile owned by Dr. Henry H. Jump of Forty-seventh and Chester Avenues, Philadelphia. When the boat was nearing the slip he had cranked the machine. It backfired, with a loud explosion. Only those near at hand knew what the noise meant, and even they were thrown into panic by the flames.

The automobile which went over the bow had done so, it is alleged, because the brakes were not set. In this machine were Charles H. Buckley of 510 Woodland Terrace, Philadelphia, his son Frederick, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Augusta Simpson of 406 South Third Street, Philadelphia, and the latter's daughter, Nellie Simpson. Prosecutor Kraft ordered the arrest of Buckley, and he will be held until a thorough investigation of the accident is made.

THREE HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Owner of One Motor Dying and Women Injured Severely.

Special to The New York Times.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., May 25.—Three persons were injured, one of them mortally, when two autos collided while going twenty-five miles an hour on the State Road in East View at noon today. The injured were Frederick Hunt of Port Chester, who suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries. Mrs. Hunt, who was cut about the face and head, and Mrs. George Smith of Pleasantville, who suffered severe bruises and possible internal injuries. At the hospital attached to the County House into which the injured were carried it was said that there was little chance of Mr. Hunt's recovery. Mrs. Smith was taken to her home in Pleasantville in another auto.

One of the autos in the collision was driven by Foster Clark, chauffeur for Kelsey Smith of White Plains. In the auto were Mrs. Smith and her sister-in-law, Mrs. George L. Smith. They were going to Mrs. Smith's home in Pleasantville. In the other auto were Frederick Hunt of Port Chester, the owner who drove it, and his brother and wife. The State Road is narrow where it passes the County House. It is also deeply rutted. The wheels of each of the autos became lodged in a deep rut as they approached, and it was impossible to turn aside in time to avoid a collision.

The force of the impact threw the occupants of both cars out, and the Smith auto crashed through a fence and hung over a ten-foot retaining wall, which bounds the sunken gardens of the County House. The other auto went over an embankment on the opposite side of the road. Mr. Hunt was having his first outing after his recovery from pneumonia.

BURGLARS GET $20,000 GEMS

Lock Chicago Family In and Take Their Jewels—Servants Sought.

CHICAGO, May 25.—Burglars took possession of the residence of William Yager early to-day and, after locking the family and the servants in their respective quarters, cutting the telephone wires, and switching off the electric lights, stole $20,000 worth of jewelry. The jewelry had been hidden in a closet off a bathroom. The leather cases in which it had been contained were found cut open on the cellar floor.

Policemen are seeking a butler and a maid who left the employment of Yager a few days ago.

Yager is President of the Arms Palace Horse Car Company. The stolen jewelry consisted chiefly of diamond rings, necklaces, and brooches belong to Mrs. Yager. The robbery was discovered when the servants found themselves locked in, and were forced to break out of their quarters.

ROYAL HIGHNESSES IN SOUVENIR RIOT

Faces Scratched in Scramble Over the "Garter" of the Kaiser's Daughter.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 25.—The nuptial apartments of the newly married Prince and Princess Ernest Augustus of Cumberland in the Royal Castle in Berlin were the scene, after last night's wedding, of a scramble for souvenirs which would have done credit to an American crowd. It took place in connection with the traditional distribution of bits of the bride's garter. The souvenirs actually distributed were tiny strips of pale blue satin, stamped with the bride's initials and the date of the wedding.

Almost the entire wedding company, numbering hundreds of bejeweled ladies and gentlemen, representing the cream of the German aristocracy, engaged in a free fight for the ribbons. A survivor describes the scene as a cross between a Bank Holiday frolic on Hampstead Heath and a football riot.

Many ladies emerged with faces badly scratched by the pushing and shoving of Generals and gold-laced diplomats. Scores of women had their long trains and veils ruined.

While the scrimmage was at its height it was discovered that the aged parents of the bridegroom, the Duke and Duchess of Cumberland, were being roughly buffeted about by the crowd. Other royalties, notably the Grand Duke of Hesse, were also badly hustled.

The Court officials were so excited over the uncontrolled horseplay that they dragged the grande dame who was distributing the garter by main force to a larger apartment, where she could continue her duties with less danger to life and property.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Monday, May 26.—The Daily Telegraph's correspondent in Berlin, describing the splendors of the scene in the chapel at the royal wedding, refers to "the exceptional brilliancy of the gold braiding on the undefinable uniform which American Ambassador Leishman, following the example set by his predecessor at the Berlin court, Charlemagne Tower, wore in defiance of the express prohibition of the United States Constitution."

WON'T DIE AS WALKER DID.

Chicagoan Who Took Bichloride of Mercury Expected to Recover.

CHICAGO, May 25.—W. L. McCutcheon, an automobile salesman, who took three bichloride of mercury tablets by mistake and who doctors yesterday thought was sentenced to death, received his reprieve to-day. Physicians, after an examination and consultation at the hospital decided that McCutcheon had eliminated most of the poison from his stomach before it could enter the intestines and that in all probability he would recover.

McCutcheon was taken home to-night. It will be necessary to watch his condition closely for several days, however, the crisis arising when the residue of the poison passes through the kidneys.

The patient suffered little to-day. He retained consciousness and was cheered by the report of the doctors. Frequently he discussed the case of B. Sanders Walker, the Macon, Ga., banker, who died last week from the some poison, accidentally taken.

SANGER'S DEATH ACCIDENT.

Virginia Coroner's Jury Finds That the Young Man Shot Himself.

Special to The New York Times.

CLIFTON FORGE, Va., May 25.—The verdict of the Coroner's jury which investigated the death of Henry L. Sanger of New York, whose body was found on the mountain west of town yesterday afternoon, was that Sanger met his death by the accidental discharge of his revolver.

The young man, who was a son of William Cary Sanger, formerly Assistant Secretary of War, had been in bad health for years and had been touring the South in the hope of regaining his strength. He was accompanied by his physician and arrived here several days ago. Mr. Sanger had been in the habit of going into the forest for target practice, and the Coroner's jury came to the conclusion that he had discharged his revolver accidentally and was so far in the woods that he could not summon aid.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanger, his parents, started for this place as soon as they were notified that their son had disappeared, and arrived here a short time before the body was found. They returned to New York with the body last night.

Henry L. Sanger was 19 years old.

SAYS RICHARD ROE IS LIEUT. ROSTROM

Comrade Writes Minnesota Patient Is a Naval Officer from Newark.

INJURY DARKENED MEMORY

"J. C. R." Corrects Signed Initials to Agree with Name Attributed to Him.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, Minn., May 25.—Richard Roe, as the mysterious patient signing himself "J. C. R." had been known for years to the physicians of the State Hospital, was identified to-day by an old comrade as Lieut. Jacob R. Rostrom of Newark, N. J. As soon as he was told that he was supposed to be Lieut. Rostrom, he indicated eagerly his belief that his identity had been established.

The information came in a letter from Edward Vogt, a sailor of Newark, who said he was with Rostrom on the warship New York and that both of them took part in the Battle of Matanzas, Cuba, in the Spanish-American War. Vogt said Rostrom suffered wounds in that fight. He sent the information after reading newspaper stories of the case and after seeing "J. C. R.'s" picture in a newspaper.

Immediately on receiving the communication from Vogt this morning Dr. A. F. Kilbourne closely examined the patient. The name Edward Vogt was mentioned. Roe motioned that he knew him. Then the name Lieut. Jacob R. Rostrom was spoken. For a moment the gray-haired man of mystery looked dazed. Then his eyes sparkled, his face brightened as never before and he repeatedly clapped his left hand on his knee, crying "Hi, hi, hi, hi!" That is his only means of expression in the affirmative.

Roe, with pencil and paper, wrote "J. C. R." a few moments later, and, crossing out the "C," substituted "R," implying that the substitution should be the middle letter. The name Rostrom left him afterward, and his mind appeared blank on that point, but that his first name was Jacob he emphatically indicated to be true.

The meagre information given by Vogt tallied almost perfectly with the stories which "J. C. R." repeatedly had told in his sign language. Dr. Kilbourne will take up the case at once with the Navy Department for a full investigation.

Although hundreds of letters and many clews had been given as to the identity of Roe, the patient steadfastly rejected all of them. No other letter corresponded in any way with his own story. Roe always indicated that he had been an officer in the United States Navy. He further made it known that he participated in the Spanish-American war.

Should the identification prove correct, efforts will be made at once to trace relatives, and the proposed operation on the brain in an effort to restore the patient's memory will be postponed until the wishes of kinsmen may be learned.

Until his identification as Lieut. Rostrom, the man who could not remember himself, was known as Richard Roe from a night in June, 1907, when he was found in Waseca, Minn., unconscious, apparently having been injured by a blow on the head. His right side was almost completely paralyzed, and he could say only the words, "Aye, he—" as if they were the retained fragment of a speech he had been uttering when he was struck down.

The best clue, besides his photograph, was the initials "J. C. R.," which finally he was able to write with his left hand. Bit by bit, in recent months, there were symptoms of returning memory, and he was able by sign language to indicate enough to convince the doctors in the State Hospital that he had been a naval officer, probably a Lieutenant, and that he had been hurt in St. Paul or Minneapolis when on his way back with valuable papers and money from a visit to a warship in San Francisco Bay. Tests were made to glean more information. He selected the Maryland seal from the copies of the State seals shown to him, but that, it was feared, meant only that he had attended the Naval Academy in Annapolis.

Recently a circular containing his picture and a full description was sent around the country.

Inquiry in Newark last night failed to develop information as to Lieut. Jacob R. Rostrom. The name of Edward Vogt was not in the directory.

DENOUNCE SCHOOL BOARD.

Special to The New York Times.

KEARNY, N. J., May 25.—In the pulpits of two Catholic Churches here today sermons were preached denouncing members of the Kearny Board of Education who last Wednesday night at a board meeting expressed their preference for Protestant teachrs in the public schools. The Rev. Thomas A. Conroy, pastor of St. Cecilia's Church, urged the men of the town to do their utmost to have the members of the board who made the statement removed.

The Rev. John A. Westman, pastor of St. Stephen's Church in Arlington, regretted, he said, that such an issue should come up in the community. He said it did not represent public sentiment, but was simply the opinion of a few narrow-minded men. Mayor Louis M. Brock, who appointed the Board of Education, admitted to-day that he had received from Kearny Council, No. 402, of the Knights of Columbus a resolution calling upon him to investigate the statements, with a view of ousting from office the members who made them. The Mayor declined to say what action he should take.

TRENTON, N. J., May 25.—Believing that all diseases are traceable to blood impurities, Dr. Eugene B. Wittce, one of this city's foremost surgeons and medical practitioners, announced to-day that he had discovered a solution which he insists will cure nearly every known ailment.

His theory is to inject the fluid into the blood, purifying it and making germ life impossible. He has offered to hold public clinics in the City Hall dispensary under the supervision of other physicians. A number of his private patients are said to have submitted successfully to the treatment.

GREEK SHIPS FIRED ON.

Urgent Representations Made to Bulgaria from Athens.

LONDON, Monday, May 26.—The strained relations between the Balkan allies show little improvement. A Times dispatch from Athens says that the Greek fleet while passing Kavala was fired upon by Bulgarian shore batteries. This new incident, following the severe fighting at Salonika, has created a painful impression at Athens, and the Greek Government is making urgent representations to Bulgaria.

The danger of a war between the allies distracts attention for the moment from the peace negotiations with Turkey.

A Constantinople dispatch to The Times says that Italy and Germany are disposed no longer to oppose the cession of practically all of the Aegean Islands to Greece.

MRS. WALDORF ASTOR ILL.

Her Doctors Order Complete Rest—All Engagements Canceled.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 25.—It is announced that Mrs. Waldorf Astor has been ordered by her physicians to take a complete rest, and has been obliged to cancel all engagements.

She will not be at her St. James's Square residence this season.

BOMB KILLS GEN. HSU.

Supporter of Yuan Shi Kai Slain by Southern Enemies.

SHANGHAI, May 25.—Gen. Hsu Pao San was killed by a bomb to-day while opening a box in the belief that it contain porcelain, of which he was an ardent collector.

He had sent for a piece of porcelain, and when the box arrived he attempted to pry off the cover. A terrific explosion resulted, and he was hurled to the opposite end of the room. A servant was also instantly killed.

The General, who was known as "Tiger Hsu," was a strong supporter of President Yuan Shi Kai, and the object of bitter hatred by the Southern extremists.

DROWNS IN SHALLOW WATER

Playmates Desert Boy Who Falls, Wading for a Crab.

At the foot of East Ninety-third Street there is a shelving beach, known in the neighborhood as the "Miniature Coney Island." Yesterday afternoon children crowded to the beach, and among one group there was great excitement when a small crab was seen crawling under the rocks just off the beach. Five-year-old Joseph Coyne of 430 East Ninety-second Street waded out a foot or so into the water toward the crab. Then his foot slipped and he went under. The other boys ran away, screaming. A passerby, Bernard Fitzpatrick of 130 St. Ann's Avenue, asked the boys what the trouble was, and one of them shouted, "Jimmy's overboard!"

Fitzgerald ran to the water's edge and saw the boy's cap floating away. He waded into the water and caught sight of the boy's white sailor blouse. Fitzgerald reached down and pulled out the boy, whose head had been wedged between two rocks.

The body was taken to the shore and Fitzgerald and others tried to revive him until the arrival of Dr. Carout of Flower Hospital. The doctor worked over him half an hour, but decided there was no hope.

TEST FOR HARVARD HONOR.

Students Make Their Own Change at Cambridge Soda Fountains.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 25.—Soda-fountain proprietors around Harvard Square, at Cambridge, are doing business on the honor system this year, trusting to the purchasers to leave the correct amount for drinks consumed. In Summer the students at Harvard consume on an average 10,000 ice cream sodas and sundaes a day. At all the fountains on College Square clerks serve the drinks, but take no money. The customer leaves the cash in a receptacle on the counter. Nobody is on hand to see that the drinkers pay. If it is necessary to make change the customer does that, too. There is always enough cash in the receptacle to change anything under a five-dollar bill.

The proprietors of all the fountains report that business has increased.

MRS. GARDNER ON ELEPHANT

Will Impersonate Oriental Princess at Anderson's Charity Pageant.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 25.—Mrs. Jack Gardner, the Boston society leader, clad as an Oriental Princess, will take a leading part at the pageant on Tuesday at Weld Farm, Larz Anderson's estate in Brookline, for the benefit of the Children's Hospital, by riding on the howdah of a circus elephant. A big gathering of Back Bay society will be present.

On a second elephant, if another one can be obtained, Hamilton Fish, Jr., will accompany Mrs. Gardner as an Oriental bodyguard, attired also in the turban and robes of the East.

The pageant promises to eclipse anything of a like nature that has ever taken place in this vicinity. Its title is "A Diversion in Persia," and 250 leading society amateurs will take part.

FALL IDENTIFIES AVIATOR.

Prough Called Himself Hamilton So His Mother Wouldn't Worry.

An aviator known at Mineola, L. I., as George Hamilton made a trial flight yesterday afternoon at the Hempstead Plains Aviation Field in a monoplane of his own make. At an altitude of fifty feet his motor suddenly stopped, and he and the monoplane fell to the ground. He was picked up unconscious and hurried to the Nassau Hospital in Mineola, suffering from a scalp wound and a cut on the chin. His recovery, the doctors said, was practically certain.

It became known after the accident that George Hamilton was an assumed name, and that the aviator's real name was George F. Frough. His ambition to become an aviator had led him to run away from his home in Hanford, Cal., and come East incognito. He assumed the name of Hamilton, he said, because he feared his mother might read of his doings in the papers and worry about him.

ROOSEVELT INTENDS TO LAY BARE HIS LIFE

Seizes Upon the Michigan Case to Settle Far-Flung Tippling Story Once and for All.

HE IS IN A SERIOUS MOOD

Distinguished Men Join Him at Every Stop—No Chapter of His Career to be Hidden, Friends Say.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, May 25, On Board the Train with Col. Roosevelt.—It is a gathering of the clans as the Colonel moves on Marquette, and not of the Bull Moose clans only, for men politically opposed to the Colonel are traveling westward and northward to come to his rescue against the charge made by George H. Newett of Ishpeming, Mich., that he is a drunkard.

Just after dawn James R. Garfield, ex-Secretary of the Interior, climbed aboard the Lake Shore Limited train at Cleveland to join the party which is accompanying Col. Roosevelt to the shores of Lake Superior to testify in his lebel suit against Newett, the editor of Iron Ore. Jacob A. Riis was recruited to the advancing army at Albany last night. At Toledo Frank Tyree, United States Marshal of the West Virginia District, who formerly was in the Secret Service, and as such acted as bodyguard to Col. Roosevelt, came aboard and was welcomed by James Sloan, the White House Secret Service man, who has been bodyguard to Presidents Roosevelt, Taft, and Wilson. At Chicago Robert Bacon, ex-Secretary of State, entered the train.

Gov. Hadley of Missouri is not in the party, but is going to Marquette on another train. William H. Van Benschoten of the firm of Bowers & Sands, New York, accompanies the party to watch the case.

The party arrived in Chicago at 4 P. M., and as it had two hours and a half to wait before the train for Marquette left, the Colonel promptly boarded an automobile and went off to the Zoo with his old hunting companion, Mr. Heller, to see some African animals. They arrived at the Northwestern Railway Station shortly before traintime, and found awaiting them Robert Bacon, ex-Secretary of State; John Callan O'Loughlin, ex-Assistant Secretary of State, and Truman H. Newberry, ex-Secretary of the Navy. All of these joined the fast-growing army and went on to Marquette to testify.

Mr. Newberry was Assistant Secretary of the Navy Department when Col. Roosevelt sent the fleet on its famous journey to the Pacific and arranged the plans. He was Secretary when it returned. Mr. O'Loughlin met the Colonel in Egypt on his return from the African hunting trip and accompanied him on his tour through Europe.

Newett's Lawyer Aboard.

Horace E. Andrews of Cleveland, of counsel for Mr. Newett, came aboard at Chicago, but not in the Colonel's car. It is not a special car, but the Roosevelt party fills it. Mr. Andrews is in the next car, but he has one member of the opposition to bear him company—William Loeb, Jr., who did not get a berth with the others of the party. Mr. Andrews and Mr. Roosevelt have not met. The firm of which Mr. Andrews is a member is counsel for the Cleveland Iron Cliffs, a large company which is engaged in mining in the Marquette region.

The Colonel's car is beginning to resemble a reunion of veterans. In every corner are men fighting over again the old battles in which they have been engaged in which the Colonel was the leading figure. All of them have been with him in one capacity or another, in one campaign or another, and some of them have been with him in all. Stories of conventions, campaign trips, &c., are exchanged. The Colonel sometimes joins the different groups and adds his own reminiscences, but most of the time he sits in his compartment talking with anybody who drops in. Mr. Loeb just now strolled in there with a chapter of the Colonel's autobiography, which is now being published serially, and remarked: "You made a slight mistake of detail in one of the things you said here."

"I suppose I was intoxicated when I wrote it," said the Colonel with irony.

Mr. Loeb will testify concerning the Colonel's habits during the years in which he was with him constantly from morning until night. Sloan and Tyree will tell about his habits during the years when it was their duty to shadow him at all hours, and never let him out of their sight. W. Emlen Roosevelt and his son, Philip, are to tell about the Colonel's camp life and life at home. Gilson Gardner and Lucius F. Curtis, newspaper men, who accompanied him on his campaigning tours, living with him in the same railroad cars and the same hotels, and seeing him at all hours of the day and night, will tell what they observed of his behavior on those occasions. Dr. Rixey and Dr. Lambert are to testify as the Colonel's physicians in Washington and New York. Gifford Pinchot and others, who saw him regularly at Washington, will describe his life there. Many of the witnesses are to rebut the charges of intoxication at specific times and places.

Story Widely Circulated.

The case has been carefully planned with the idea of making the fullest possible revelation of the ex-President's personal habits, as far back as the time when he was Governor of New York. Nothing is to be held back. Depositions have been taken all over the country. Aside from the array of public men who are going in person to the little city on Lake Superior to testify, a large number of equally distinguished men have sent their written testimony.

On its face, the reason for gathering this formidable array of testimony is only a quarrel between an ex-President of the United States and a hitherto unknown Michigan editor. If it were nothing else than an isolated attack made in a single editorial article in one newspaper, the Colonel might seem to be making a mountain out of a mole hill.

But the reason lies deeper. The ex-President is determined to bring out in public, where it can be attacked and destroyed, a story which has been whispered and even openly insinuated about him all over the United States, and which is believed by thousands of persons. He does not wish that story to spread into popular legend about him, as it has about other Presidents and public men who let it go uncontradicted. Probably in no previous case has the story assumed such mammoth proportions and been spread so widely.

A year ago he told the correspondent of THE NEW YORK TIMES who is now travelling with him: "If this slander is ever printed in so many words, and by a responsible newspaper, I will bring suit for damages and settle it once and for all."

Shortly afterward Mr. Newett printed in Iron Ore the charge that Mr. Roosevelt "was drunk frequently, and that all his intimates know it." He promptly brought suit, and obtained the testimony of his intimates. While in form, therefore, the suit is an effort to recover damages from Newett, in fact it is aimed at the exploiting in daylight of a scandal that has spread over the whole country. In the Far West it has grown to such proportions that what purport to be accounts of the Colonel's debauches have appeared in the newspapers, but always so guarded that they could not be made the basis of libel actions. They have consisted in accounts of his peculiar mannerisms, so worded as to convey the implication that he was intoxicated, without using actionable language. The newspaper correspondents who have traveled with him on his campaigning trips have found that the farther West they went the more men they met who asked: "Is he really drunk all the time?"

Even in the East the scandal has risen to large proportions, but it is greater in the West.

"Not even a verdict against me," said the Colonel to THE TIMES correspondent to-day, "could spread this belief about my habits any wider than it has been already."

Would Put an End to It.

One of the men traveling with him seemed to regret, for the Colonel's sake, that he had been forced to take notice of the charges. "But it was in a measure a duty," said this man. "He has been President of the United States, he is looked up to and believed in by thousands of Americans, who have taught their children to regard him as a model. His record will be a part of American history, his fame, good or bad, is the legacy he will leave to his countrymen. He cannot leave it covered with mud."

Having determined to bring his private life into the fullest publicity, the Colonel has undertaken to make the exhibit as thorough as possible. Whatever may be the decision of the twelve Michigan men who are to settle this particular case, he means to make the record thorough. Nothing in his career for the last fifteen years has been omitted. For the stories whispered against him involve all the events of his public and private life in that time.

Hence, Gen. Wood, who was his doctor before the Spanish war, his Colonel when he was Lieutenant Colonel of the Rough Riders, and his intimate personal friend when he was in the White House, has made his deposition. Edmund Heller, the naturalist of the African hunt, is on his way to Marquette to tell what he observed of Col. Roosevelt on that trip. Mr. Loeb not only was in hourly contact with Col. Roosevelt from breakfast to bedtime, when he was the President's secretary, but accompanied him on his Presidential journeys, dined with him, and supervised all the details. Mr. Loeb saw to the packing of the suit cases, and, if any stray flask had been smuggled into one of them, he would have known it. Lawrence Abbott can tell of Col. Roosevelt as a business and personal associate. His private life is to be described by his relatives and intimates, his White House life by the men who saw him every day, his campaign trips by the men who were in his special car.

As he progresses toward Marquette the Colonel displays a mood in which there is less of his old buoyancy and more of the attitude of a man performing a duty of regrettable necessity. He displays a weary impatience of the charges against him, combined with a grim determination to settle the thing for good. He does not like his task, but the dislike he shows is of the situation which makes it necessary for him to perform it.

READY FOR FIGHT AT START.

Each Side Anxious for Last Word—Women to Hear Colonel's Case.

Special to The New York Times.

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 25.—The question of who will have the first inning in the testimony introduced in the Roosevelt-Newett libel case promises to start a lively legal fight the moment the jury is chosen. Both sides are anxious to have the last word to the jury, and they are prepared to battle hard for the position of advantage. A libel suit differs from other actions for damages in that it practically puts the defendant—in case he elects to defend his writings as true—in the position of proving a case against the complainant. In this it will devolve upon Mr. Newett to try to prove what he wrote about the Colonel.

James H. Pound, of counsel to Col. Roosevelt, will contend that to prove the preliminary case against Newett it will be only necessary to introduce a copy of The Ishpeming Iron Ore containing the offending article, and then take the statement of Col. Roosevelt that the printed charge is untrue.

If Mr. Pound has his way, when this much is done it then will be Newett's turn to introduce his evidence, while the Roosevelt side withholds its character testimony for rebuttal.

Mr. Belden, counsel for Mr. Newett, will insist that the entire Roosevelt case be presented at the start.

Mr. Belden already has put through a coup which has nettled the supporters of the Colonel considerably. He invited ex-Congressman H. Olin Young, a close friend of Newett and for years intimately asociated with Col. Roosevelt in Washington, to become associated with him as counsel for Newett. Young has accepted. It was the intention of Col. Roosevelt's counsel to call Mr. Young as a witness on behalf of the Colonel, relying on his friendship for Newett, well known in this county, for big effect on the jury. This, of course, is blocked by Mr. Belden's move.

It is becoming more and more apparent, from the way the case is developing, that it will be as much a political battle between Col. Roosevelt and his old-time political enemies as a suit at law. This became an accepted fact to-day with the announcement of Mr. Belden regarding the character of his witnesses.

The object of the defense in concealing the names of witnesses is to catch the Colonel unawares and unprepared to make reply to the charges of specific instances upon which the Colonel will be said to have done things to justify Mr. Newett's published statement.

Judge Richard C. Flannigan of Norway, Mich., arrived here to-day and announced that motions on the calendar could be disposed of in the morning, and that the Roosevelt case would be called after the noon hour.

Judge Flannigan said that, as only four challenges were allowed to each side, the jury might be sworn in before night.

One announcement made by Judge Flannigan pleased all the women. He said he was determined they should have a fair chance to hear the trial, and that he would reserve half of the main floor seats and the entire balcony for them. Tables for the lawyers and newspaper men occupy the space between the judicial bench and the railing.

PLEA TO STRIKE ON FOR I. W. W.'S SAKE

Miss Flynn Tells Great Paterson Crowd That Life of Organization Is at Stake.

ENTHUSIASM FOR HAYWOOD

Who Urges Further Holding Out—Amos Pinchot Sends Quinlan $500 to Fight Appeal.

Special to The New York Times.

PATERSON, N. J., May 25.—At the biggest open-air meeting yet held in the Borough of Haledon, on the outskirts of Paterson, the I. W. W. agitators begged the silkmill strikers today to remain idle until the demands of the Industrial Workers of the World were granted by the silkmill owners. In an impassioned appeal to the strikers Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, the chief aid of "Big Bill" Haywood, told her audience of 25,000 that if the present strike in Paterson was lost it would put the I. W. W. back twenty years.

"This is the life or death of the workers' organization of the United States!" she fairly shouted at the great crowd that thronged the green in Haledon.

An international singing organization—that is, one which can sing in three languages, English, Italian, and German—was called into service before Haywood, Carlo Tresca, and Miss Flynn were to speak. They sang "The Marseillaise" in German and then in Italian. Soon the tremendous audience had been worked up to the proper pitch of enthusiasm, and then Haywood and the other leaders began to plead with the strikers to remain idle, and to pay no attention to the overtures of the manufacturers, who were described as blackmailers, intimidators, and liars. The newspapers, they shouted, never told the truth when the news has to do with the activities of the I. W. W.

Denies Any Break.

Ewald Koettgen, the local Organizer of the I. W. W., led off. He was mad because of the printed reports that many of the strikers would welcome a chance to work once more. He said the report was false from beginning to end, and that its publication was a part of "a conspiracy of blackmail and intimidation," concocted by the silk manufacturers in their effort to reopen their mills.

"Don't go back now," Koettgen urged with all the vehemence at his command, "for you can't live under conditions that exist."

Hundreds among those in the crowd shouted to him that they would stay out.

"We never will go back to work," an excited young man yelled, and thousands cheered.

Then Koettgen unfolded a plan to outwit the police to-morrow morning on the picket lines. He said a great mistake was made on last Monday when the pickets concentrated in front of and near the Arthur Price mill, which resumed operation at that time. To-morrow Koettgen told the strikers to divide up in small groups and go to all the mills and to occupy so many places that it would be impossible for the police to keep tabs on everybody.

Adolph Lessig, one of the indicted agitators, followed Koettgen. He announced that the Strike Committee had found a place in Paterson to meet, despite the orders of the city authorities in closing Turn Hall and Helvetia Hall to them. The place, he said, was 51 Ellison Street.

"We will meet there to-morrow morning," said Lessig, "Whether McBride, the Mayor, or Bimson, the Chief of Police, like it or not, and your leaders will speak. Now, all of you come."

After Lessig came Carlo Tresca, who is also under indictment, and who worked himself into a state of great excitement before he finally wound up his harangue.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, wearing a claret-colored gown, came next. Hers was the principal speech of the afternoon. Her task was to plead for the I. W. W.

"The thing that most interests us at this moment," she said, "is what are we going to do to-morrow. The newspapers say that a great number of you are going back to work. They say the English-speaking workingmen and workingwomen are going back, and also that the Italians are. I don't believe it. It is a lie, for neither the English-speaking or the Italian workers are scabs in Paterson.

Assails Paterson Papers.

"The newspapers of Paterson can break this strike only when the newspapers learn to make silk, and not before. When the newspapers can run the mills, then the strike will be broken. The newspapers are the only scabs in Paterson."

She then read a clipping from a morning newspaper which said that the wife of one of the most prominent mill owners and citizens of Paterson owned a Boston terrier that won a blue ribbon at a dog show.

"I have nothing against the dog," she said, "but I am sorry for the company he finds himself in."

Miss Flynn closed with a plea to the strikers to remain out and not to go back to work. "For the sake of your wives and babies, don't give in," she said.

Haywood was the last speaker. He mentioned the Mayor, the Chief of Police, and the ministers of Paterson in turn, and after each mention the crowd showed its approval by booing and jeering.

Patrick Quinlan was in Paterson, but did not speak. He showed a check for $500 which had been sent to him by Amos Pinchot of New York, a prominent Bull Mooser and a brother of Gifford Pinchot, who is now on his way to Michigan to testify that Col. Roosevelt is not a drinking man. Mr. Pinchot in his letter to Quinlan said that, while he did not believe in a lot of things that the I. W. W. stood for, he did believe in justice, and he did not think that justice was meted out to Quinlan. He stipulated in the letter that Quinlan was to use the money in appealing from the verdict. Quinlan is now waiting sentence and can get from one to seven years.

LABOR IMMUNITY OUTLOOK.

Wilson May Get Bill Exempting Union Prosecutions This Week.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—President Wilson may have before him this week for his approval or rejection the much-discussed $117,000,000 Sundry Civil Appropriation bill, which includes the provision exempting labor unions and farmers' organizations from prosecution through funds appropriated for the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law. The measure, because of the exemption clause, which caused former President Taft to veto it, is engaging countrywide attention.

The bill is in conference, there being a disagreement over a Senate amendment relating to funds for a National soldiers' home, but President Wilson has had it under consideration for many weeks. The Executive office has been flooded with letters and petitions regarding the measure, some urging the President to veto it because of the exemption clause and others appealing to him to give it his approval.

The House and Senate conferrees may reach an agreement this week, when their report would be approved by House and Senate. This will put the matter directly up to the President.

Some time ago it was indicated that the President would sign the bill and issue a statement regarding the exemption clause. Now, however, he is said to be seriously studying views on both sides before determining the matter.

PIER VICTIMS NUMBER 36.

Long Beach, Cal., Confronted by Damage Suits of $1,000,000.

LONG BEACH, May 25.—Damage suits amounting to $1,000,000 or more and a Grand Jury investigation are threatened as the result of the municipal pier disaster yesterday, in which thirty-five persons lost their lives.

Two more persons are at the point of death. They are Miss Marguerite Read of Long Beach, whose back was broken, and William Copper of Pasadena, a veteran of the Crimean war, who was in the Empire Day parade yesterday.

Rectification of errors made yesterday in the list of dead brought out the names of Miss Frances Harriet Newell, Kenosha, Wis.; Mrs. Mollie Gates, Oak Park, Ill.; Miss Lilly M. Holme, Denver, Col.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest G. Eales, Los Angeles; Mrs. M. P. McDonald, Compton, Cal.; Mrs. E. C. Bush of Long Beach, and Miss Ethel Wyrel of Los Angeles.

Mr. Eales was the only man killed. His body and that of his wife remained unidentified until late to-day.

While Stephen Long, City Attorney, was occupied with the legal phase of the disaster to-day, Mayor I. S. Hatch and members of the City Council and of the Board of Public Works conferred with District Attorney John D. Fredericks with reference to the Grand Jury inquiry which will be started on Tuesday. The object of the inquiry is to fix the responsibility for the condition of the pier.

By order of the District Attorney guards were placed around the ruined section of the pier to-day. They were instructed to keep watch constantly in twelve-hour shifts until relieved by the Grand Jury, and to allow no one to tamper with the structure.

The supports of the pier are believed to have been weakened by the contact with the salt water. It has developed, too, that the paraders passed along the pier at march step.

Military men pointed out that the rhythmic vibration caused by the measured tread of thousands of feet caused a tremendous strain upon the supports, which already had been heavily burdened by the crowd thronged about the auditorium doors. It is customary to break the march step when troops are crossing a bridge or similar structure.

The Grand Jury investigation was demanded by the officers of the United Societies of British-born residents and visitors, whose celebration of Queen Victoria's birthday anniversary was interrupted by the accident.

City Attorney Long answered reports of the prospective damage suits with the statement that the city could not be held responsible for deaths and injuries, because no charge had been made for the use of the amusement property.

LONE PRISONER RESCUED.

Woman Locked in Office Hoisted by Firemen Through Skylight.

Mrs. M. W. Winston left her home at 795 De Kalb Avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday morning to do some work at her ladies' tailoring establishment at 49 East Broadway, Manhattan. When she made ready to go home late in the afternoon she discovered that she was locked in, a prisoner with no means of getting to the street. She said later that the janitor had promised to leave the front door open for her.

Mrs. Winston first tried knocking on the glass panels to attract the attention of people in the street. She gathered a crowd, but could not make any one understand. She returned to her office on the fifth floor and wrote a note explaining her plight. This she threw to the street below. Some one took it to the quarters of Engine Company 9, in East Broadway, and Firemen Stephens and Kelly started to her rescue. On the way they met Policeman Little of the Oak Street Station, and he joined the rescue party.

They aroused the janitor of the adjoining building, which is of the same height. From here they crossed to Mrs. Winston's roof. Over her place of business is a glass skylight. This was smashed in, and Stephens was lowered through with a rope. Mrs. Winston, who confesses to 180 pounds, was pulled through, and Stephens followed. They made their way down through the building next door, and the rescue was accomplished.

ATTEMPT TO FLIRT COSTLY.

Girl's Escort Sends Fireman Who Spoke to Her to the Hospital.

Manuel Lopez, a steamship fireman who lives in a Spanish boarding house at 352 West Eleventh Street, is in St. Vincent's Hospital, suffering from a fractured rib, a possible fracture of the skull, and a torn lip, as the result, witnesses say, of his attempt to speak to one of three girls who was passing his home early last night, escorted by three boys.

With two other men of his race he came behind the party, it was said, and made a remark to one of the girls. One of three young men, whom no one seemed to know, hit him several times and he fell, striking his head. The commotion that ensued attracted the attention of Father McGrath of the Catholic Seaman's Mission, just around the corner, and when the crowd saw him coming every one vanished, leaving the injured man on the sidewalk alone. He was removed to St. Vincent's Hospital. The police say that he was arrested some six months ago for disorderly conduct in connection with a somewhat similar offense.

PRAISES GRAPE JUICE HOST.

Daniels Holds Bryan Up as Pattern—Approves Roosevelt's Suit.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Praise of Secretary Bryan for "the courage of his convictions" in refusing to serve wine at a dinner he gave recently to the Diplomatic Corps was given by Secretary Daniels to-day in addressing a Sunday school rally for prohibition in the District of Columbia. He advised all young men to follow Secretary Bryan's course and to seek safety in total abstinence.

Secretary Daniels also praised Theodore Roosevelt for prosecuting for libel an editor accused of circulating stories relative to drinking on the part of the former President.

THINK PEARY FOUND EXACT SITE OF POLE

Herbert L. Bridgman Returns with Government's Report to the Geographic Congress.

VISITED BALKAN STATES

Bulgaria Offers a Rich Field for American Capital, Mr. Bridgman Asserts.

Herbert L. Bridgman, the explorer, returned to this city on Saturday night on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria from a European trip, in the course of which he attended the Tenth International Geographic Congress and visited the Balkan States. Mr. Bridgman brought home with him a copy of the report of the United States Government authorities on Rear Admiral Peary's journey to the north pole, which was filed with the Geographic Congress.

This report, which was signed by Hugh C. Mitchell and Charles R. Duvall, computers of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, dealt at length with Peary's observations and showed that on the morning of April 7, 1909, he was even nearer than 1.6 geographic miles to the pole, and, in fact was probably actually at the pole. The Government authorities closed their report with these words:

> Applying the above conclusions to the observations and results at Camp Jesup, we feel justified in repeating our belief that any reasonable assumption that we may make regarding the various errors of observation and computation at Camp Jesup will not produce an error as great as two minutes in the computed position of that point. Further, any assumption made in regard to the errors affecting the ten-mile traverse on the night of April 6 must tend to move Camp Jesup further away from Cape Columbia and at the same time further away from the pole.
> This displacement would hardly be more than one mile, but its effect on the nearest approach to the pole made on the traverse of the morning of April 7, between 6:30 and 12:30, would be to materially lessen that distance, 1.6 miles, and to strengthen the statement that on the morning of April 7, 1909, Peary was within 1.6 geographic miles of the north pole.

At the Congress, said Mr. Bridgman, Admiral Peary was royally received and entertained by the Chairman, Marquis Cappelli, and by Mayor Nathan of Rome. The Congress closed on April 3 and then Admiral Peary went to Egypt. He will speak at the meeting of the Geographical Society at Geneva on May 31, and will be received at the University of Paris on June 6. Prince Roland Bonaparte will preside on that occasion. Rear Admiral Peary will sail for America on June 8, Mr. Bridgman said. From Rome Mr. Bridgman went to the Balkan States to study conditions there at first hand. He arrived at Belgrade, the capital of Servia, a week after the surrender of Adrianople.

"I did not push on to Adrianople because the fighting was all over then," he said, "and there were reports of an epidemic of cholera in the camps. I think that the period of strife is practically at an end.

"One thing that surprised me in Bulgaria was that American ideas seem to have found such a fertile field there. I was amazed at the conditions in Sofia, the capital. It is a modern city, with trolley cars and telephones and pavements of vitrified brick. Half of the members of the Bulgarian Cabinet were graduates of Robert College in Constantinople, an American institution, and that probably had much to do with it.

"The Bulgarians didn't care to discuss the future, they seemed absolutely confident of it, and took the position that they could afford to await developments. Bulgaria is going to stand for its rights. The country asserts that it furnished in lives and money 77 per cent. of the losses of the war, and it does not feel that the countries which furnished but 23 per cent. should receive equal recognition. It seeks, among other things, a port on the Aegean Sea, which can be improved.

"Conditions in Bulgaria, and in Servia for that matter, have created a big field for the investment of outside capital, and I found that there was a general desire to form closer relations with the United States and to interest our capitalists. The country is devoted almost entirely to agriculture, and manufactured goods have been obtained from Austria and Germany.

"Now, there is the invitation extended to America. The Bulgarians and Servians seem to feel that friendly relations have always existed between their countries and the United States, and they want to continue and strengthen these relations. One thing which was brought sharply to my attention was the imperative need of help to avert real suffering among the widows and orphans of the countries. American missionaries are doing splendid work there. I feel, however, that if I could induce some philanthropist here to aid the sufferers it would do much to promote relations between our country and the Balkan States."

The army put in the field by Bulgaria was an illustration of the advancement made by that country, Mr. Bridgman said. Every one of the 350,000 men was able to read and write, he asserted. Mr. Bridgman obtained hundreds of photographs of scenes at the front, and he will probably deliver a series of lectures soon on his experiences. He will speak on Tuesday evening before the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences.

pointment or position, directly or indirectly, nor was the note given or received on any such condition.

Mr. Cruikshank made no reference to Connolly's allegation that he showed documentary evidence to Mr. Cruikshank to prove the payment of $3,940.55 in commissions to Mr. Cohalan.

Another phase of Connolly's story related to the activity of his friends, who, he said, had formed themselves into a committee and called on Charles F. Murphy. He described the Tammany chieftain as being angry when the committee presented a written statement purporting to enumerate the transactions between Cohalan and Connolly, and quotes Murphy as having said:

"Why don't Connolly go ahead and sue Dan if what he says is true?"

Says Murphy Forced Refund.

To which the committee, according to Connolly, replied in a body that in view of Murphy's attitude they would advise Connolly to do precisely that thing.

Connolly stated that he had met Murphy next day at Tammany Hall, and that Murphy had said to him:

"John, go down and see Dan at his office. I've put it right up to him and told him to give you back your money. But you understand that I wouldn't admit anything before those six men. That committee should never have come to see me. Now, go ahead and get your money, and don't say a word to them or anybody about it."

It was also asserted by Connolly that on May 27, 1909, Mr. Cruikshank received the $3,940.55 in Mr. Cohalan's office at 2 Rector Street and that he, Connolly, immediately put this money back into his business.

Connolly attributed his reconciliation with Cohalan to Leader Murphy. This reconciliation was effected at the time Mr. Cohalan was seeking election as United States Senator.

Connolly described himself as a worker in the Cohalan cause at that time, and told of an alleged interview in Mr. Cohalan's office on March 22, 1911, when he expressed the wish that he could "get something to do," as business reverses had overtaken him. It was then, according to Connolly, that the negotiations leading up to the making of the $4,000 note were entered into, and he told of consulting Lawyer Cruikshank in the matter. Two days after this consultation, Connolly said, he had an interview with Mr. Cohalan, whom he quoted as saying:

"Now, John, I want to start fresh with you as a matter of principle, so we won't discuss the thing any further. Consult Cruikshank and let him arrange the details, because he alone knows about the whole transaction. But I must have your note before we go any further in the matter of getting you something to do."

It was following this alleged interview, Connolly said, that he made the note for $4,000.

Connolly told also of rehabilitating his fortunes somewhat, and within the past month of worrying over the existence of the note. He consulted with Lawyer Warren, and the events of last week were the result.

Warren Away on His Yacht.

After writing the letter to Justice Cohalan last Tuesday, Mr. Warren went to Albany and did not return to his office until Thursday morning. He said he found a message awaiting him to call up Justice Cohalan at 11 A. M. Connolly said Mr. Warren consulted with him, and declined to telephone to Justice Cohalan.

Instead, counsel and client started to draft a complaint in an action against Justice Cohalan. While they were thus engaged the telephone rang and a message was received asking if Mr. Warren would come to Justice Cohalan's chambers immediately.

Connolly said he consented that his lawyer comply with the request. According to Connolly, Mr. Warren quoted Justice Cohalan as having said to him:

"I do not want to discuss any phase of the matter," at the same time presenting the note and the estoppel affidavit and receiving a receipt.

Mr. Warren lives at 473 West End Avenue. It was said there yesterday that he had gone out early on his yacht and would not return before morning.

STEFANSSON OFF FOR ARCTIC QUEST

Explorer Leaves New York for Ottawa, and Starts from Victoria on June 4.

HIS FINAL PLANS MADE

Expects to Leave Point Barrow on Aug. 1, Thence to Herschel Island and the Undiscovered Continent.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, commander of the Canadian arctic expedition, which will seek the "unknown continent" that scientists believe exists in the arctic, left this city at 7:45 o'clock last night for Ottawa on the first stage of the journey to Victoria, where he will join the expedition. Although engaged in a mission for another country, he carried with him the heartiest good wishes of American societies and individuals.

Mr. Stefansson wanted it understood that his return of more than $40,000 subscribed in this country for the expedition before it was taken over by the Canadian Government did not mean that friendly relations with the United States had been jeopardized. Before his departure yesterday he received this telegram from the National Geographic Society, to whom he returned $20,000:

> Our heartiest congratulations on your splendid organization and plans for your expedition. Can the National Geographic Society contribute instruments or anything except best wishes for your success?
> GILBERT H. GROSVENOR, Director.

Mr. Stefansson said it was not generally known that, with every condition favorable, he might arrive on the frontiers of the so-called unknown continent in little more than two months. On the other hand, it may be three years before he is heard from again, as he is determined to spend that much time in his search before he abandons it. Whatever the fortunes of his mission, he is confident of returning alive with his party of scientific adventurers.

After three days spent in Ottawa, where he will complete final arrangements with the Canadian Government, Mr. Stefansson will go to Winnipeg, where he was born, and deliver four addresses. Then he will leave for Wynyard, Saskatchewan, to visit his mother, whom he has not seen for five years. Thence he will journey to the coast, arriving in Victoria about June 4.

Joins Ship at Nome.

The stanch vessel Karluk, on which Stefansson and his five fellow-explorers will make the trip under the polar stars, is awaiting him in Victoria. She will sail for Nome about June 7, under command of Capt. Robert Bartlett, Admiral Peary's trusted skipper, but Stefansson will travel on the regular mail steamer and join the Karluk at Nome.

The fact that the National Geographic Society contributed to the Amundsen expedition the $20,000 which Stefansson returned did not mean that active rivalry exists between the two explorers, the latter said. Nor is the McMillan expedition viewed as a competitor, although the three bands will all be engaged on similar missions.

"We are not entering a race," Stefansson said. "For instance, the bases of supplies for Amundsen and for my expedition will be 700 miles apart. We might touch in our paths, but they will not overlap. Theoretically, I have an advantage, because my base of supplies, where the scientists of the expedition will Winter, is only about 100 miles from the locality where the unknown continent is supposed to lie. Amundsen will have to journey far to the west from his base of supplies before he gets within striking distance of his destination."

The ship on which the scientists will embark has not yet been chosen, but it will be one of three vessels, any one of which will qualify for the work. The Karluk and the vessel chosen will rendezvous at Point Barrow, the most northerly point on the continent, about Aug. 1. Thence the journey is one in which the weather will play an all-important part. If an easterly wind prevails the expedition can sail around the point about Aug. 1. On the other hand, a westerly wind would so pack the ice-fields that the expedition might be held at Point Barrow until after Jan. 1, 1914. Should this be the case, Stefansson said, criticism might be directed against him because of the little progress made, and he added:

"My reputation might depend upon which way the wind blows."

It has been decided that neither the Karluk nor her sister ship will be equipped with wireless. It was found that wireless equipment would necessitate carrying eleven tons of extra freight and two men who would not be of use except as wireless operators. Stefansson decided he had no room either for the extra freight or men, especially as the wireless officials declined to guarantee to him communication with the most northerly stations. It was found that eight extra stations must be built to insure communication. This would be done some day, Stefansson said, but he could not wait.

Expedition to Divide.

Assuming that favoring winds prevail, the expedition will reach Herschel Island in two days' journey from Point Barrow, and the expedition will be divided, the scientists, led by Dr. R. M. Anderson, setting up a base of supplies and remaining on the island, while Stefansson and his party will start on their quest. The Anderson party will have their twenty-ton ship, in which they can sail in small, rocky waters with greater facility than in a larger vessel. Dr. Anderson expects to maintain the base for at least a year. For two years following the base will be changed in accordance with the requirements of scientific work. One reason for the choice of Herschel Island was to enable the anthropologists of the party to study the "white Eskimos" first discovered by Stefansson. Others of the scientists will devote much of their time to research among the copper deposits of the locality. J. J. O'Neill, a specialist in copper mines, will have charge of the work, assisted by two topographers.

The Karluk will start north within a few days after arriving at Herschel Island, and, conditions favoring, it will follow along the 141st meridian, which divides Alaska from Canada. Within a day's sail is the southern boundary of the unknown continent. Whether it consisted of land or ice Stefansson said he was not prepared to say. He left that to scientists, who have worked out a theory that it must be land.

"The discovery that it was land might be of international importance," Stefansson said. "We could then claim it under the ancient law of the right of discovery, and it would be annexed to Canada. If we find land, we will establish a base of supplies on it before pursuing further investigations. If it be water, we will try and head east and make a base at Land's End on Prince Patrick Island. From whatever base we have, we will try and move northward, and in Summer travel by boat, in Winter by sled. Our greatest danger lies in the possibility of our ship being sunk in Summer. If it be crushed in the Winter packs, the peril is slight, because there is no danger of sinking. We would just walk out. I have little fear of starvation. I have established the fact that caribou and musk ox live throughout those regions, and we can subsist on them."

Dr. Anderson's wife will accompany him as far as Nome, together with two stenographers, to whom Stefansson will dictate his scientific reports. Mrs. Anderson will return to her parents' home in Sioux City to await the return of her husband. The Andersons have been married only a year.

VICTIM OF A GANG FEUD.

Barber Leone Shot Dead at 58th Street and Lexington Avenue.

Shortly before last midnight a fusillade of revolver shots startled the neighborhood at Lexington Avenue and Fifty-eighth Street. Patrolman Downs of the East Fifty-first Street Station, who was on post at Third Avenue, counted nine of them as he ran through Fifty-eighth Street toward the scene of the shooting. He had reached the middle of the block when a short, thick-set man coming east ran into his arms.

Downs collared him and turned him over to another policeman just in time to grab another man, running behind the first. They went on with their prisoners toward Lexington Avenue, and just before the corner was reached they came upon the body of a man lying dead in the gutter.

Palm Garden and Terrace Garden, large amusement halls in the block where the shooting occurred, were filled with crowds attending dances of various organizations. The street filled with excited pleasure-seekers, and when the reserves from the East Fifty-first Street Station arrived they had a hard time clearing the scene of the shooting. Beside the body of the dead man was found a .32-calibre revolver, with four shells exploded, and the police found a .38-calibre revolver, with five empty shells, in the basement of 141 East Fifty-eighth Street.

The police believe the fighting was the result of a gang feud, although they knew nothing about its details up to 1 o'clock this morning. The dead man was identified as Jim Leone, known as "Curly," a barber, who lives on Fifty-eighth Street, between Eighth and Ninth Avenues.

Frank Miller, whom the police say is known as "Huckle," was the first of the prisoners whom Patrolman Downs took. He was held on a technical charge of homicide. The second prisoner was Tom Leone, a brother of the dead man, who lives at 728 Lexington Avenue. He was held as a suspicious person.

SHOT AT A PARTY.

O'Connor, Weak from Loss of Blood, Carried to Bellevue.

The police of the East Twenty-second Street Station are investigating the shooting of Thomas O'Connor, 21 years old, a gas fitter, of 404 East Seventeenth Street, who was carried into Bellevue Hospital last night by two men. He had a bullet wound in the left leg. O'Connor, the doctors say, had been carried some distance and was weak from loss of blood. It was said that his condition was serious.

Policeman Steinfeld of the prison ward in Bellevue questioned the three men, but all he could learn was that they had been at a party at Forty-first Street and Tenth Avenue, at which shots had been fired.

GIRLS' BALL GAME STOPS.

Warrant Served on Third Base and 1,500 Spectators Are Displeased.

About 1,500 persons were watching a game of baseball played by two teams of young women who call themselves the New York Female Giants at Lenox Oval, an open field at 145th Street and Lenox Avenue, yesterday afternoon when the sport was interrupted by the appearance of Sergt. Mahoney of Inspector Titus's staff. It was the end of the seventh inning and the score stood 6 to 4 in favor of the "Blue" division of the team. The seventh inning "stretch" was foregone in favor of watching the policeman, who presented a summons to appear this morning in the Harlem Court to Helen Genker, third base for the "Reds," who, the Sergeant says, had been selling programmes to the crowd when she was not on the field.

The serving of the summons broke up the game, and the crowd seemed disappointed, because it thought that the "Blue" shortstop was a female Hans Wagner, and enjoyed watching her scoop up the hot liners and drive out hits when she came to bat. The girls wore white middy blouses, blue skirts with bloomers, and white shoes. Ida Schnall is the Captain of the aggregation, which was made up, at least so they said at the field, of high school girls.

BUSY DAY AT CONEY ISLAND.

Fine Weather Tempts Some 200,000 Persons to the Resort.

A throng of some 200,000 persons, by far the largest of the early season, visited Coney Island yesterday tempted by the ideal weather. All of the parks and street shows did a lively business, and the merchants and show owners who had spent most of their time since the opening carnival growling about the weather forget their troubles in the rush to make change. A free show for thousands was provided by Lord Roberts and Baron Coucci, midgets, who are appearing at the vaudeville theatres. They went bathing at the Parkway Bath at Brighton Beach, and a race was arranged.

Many of the young women who rode on the floats in Saturday's parade wearing gaudy costumes stormed the drug stores yesterday in search of something to wash dye from the skin. The girls, most of whom live at Coney Island, were soaked by the rain, and the dye on their costumes ran.

The express service on the elevated lines from Manhattan started yesterday.

ROOSEVELT NOT ON STRIKE.

Nor Has He Complained of His Outlook Pay, Dr. Abbott Says.

The Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, a Director of The Outlook Company, said last night that there was no truth in a report published yesterday that Col. Roosevelt had asked for more pay for his services and might soon terminate his connection with The Outlook as a contributing editor. The Colonel, it was said, had let the company know he would not sign another contract unless at an increased salary.

"There was no reason at all for such a story," said Dr. Abbott. "There is no contract covering any stated time between The Outlook Company and Col. Roosevelt, and the existing contract could be terminated by either party at any time. As far as I know, the question of compensation has not been mentioned by Col. Roosevelt, and nothing has come up to make us believe that he intends to sever his connection with The Outlook."

It has been generally understood that Col. Roosevelt received $30,000 a year from The Outlook Company.

NECK DISLOCATION KILLED M'CARTY

Coroner Costello Gives Out That Information as Result of Autopsy.

PELKEY IN COURT TO-DAY

Puglist Who Fought White Champion Will Be Arraigned on a Manslaughter Charge.

CALGARY, Alberta, May 25.—A dislocation of the neck caused the death yesterday of Luther McCarty in his fight with Arthur Pelkey, according to information given out to-night following an autopsy conducted by Dr. F. Moshier at the request of Coroner Costello.

It was announced by the physicians that death undoubtedly had been caused by the dislocation of the neck and that the heart was found to be sound. A clot of blood on the brain aided in convincing the physicians that the pugilist's death was not caused by the blow near the heart.

Shortly after the bout began yesterday, McCarty received a sharp jab on the jaw which sent his head back quickly. It did not appear to have caused any pain, and he was on his feet for half a minute afterward. Pelky followed the blow on the jaw with a right to the heart region. This caused the spectators to believe that a solar plexus punch had caused the knockout.

Physicians are of the opinion that the dislocation of the neck was not caused by the fall after the blow. McCarty sank to the floor slowly and did not strike his head.

The surgeons found that the dislocation of the neck caused a rupture of the spinal cord and a hemorrhage of the spine. The medical evidence will be produced at the inquest to-morrow.

In discussing the case to-night, the Crown prosecutor said that all prize-fighting was legal under the statutes of Canada. It was intimated that in addition to the charge against Pelkey, charges would be placed against "Tommie" Burns, as promoter; "Ed." Smith of Chicago as referee, and "Billy" McCarney, manager for McCarty.

A peculiar situation confronts the attorneys because several police officials attended the contest, and none of them protested against it.

Pelkey will face a charge of manslaughter in the police court here tomorrow. The Royal Northwest mounted police completed the necessary papers in the charge placed against him to-day.

Just before the death of McCarty was announced, it developed to-day, Pelkey had slipped into his street clothes at the request of his trainers and was taken to his hotel in an automobile. It was not until he had dressed that he learned of McCarty's end. He had started from the hotel when policemen arrived and took him into custody.

McCarty's body will be shipped to his birthplace, Hastings, Neb., Monday night.

The fatal ending of the bout will have the effect of putting the lid down tightly on boxing contests in Western Canada. Tommy Burns succeeded for just a year in running bouts in his arena outside the city limits.

Betting on yesterday's contest was lively at 2 to 1 against Pelkey holding out for ten rounds, while McCarty was straight five-to-one favorite for the decision. It was not supposed generally that Pelkey could gain enough science in three weeks to give him a chance with McCarty. Pelkey showed a great deal of improvement over former appearances. In the brief contest, he exhibited better judgment of distance than his opponent, and also put more steam into his blows.

Dies from Blow in Boxing Bout.

CHICAGO, May 25.—Frank Carbone, a member of a physical culture school here, died to-day from injuries thought to have been received while sparring in the school Tuesday. The police have been unable to find the owner of the school or learn with whom Carbone was sparring.

Carbone returned home Tuesday and told his mother he was struck in the abdomen while sparring. To-day he became suddenly ill and died before a physician could arrive.

BACK BROKEN BY AUTO.

Carried to Hospital in the Car Which Ran Him Down.

An automobile owned by Mrs. M. Jeanette Hamlin, who lives at the Sherman Square Hotel, Broadway and Seventy-first Street, ran down a man about 6 o'clock last evening at Metropolitan and Briggs Avenues, Williamsburg. In the car were Fred Miller of 158 West Eighty-fourth Street, the driver, and S. Y. Robinson of the Sherman Square Hotel.

Miller and Robinson placed the man in their machine and took him to the Williamsburg Hospital, where it was found he had a broken back and several fractured ribs. At 10 o'clock he recovered consciousness long enough to say that he was Andrew Levin, a laborer, 37 years old, of 211 Metropolitan Avenue, Williamsburg. It was said that he would die.

Miller explained to the police that Levin had stepped in front of the automobile, which was going at a moderate speed.

BLOW STUNS POLICEMAN.

Knocked Off His Horse by Bottle Thrown by Picnicker.

Hearing the noise of combat in Cohen's Park, at Twelfth and Forest Streets, Winfield, yesterday evening about 8 o'clock, Mounted Policeman Edward Burke, attached to the Newtown Police Station, hurried to the park, where he found a party of picnickers engaged in a free-for-all fight. Burke rode toward the thick of the fight, and he was showered with beer bottles and glasses.

The policeman was struck on the side of the head by a beer bottle and fell unconscious from his horse. Other policemen, who had been attracted by the noise, came to his rescue, while a call was sent in for the reserves. Policeman Burke was removed to St. John's Hospital in Long Island City, where his injuries were dressed by Dr. Ward, who said that Burke was not seriously hurt.

BUILD CHILD A NEW CHIN.

Remarkable Operation on a Burned Girl in Baltimore Hospital.

BALTIMORE, May 25.—After many weeks of treatment, the rebuilding of a little girl's chin and the restoration of her mouth, after they had been terribly distorted by burns, have been completed at a hospital here.

The child was brought from another city. Her clothing had taken fire while she was playing about a gas stove, and the flesh on her face was seared to such an extent that when the wound healed only a small hole was left where the mouth had been; the little finger could be inserted, but only with difficulty. Nothing was left of the chin but the bone and a covering of scarred flesh.

A large flap of flesh was cut from the child's abdomen, one side being left attached to the body. The other side was grafted on one of her arms. After weeks the flap was cut from the abdomen and joined to the lips and chin. For weeks blood flowed from the arm across the bridge of flesh into the chin and lips. Finally the flap was cut from the arm.

The new flesh was now attached to the chin. A mouth was cut and the chin was rounded out. When the child was discharged from the hospital she could eat, talk, and move her jaws as well as any of her companions. Only upon close examination could the new chin be discovered.

NEWARK WANTS OWN PORT.

Deputation Will Protest Against Being Under New York.

A party of Newark business men, headed by Augustus U. Hamburg, President of the Newark Board of Trade, will wait upon Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo to-day to protest against the carrying into effect of an order, made by President Taft, making the Port of Newark an adjunct or sub-port of the Port of New York.

It will be urged that the change will not effect a saving in administration costs, but rather the reverse, while subjecting Newark business interests to considerable inconvenience. The receipts, amounting to more than $250,000, the deputation will say, warrant the retention of Newark as an independent port of entry.

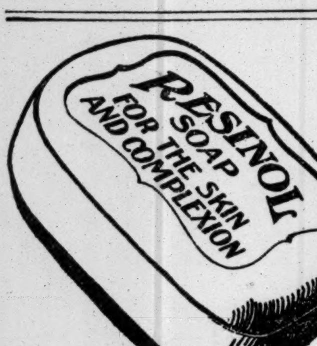
IRELAND GOING DRY.

Temperance Leader Here to Tell of Crusade That Swept the North.

Among the passengers arriving yesterday on the Anchor liner Cameronia from Glasgow was the Rev. Robert J. Patterson, leader and founder of the Irish temperance movement. The cause was proclaimed in 1909, and has between 140,000 and 150,000 followers. In explaining its success the Rev. Mr. Patterson, who is a Presbyterian preacher at Ballymoyen, County Armagh, said that the idea was "how to be happy though sober."

Each convert on signing the pledge of temperance had to promise, he said, that he would get his most intimate friend to join, and help along the good work. The crusade had been such a success that Catholics in the North of Ireland had taken it up as well as Protestants, and the buttons with the words, "Catch My Pal Temperance Movement," were popular in every large city in the North. In place of saloons, which had been compelled to close on account of the falling off of their trade, temperance places had been opened, where the young men could read magazines, play games, and obtain non-alcoholic drinks. Mr. Patterson is going to Detroit to lecture on his work, and then through Canada to Vancouver and across the Pacific Ocean to Australia and New Zealand.

A number of the passengers on the Cameronia joined during the voyage, and came ashore wearing the buttons. It was said that the bar trade on the ship suffered.



RESINOL SOAP FOR THE SKIN AND COMPLEXION

A real baby soap

RESINOL Soap is absolutely free from the harsh, injurious alkali present in ordinary soaps—even in so-called "skin soaps." Besides, it contains the same soothing, healing, antiseptic balsams that have made Resinol Ointment itself so successful for the skin. That is why Resinol is the safest baby soap and why its regular use will generally prevent the distressing rashes and chafings of babyhood. Best for your bath and toilet, too.

THE TIMES'S DAILY TRANSATLANTIC WIRELESS AND CABLE DISPATCHES

LONGCHAMPS SEES VISIONS IN LACE

Expensive Fashions in Summer Gowns Are on Show at the Race Course.

GIRLISH FIGURE COMES BACK

Short Skirts and Two Pairs of Stockings at a Time Other New Paris Features.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, May 25.—The vogue of lace as the favorite material for Summer dresses received full confirmation at Longchamps to-day, when the first real Summer conditions induced fashionable women to don for the first time this year's most recent creations of the dressmaking art. Although later, no doubt, good imitations will be obtainable at reasonable prices, the smart delicate gowns, as shown to-day, appear to cost as much as any luxurious fur coat.

Alençon, Malines, Chantilly, Spanish, point de Venise and cobweb laces—some even old and worthy to appear in the cases of art collectors—were profusely used either for the whole gown over some dark material or as flounces, fichus, or trimming, when mousséline de soie, or some other equally thin and soft material, was employed.

Whatever may be said concerning the new silhouette, a decided return to the youthful, almost girlish, figure is characteristic of Summer gowns. These, according to to-day's show, are generally of the one-piece bodice and fichu style, the points of the latter crossing about at the waist to leave the neck uncovered—the low front giving the appearance of a V-shaped décolleté—falling back of the skirt and crossed again in soft folds near the hem of the skirt, where they end in graceful draperies.

This cross and recross model is carried out in ivory lace over a cream or dull gray silk underskirt, while a brilliantly colored sash, simply drawn around the waist rather high on the bodice, relieves the monotony of the ensemble. Blue, pale or dark, is barred, and the most popular colors in sashes are now yellow, red, and in some cases black.

Four Stockings for Two Legs.

Skirts are shorter in front than ever. The fashion of cothurni or low shoes laced with silk ribbons high on the ankle appears, indeed, likely to make short skirts more and more favored this Summer. This is responsible for the new mode of stockings to match the dress. Many were seen to-day in a real lace pattern which was conspicuous against the pale pink silk hose worn underneath after the fashion of the dandies of the eighteenth century.

After the recent attempt to popularize larger shapes, Summer hats of the latest model have been reduced to a minimum. In the majority of cases the brim is dispensed with altogether, and its place is taken by a flounce of tulle projecting stiffly around a tiny shape for some five or six inches. The tulle is almost invariably black. A large bow of the same material fixed at the back completes the simple trimming. A minority who have refused to submit to the latest whim of fashion continue to wear fresh flowers over cream and other light-colored hats, the size of which is never bigger than the usual sailor.

Shantung is also a great favorite among the simpler costumes. A manikin wearing a charming gown of this material was much admired. Her bodice was of kimono style, with short and very wide sleeves, low neck edged with a ruche of cream lace and buttoned crossways with very large pearls. Her skirt had a perfectly plain panel front and was profusely draped in the back, the folds being gathered at the sides, knee high, with pearls. A narrow belt entirely covered with small pearls circled her waist. A rather small Leghorn hat with bunches of May roses completed what all agreed was a smart toilet.

On the whole, the Summer fashions appear to be very conservative. Simplicity and good taste are the predominant features, not less remarkable than the total absence of the freaks that have recently been exhibited.

Good Old Fashion in Face Paint.

Only a few hand-painted gowns were seen to-day. Fewer still were the instances of a new attempt to revive Eastern and Russian coloring and designs, gold slippers, such as are used in the ballroom, being practically the single effort to achieve gorgeousness. Purple and yellowish complexions have also been discarded in favor of the old-fashioned white powder and rouge. Powdered hair, however, is gaining in favor daily.

KILLS CONSUMPTION GERM.

Organism That Causes Pearls Is Fatal to Tubercle Bacillus.

PARIS, May 25.—Prof. Raphael Dubois of the University of Lyons, a noted physiologist, has concluded a series of experiments, which demonstrate that the micrococcus, which causes the formation of pearls in oysters, is fatal to the tubercle bacillus.

Twelve guineapigs were infected with tuberculosis and then inoculated with a culture of the micrococcus. Ten months later all had recovered except one.

Prof. Dubois does not wish to draw conclusions or to make predictions as a result of his experiments, which he is continuing, but hopes that the discovery may aid in the extermination of tuberculosis.

POPE RECEIVES PILGRIMS.

Walks Unaided to His Throne and Shows No Signs of Weakness.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

ROME, May 25.—The Pope has resumed his collective audiences. He received 200 pilgrims this morning in the Consistorial Hall, and about 300 more this afternoon.

The Pontiff, accompanied by Dr. Amici and escorted by the Noble Guards, entered the hall walking erect and without the assistance of a stick. He mounted the steps of the throne unaided and spoke a few words of welcome to the pilgrims, whom he afterward blessed. The audiences lasted only five minutes.

Contrary to custom, the Pope walked around the hall and gave his hand to be kissed. His Holiness was pale and thin; he has aged considerably since his illness, but is apparently in good health and shows no signs of weakness.

BROADEN FARM INQUIRY.

American Commission to Take Up Co-operation in All Its Phases.

ROME, May 25.—A comprehensive task, the solution of which will be of vital importance to the American farmer, has been undertaken by the American Commission on Agricultural Organization, Co-operation, and Rural Credits, now studying the systems used in Europe. During the voyage from the United States the members of the commission decided to abandon the original intention of merely investigating the systems of European rural credits, as it was thought so narrow a subject would restrict the usefulness of the commission. The scope of the work was, therefore, enlarged to embrace the whole subject of co-operative effort, as it touches agriculture and rural life.

The members divided themselves into four sub-committees dealing with finance, production, distribution, and organization of agriculture and country life.

The first sub-committee began an investigation into all forms of banking and credit affecting the farmer, whether co-operative or non-co-operative, but is paying especial attention to the former, as it is desired to disseminate in the North American continent some practical principle of self-help. All the bankers and financiers accompanying the commission are on this sub-committee.

The second sub-committee is devoted mainly to practical farming, and is inquiring into associations formed to increase the fertility of the soil and the quality of crops and livestock. The members are devoting attention to the successful cow testing associations of Denmark and other countries.

The third sub-committee is gathering information as to organizations of farmers for handling the marketing of produce and buying implements, eliminating the undue profits made by middle men or large combinations of dealers.

The fourth sub-committee's work deals with the organizations aiming at the betterment of rural life, the schools, family life, and farmers' unions. It is studying in the first place the traveling Government commissions of Italy, which work for the benefit of the rural population.

Dr. Butterfield, President of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, has been nominated President of the commission; Col. Harvie Jordan of Georgia, Secretary, and Dr. Owens of Washington, managing director. All are members of the Federal commission, appointed by President Wilson, which is co-operating with the American commission.

DAVISON'S ANGRY DENIAL.

Financier Denounces Reported Interview as a "Damnable Lie."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 25.—"It is a damnable lie; an unqualified, unfounded lie," were the words in which H. P. Davison of J. P. Morgan & Co. described to THE NEW YORK TIMES's correspondent this morning the alleged interview with him in The New York World, wherein he was said to have criticised severely the foreign policy of President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

Mr. Davison, who since his arrival in Paris has systematically declined to be interviewed, was exceedingly angry when the correspondent submitted to him the statement he was alleged to have made to The World correspondent.

"The whole thing is a falsehood from beginning to end; a base trick calculated to cause me trouble during my short vacation here," he said. "I saw The World man for a minute and refused to discuss anything whatever. I merely told him the probable date of my sailing. I should be glad to have THE TIMES print my emphatic denial."

AGAINST FRENCH ARMY BILL

20,000 in Paris Meeting Denounce Three-Year Service Measure.

PARIS, May 25.—Twenty thousand Socialists, laborites, and revolutionaries of various groups attended a meeting at Pré St. Gervais, outside the fortifications, to-day in protest against the three years' army service.

Eighty orators—among them M. Jaurés, the Socialist leader—harangued the assemblage from wagons. Large forces of police patrolled the neighborhood but were not called upon to intervene, as the meeting was very orderly.

PEACE TERMS SUIT ALLIES.

They Will Not Ask for Further Modifications—Turks Are Encouraged.

LONDON, May 25.—The allies informed Osman Nizami Pasha at a joint meeting of the Balkan and Ottoman peace delegates to-day that they had no intention of asking for further modification of the peace terms already put forward.

This announcement is regarded as an important step in the direction of peace, as the Ottomans anticipated that if any modifications were suggested it would leave the door open for further demands on the part of the allies.

Menacing Fire at Ghent Exhibition.

GHENT, May 25.—Fire to-day destroyed the Indo-China pavilion and two restaurants at the International Industrial Exhibition. With difficulty the flames were prevented from spreading to the neighboring British and Beaux Arts sections. No one was injured.

245 LOST AT SMYRNA, RESCUERS BLOWN UP

Crews of Two Boats, Picking Up the Nevada's Victims, Destroyed by Another Mine.

CONSUL GOES TO THE SCENE

This Government May Protest to Turkey Against a Violation of the Hague Convention.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Monday, May 26.—The Daily Mail's Smyrna correspondent says it is feared that 245 persons perished when the steamship Nevada was blown up on striking a Turkish mine Saturday morning. Among the passengers were several English and French.

The steamer Esterel sent two boats to the assistance of the passengers, but the rescuers struck another mine and perished.

Most of those saved owe their lives to the prompt assistance rendered by the crew of the French cruiser Bruix. Some naked bodies have been taken from the water.

The American Consul has gone to the scene of the disaster to organize relief.

SMYRNA, May 25.—Shipping is completely paralyzed in these waters on account of the recent accidents due to mines. The companies have warned incoming steamers to remain away, and outward-bound vessels are afraid to leave port.

WASHINGTON MAY PROTEST.

The Hague Convention Prohibits the Use of Automatic Contact Mines.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—As a result of the sinking of the Turkish-American steamship Nevada yesterday in the Gulf of Smyrna through contact with a mine Turkey is likely to hear from the powers signatory to the conventions signed at the third Peace Conference, held at The Hague in 1907. This conference concluded a special convention relative to the laying of automatic submarine contact mines. It was signed by the representatives of forty-four powers, including Turkey, and the question has already been informally raised here as to whether the sinking of foreign commercial vessels by Turkish mines has involved a violation of this convention.

The Nevada was flying the American flag, although owned by a Turkish company. She belonged to a fleet of eight vessels, of which seven were renamed in 1910 and transferred to American register. Since she was flying the American flag, the United States Government is in position to institute inquiries into the circumstances under which the steamship was lost, and it may be able to file a protest with Turkey in the event of a violation of The Hague convention.

By the first article of this convention it is forbidden:

"First—To lay unanchored automatic contact mines except when they are so constructed as to become harmless one hour, at most, after the person who laid them ceases to control them.

"Second—To lay anchored automatic contact mines which do not become harmless as soon as they have broken loose from their moorings.

"Third—To use torpedoes which do not become harmless when they have missed their mark."

Should it be shown that the steamship Nevada was sunk through contact with an anchored mine which had broken loose from its moorings and had not become harmless after becoming detached, a violation of The Hague convention would be involved. So also would it prove to be a violation of the international agreement if it should develop that the mine was one of the unanchored type which failed to become harmless within an hour after it had been placed in the water and left beyond control.

CYPRUS CEDED TO BRITAIN.

Turkey Said to Have Legalized Occupation of Long Standing.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Monday, May 26.—The Constantinople correspondent of The Daily Express says he has received a formal statement from the best-informed source that, according to clauses of the Anglo-Turkish entente, Turkey has definitely ceded Cyprus to Great Britain.

GOMEZ MAKES 80 ARRESTS.

Venezuelan President Says Prisoners Plotted Against His Life.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, May 25.—Discovery of the plot against the life of President Juan Vicente Gomez has led to the arrest of eighty persons, who are alleged to be implicated.

According to the latest information from Caracas, the intention was to kill the President to-day at the horse races at Paraiso, a suburb of Caracas.

Rumors of a revolutionary movement in Venezuela are current, but the newspapers and the citizens are avoiding open discussion of the situation.

CALLS "PLOT" GOMEZ TRICK

President Seeks Excuse to Imprison Opponents, Hernandez Says.

Gen. José Manuel Hernandez, the Venezuelan political exile and leader of the anti-Gomez forces in that country, was deeply interested in a dispatch from Willemstad, Curacao, printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday. This dispatch told of an announcement made by the Government authorities of Venezuela that a plot had been discovered against the life of President Juan Vicente Gomez and that several politicians had been arrested and that others had fled.

"It is an old trick," said Gen. Hernandez, "for President Gomez to pretend to have discovered a plot against his life in order to give him an excuse to imprison and persecute those who oppose his policy. Others who have asked for reforms or who have stood out against the Gomez Administration in any way have been put in jail or driven from the country on the pretext that they had plotted against the life of Gomez."

SAVAGE LONDON RIOT AT SUFFRAGE OUTING

Mounted Police Charge Mob of 20,000 to Save the Militant Orators.

SYLVIA PANKHURST STONED

Women and Children Knocked Down in Heaps—Attempt to Blow Up Wheatley Hall.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 25.—Militant suffragists were the central figures in a scene of grave disorder at the demonstration held this afternoon in Victoria Park to advocate the granting of the franchise to workingwomen. Sylvia Pankhurst was one of the speakers before the 20,000 who were present.

The demonstrators, a majority of whom were women and children wearing garlands of almond blossoms and carrying branches of them in their hands, marched with flags and banners to the park, where speeches were delivered from fifteen platforms surrounded by standard bearers holding aloft the red caps of liberty.

Miss Pankhurst was trying to address the multitude from a wagon when showers of stones were hurled at her and water from bottles carried by mischief-makers was splashed in her face. She still spoke, however, and a few moments later the vehicle was seized by the crowd. Some of its occupants grew pale, and Miss Pankhurst, becoming excited, spoke rapidly to the mob.

The wagon was rushed to the gates, and mounted police galloped to rescue it. They charged among the crowd and amid scenes of great commotion succeeded in removing the women to a place of safety.

Two other wagons and their occupants were treated in similar fashion. Flags and decorations of all descriptions were snatched away and torn to shreds. Some women struck with their fists the men who laid their hands on the sides of the vehicles. A trap driven by a woman in white, on either side of which were "suffragette" posters, was raided, and copies of the paper hurled among the crowd.

Everywhere there were indications of the dread which the enormous crowd inspired. Children who accompanied the procession shook with terror, and elderly women sought such protection as they could obtain. The police found it necessary to charge the crowd several times, men and women and children falling in heaps in their panic-stricken efforts to avoid the horses' hoofs. Many women fainted. Snatches of ragtime songs mingled with the screams of women and children. The Inspector who gave the order to charge was violently attacked and was rescued by his men with difficulty. Miss Pankhurst during the disorder was belabored by a woman with an almond branch.

An attempt was made to-day to blow up Wheatley Hall, Doncaster, until recently the property of Sir William Cooke. A real bomb and a quantity of suffragette literature soaked in paraffin were found under a staircase.

WOMEN IGNORED SUFFRAGE.

International Council at The Hague Maintained Strict Neutrality.

THE HAGUE, May 25.—The Congress of the International Council of Women, which has been in session here, has been absolutely neutral on all matters of contention, especially suffrage.

The delegates have received many social attentions, the wife of the Foreign Minister, Jonkheer Reneke Van Swinderen, who was Miss Elizabeth L. Glover of Washington, being President of the Reception Committee.

ARAB RUSE DUPED ITALIANS.

False Reports of "Escaped" Prisoner Cost Ganbretti 1,000 Men.

CHIASSO, Switzerland, May 25.—The strict censorship which the Italian Government has imposed upon all news relating to the state of affairs in Tripoli, and particularly with regard to the defeat of the Italian forces at Sidi Garba on May 16, has made it difficult to obtain exact information as to the recent reverses in that territory. It has been learned, however, that the disaster at Sidi Garba was due to a well-laid plan of the Arabs.

An Italian workman named Machiavelli, who had been taken prisoner by the Arabs, was allowed to escape, after having been carefully primed with false information, which he carried to Gen. Ganbretti. Instead of waiting to carry out a scheme of co-operation with Gen. Tassoni, who was on his way from Benghazi with a strong force, Gen. Ganbretti, on the strength of Machiavelli's report that the number of the enemy was small, decided to attack alone. Accordingly, he divided his 3,000 men into three columns, which were supported by four guns and a battery of howitzers.

After the first flush of victory the Italian soldiers were resting, when suddenly each column was set upon from front and rear and cut off from the others. At the same time they were subjected to a heavy shell fire.

The Italians showed admirable courage and endurance. Some of the companies lost all their officers. One advance detachment lost thirty-six out of forty men, and it was soon apparent that retreat alone would save the attacking force from annihilation. Col. Magdalena was shot, and as he lay dying wrote a report praising his men and recommending for promotion his Major, who, although twice wounded, took command.

Gen. Ganbretti on his return to Derna said:

"It was the bloodiest day of the whole Italo-Turkish war."

The Italian losses are estimated at 1,000.

VAUGHAN FLAYS DANCES.

Imported from Zoological Gardens Into Drawing Rooms, Says Priest.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 25.—Father Bernard Vaughan, addressing the Catholic Women's League to-day on the subject of the latest freak dances, said:

"There is not much need of my expressing any view about these dances, which are of recent date and imported from zoological gardens into London drawing rooms.

"Their very animal names imply their animal nature. Not even a negro or a negress would think of breaking into such performances except when they were drunk."

Father Vaughan added that he had sufficient confidence in the British matron to believe that she would not countenance in London what the best society would not tolerate in New York.

CHRONICLE WELCOMES PAGE

Says He Will Be Able to Aid the Cause of World Peace.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Monday, May 26.—The Daily Chronicle editorially extends a hearty welcome to Ambassador Page, saying:

"Not only is this country honored by his being sent here, but we shall assuredly profit by the presence among us of such a richly gifted personality. He comes, too, at an interesting time, on the eve of the celebration of a hundred years of peace between his Nation and ours.

"In the period during which he will hold office he will be able to do much to further that great humanitarian cause, the complement of the progress which both nations have so much at heart, and which has no more sincere and thorough supporter than the new Ambassador himself—the cause of world peace."

He had to abandon the attempt, however, owing to the blocking of his way by avalanches.

MIKADO GIVES AUDIENCES.

His Condition Favorable Enough to See State Officials.

TOKIO, May 26.—The condition of Emperor Yoshihito was so favorable on Sunday that he received several State officials in audience. The bulletins issued by the attending physicians will probably be suspended, in view of his steady improvement.

The bulletin issued this morning indicated normal conditions. The temperature was 98.78, pulse 72, respiration 22.

GIBSON TRIAL TO BE BRIEF.

Prosecutor Thinks Jury Will Have Case by Thursday Night.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURG, May 25.—District Attorney Wilson stated to-day that he probably would close his prosecution in the trial of Burton W. Gibson, charged with the murder of Mrs. Rosa Menschick Szabo, Tuesday noon. It was his opinion the jury would have the case by Thursday night. He said he had no new witness and would not call as many as were examined on the first trial unless compelled to do so, as he understood he would be able to refute the assertion to be made by the defense that if Mrs. Szabo had been strangled before reaching the water, as one of the counts in the indictment set forth, her body would have floated instead of sinking.

Mr. Wilson said he would be in a position to show that it was the formation of gases that floated a body, and in Mrs. Szabo's case time had not elapsed between death and the moment of striking the water to permit of the gases forming.

The defense has subpoenaed none of its witnesses, so far as could be learned. It is understood it will have two or more new experts. Minturn, who gave on Saturday an illustration of the scene he said he witnessed on the lake at the time of the drowning, will be cross-examined at the opening of court to-morrow. He will be followed by Mrs. Bettinger, who professes to have seen the boat when the man and woman were in it, and immediately afterward, on getting a field glass, to have seen Gibson in the water, tearing a garment from his body.

Gibson alleges the jersey was torn from him by the woman in the struggle for life in the water, when she carried him to the bottom in a death grip.

DEATHS OF ARMY AVIATORS.

United States Second in Percentage of Fatal Accidents.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The United States has a larger percentage of accidental deaths among Government aviators than any other nation save Italy, according to statistics filed with the Chief Signal Officer of the army and made public to-day. In percentage of losses England takes third place among the powers of the world, with France fourth. It is pointed out, however, that an examination of the records of the United States in comparison with those of England, the only other nation from which exact data are available, shows that American aviators average almost twice the number of hours in the air and miles covered per aviator.

"There is one thing which an examination of the statistics presents," says a statement from the Chief Signal Officer, "and that is the greater percentage of casualties occurs in the first few flying months, after which there is a marked falling off. This fact alone gives France a great relative advantage, since her officers have been under training for periods that average much longer than our own. Due to the exigencies of the service, very few of our officers have been available for long periods of training in aviation.

"When it is considered that the United States has been able to furnish so few of her officers for this service, and that such modest equipment has been provided, the records of aviation in our service are causes for congratulation rather than commiseration. Unfortunately, casualties are given much more prominent places in our publications than the praiseworthy achievements."

WAR WITH AMERICA WOULD RUIN JAPAN

English Writer Says the Tokio Government Won't Force a Conflict.

WHITE RACES AGAINST HER

While We Would Soon Eject Her from the Pacific if She Took Hawaii and the Philippines.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Monday, May 26.—Lovat Fraser, an authority on Eastern affairs, contributes an article to The Daily Mail in which he declares emphatically that Japan will not fight over the treatment of Japanese in California.

"A conflict between Japan and the United States at this juncture," he says, "would mean ruin to Japan, who could not run the risk of invading the Pacific slope, because she would soon be ejected. She might take Hawaii and the Philippines, but how long could she hold them? The United States would press forward the completion of the Panama Canal, spend its vast resources in building an invincible armada of dreadnoughts, and devote all its incomparable energies to winning back its lost possessions.

"The ultimate outcome of the struggle would never be in doubt, as far as the near future is concerned, for Japan could get no more ships and no more money. A temporary success would be of no avail in such a mighty conflict. Japan fought herself to a standstill in her war with Russia, and had the fighting continued a few months longer the result might have been reversed.

"She knows full well that the United States would never accept a transient defeat. She is equally well aware that the Western world would not give her more ships and money to prosecute a war based upon such an issue as the Californian Land bill.

"It would be a war deliberately fought to challenge the world supremacy of the white races, and in such a cause the white races would instantly unite. They would not all fight, but would not help Japan.

"The welfare of America means more to the white races than the welfare of Asia. We may take it for granted then that the present differences between Japan and the United States of America will in some way or other be composed."

FERRYBOATS IN COLLISION.

Bouwery Bay and Steinway Meet in East River—Little Harm Done.

The left paddle wheel of the ferryboat Bouwery Bay, running between Ninety-second Street and Astoria, Long Island, was splintered last night in a collision in mid-channel in the East River with the ferryboat Steinway, in the same service.

Three hundred passengers were on the Steinway, which was going from New York to Astoria, but they remained undisturbed. Slight damage was done to the boat, the ripping off of the rail on the men's quarter deck being the most harm done. Although she was able to make her way to New York, the Bouwery Bay was put out of commission as soon as she reached her slip.

STERLING

THE GORHAM CO.

Silversmiths

Just about now the calendar says: "Get ready to buy something for the bride."

June is close by. June means brides, brides mean presents and presents mean perplexity.

In the first place, you are busy. Then, doubtless, you have only a sketchy idea of what you'd like to send. You only know you want something of first quality and suggestive of personal thought and taste. The more discriminating you are, the more you are at sea.

The Gorham Company will save you all this perplexity. Its 82 years' experience as silversmiths fixes its reputation for quality. Its brilliant staff of designers assures originality and variety. And it has a staff of experts in the store who are men of taste and experience. Their mission is to save you time and worry. They are right up to the minute in all that pertains to silvercraft and present giving. They get your idea in few words, and are able to suggest just the kind of article you want, fitting your purse as well as your needs.

It is the principle of efficiency applied to gift buying. You have the help of a specialist in making your selection. You have his taste and knowledge to supplement yours.

No branch of the Gorham business has been given more careful study. That is, because wedding gift selling is so large an item in the Gorham business.

Quality is the first requirement in a wedding gift; after that, appropriateness. Numberless garrets are filled with badly selected presents. A haphazard choice of fine quality is bad—an inappropriate gift of inferior quality is inexcusable.

To undertake to describe individual articles would be like attempting to particularize each blossom in a flower garden. The range and variety are without end. The articles are in gold, in silver, in bronze.

For practical use, you can hardly excel the chest of silver as a present for the bride. Especially is it appropriate from the family or close friends. You can easily choose a gift more magnificent, but none that will be more prized in the long run. It serves as a center around which the table service grows. The Gorham supply of silver chests is complete. You can get them in almost endless variety, sizes, shapes and arrangements and at almost all prices. The chests are made in mahogany and oak—you can take your choice. And each one is made by a first-class cabinet maker.

What sort of a present would this chest make for a bride?

12 Tea Spoons, 12 Dessert Spoons, 6 Table Spoons, 12 Table Forks, 12 Dessert Forks, 12 Dessert Knives, 12 Medium Knives, 5-piece Carving Set, 12 Soup Spoons, 12 Coffee Spoons, 12 Oyster Forks, 12 Butter Spreaders. Making 131 pieces in the Norfolk design for $227.00.

That is only one. The prices of others range from $32 for the chest containing 20 pieces, all the way to $2,665 for the one containing 801 pieces.

I merely mention these in passing. You may want to give something different, say, for instance, a fruit bowl, a pair of candlesticks, a water pitcher, a vase, or, maybe, a tea or coffe service.

In the way of a tea service you can't improve on the 5-piece Plymouth design at the price—$105. A present like that would make any bride happy.

FIGHT TO DROP COINS IN ROSALSKY'S HAT

Crowd at Cornerstone Laying Fills It with Cash for Kindergarten Nursery.

GIRL COLLECTORS WERE SHY

So Judge and Justice Snitkin Took Their Places, and Police Had to Rescue Them from Crush.

Judge Otto A. Rosalsky of the Court of General Sessions caused something like a riot yesterday afternoon at the cornerstone laying of the new Hebrew Kindergarten and Nursery at 37 Montgomery Street, when he stepped down from the grandstand where he had been making an appeal for funds and passed out among the crowd holding out his new silk hat for donations. About 3,000 people were gathered about the stand and they overwhelmed the Judge in their struggles to reach him with their contributions.

For the past five years the Kindergarten and Nursery has been conducted in a small way at 29 Montgomery Street. Recently the number of children left in its care has been greater than could be accommodated, and it was decided to erect a new modern three-story building. Yesterday the cornerstone of the new building was laid, and a great crowd of east side people attended.

Before the stone was laid Judge Rosalsky made an appeal for funds. A number of little girls dressed in white with red sashes stood at the foot of the stand and he announced they would take up the collection. When the Judge finished he waited for the girls to start collecting, but they were shy and the audience apathetic, and very little money was being raised.

Then Judge Rosalsky decided to take a hand himself, and leaving the stand he went into the crowd. He had to use his silk hat, and as he walked about money fell into it from all sides. Soon the hat was filled with coins of small denominations. Some one handed an empty cigar box to him, and placing that on top of the hat he continued his appeal. The crowd surged about, and people literally fought to reach the Judge with donations. From the windows of tenement houses in the neighborhood coins wrapped in paper were thrown.

Justice Leonard A. Snitkin of the Municipal Court joined Judge Rosalsky, and together the two went through the crowd until the people became excited at the spectacle, and the two Judges were finally forced to call on the police for assistance. Lieut. Sander and three policemen from the Madison Street Station fought their way through the press and escorted the jurists back to the stand.

When the money was counted it was found Judge Rosalsky had collected $201. Justice Snitkin collected $75. Other persons in the crowd then made liberal donations. Joseph Marcus, President of the People's Bank, gave $500, and in addition paid $700 for the privilege of laying the cornerstone.

Children from the Hebrew Orphan Asylum took a prominent part in the services. The boys' band of the asylum played patriotic airs and a class of little girls sang. The building will be finished by Sept. 15. It is to be constructed of brick and marble, and the interior will be fitted up to accommodate 300 children. The architects are Sommerfeld & Steckler of 38 Union Square West.

FOR JEWISH PROTECTORY.

Appeal for Funds to Meet the Last Year's Expenses.

An appeal for funds is made in behalf of the Jewish Protectory and Aid Society at Hawthorne, N. Y., which was established to deal with young delinquents, male and female, and to effect their reformation. The Hawthorne School, where the work is carried on, was built at a cost of $600,000 and has accommodations for 340 boys committed by the Children's Court.

Last year the expenses of the society amounted to $97,225, the income being $13,000 less, and the assistance of the benevolent is asked for so that the problem of youthful criminality can be successfully dealt with. Mortimer L. Schiff is President of the society; Henry Salomon and Jesse I. Straus, Vice Presidents; the Treasurer is Sam A. Lewisohn, and Samuel B. Hamburger is Chairman of the Executive Committee. The Secretary is Joseph C. Lilienthal, to whom remittances may be made at Hawthorne.

Plans for Advertising Convention.

Plans for the Baltimore Convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, from June 8 to June 15, are practically completed. The convention will be held in the armory of the Fifth Regiment, where President Woodrow Wilson was nominated. Cardinal Gibbons will offer the opening prayer. There will be addresses by Gov. Goldsborough of Maryland and the Mayor of Baltimore, James H. Preston.

What An Insurance Broker Must Be

Of the eight thousand brokers in New York, perhaps one hundred could pass an examination upon the important principals which affect the cost and validity of fire insurance on buildings, factories and mercantile stocks. You want the lowest rates, the strongest companies, prompt and fair settlement of losses. To secure them your broker must be an expert.

He must understand the rate-making schedule applied to your risk.

He must have a practical knowledge of building construction.

He must be posted on the hazards affecting rates.

He must be familiar with every phase of the Standard Insurance Policy.

He must know insurance law.

Would you employ a poor lawyer, a "quack" physician or buy real estate without having the title searched?

Why accept fire insurance without satisfying yourself that the policies are the best obtainable and the rates the lowest. Our thirty years experience, our standing with the best companies, and our large clientele, is the evidence we offer of our ability to furnish service of the highest quality. It will pay you to consult with us, and to have us investigate your risk. We have saved money for others. Why not for you?

PROTECTORY JUBILEE PLANS

Noted Men to Attend Celebration at Catholic Institution for Boys.

At the suggestion of Cardinal Farley, the pastors of all the churches of this Archdiocese and of many in Brooklyn, Long Island, and New Jersey, announced yesterday the golden jubilee celebration of the New York Catholic Protectory, which will begin next Friday. It will be the largest outdoor festival held here in recent years under Catholic auspices. All the arrangements for the celebration were completed on Saturday, and decorators will begin to-day the work of bedecking the buildings at Van Nest, and carpenters will build a temporary altar in the ball ground, where a military mass will be sung in the presence of Cardinal Farley. The Very Rev. Dr. John P. Chidwick will preach at the service on Friday morning, and in the afternoon, Justice Dowling of the Supreme Court, Judge Julius Mayer, and Judge Robert J. Wilkin will speak. Mayor Gaynor will attend the ceremonies in the afternoon.

One of the recent experiments undertaken by the Protectory, which has proved successful, is the Lincoln School of Agriculture, built on a farm of 600 acres, forty miles outside of the city. This school is in charge of Brother Barnabas, an authority on agriculture. Here more than 200 boys are being taught the practical and scientific side of farm life. The success of the experiment is already universally admitted. Heads of colleges and universities have told Brother Barnabas that he has solved, at least in the State of New York, the question of farm help. The State watched the experiment, and before it was well under way had spent $200,000 in the equipment of its College of Agriculture at Cornell. Dean Bailey became a frequent visitor to Pocantico Hills, and in due time the Brothers' School was made a demonstration station. The boys have the advantage of special lectures by experts at the State College.

The Protectory was founded in 1862 and incorporated the next year. Dr. Silliman Ives, a convert who had been the Protestant Episcopal Bishop of North Carolina, was the first President. A distinguished successor of Dr. Ives was Henry L. Hoguet. Mr. Hoguet was born in Ireland of French ancestry. For twenty-five years he had been President of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank. Up to the time of his death in 1890 he was actively associated with the management of the Protectory. His grandson, Robert Louis Hoguet, is associated with the Right Rev. Mgr. Joseph F. Mooney, Vicar General, and George B. Robinson, a former President of the institution, in the arrangements for the golden jubilee celebration.

Cabaret-Burlesque for Suffrage.

The Woman's Political Union will hold a cabaret-burlesque from 4 to 6 o'clock to-morrow afternoon at the studio of Miss Mabel Poillon, daughter of Mrs. Cornelius Poillon, at 125 East Seventieth Street. Miss Ruth St. Denis will give her first dance for the benefit of the cause, Arthur Row will appear in imitations of Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, and Louis Wallace Armstrong will sing. Tea will be served by Miss Alice Einstein, Miss Doris Andrews, and Miss Christie Fosdick.

B'RITH ABRAHAM SHOWS BIG GAINS

25,000 New Members for Year Brings the Order's Strength Up to 181,000.

JAWOROWER TO JAIL TO-DAY

Ticket Against Grand Master Sanders Nominated at Convention in Tammany Hall.

Grand Master Leon Sanders of the Independent Order B'rith Abraham devoted most of his yearly report at the twenty-seventh annual convention of the order, which opened yesterday in Tammany Hall, to the defalcation of its former counsel, Albert B. Jaworower, of more than $15,000. He has been sentenced to serve from two to three years in Sing Sing Prison, where he will be taken by the Sheriff to-day. The funds of the order amount to nearly $1,000,000, so that the loss will not seriously affect its finances.

The Grand Master charged that some members in the order were trying to use the Jaworower incident as a means to advance themselves to high honors in the order by accusing the Grand Master of negligence.

"I deem it," he said, "my duty to say that at no time during my term of office have I ever received a complaint against Jaworower, and any statement to the contrary is absolutely false and made purely for political purposes, and intended only to injure me personally and to rob me of the love and respect of my people, to earn which I have given the best that was in me during my entire term as Grand Master. It was I who caused the arrest and punishment of Jaworower."

While all the old officers were renominated, the Jaworower affair resulted in the placing of an opposition ticket in the field. Morris Rosenberg of Brooklyn was nominated to run against Justice Sanders and Gustave Hartman against the present First Deputy Grand Master, J. M. Steinberg. Solomon Schelenski of Manhattan will be the opposing candidate for Grand Secretary against Jacob Schoen. There was no opposition to the other officers, including the Assistant Grand Secretary, M. L. Hollander. The election will take place to-morrow.

During the year the order has increased 25,000 in membership, with a total of 181,000 members. There are 1,190 delegates, representing 684 lodges from the Atlantic to the Pacific Coast. While the membership is limited to those of the Jewish faith, the order contributes annually to Catholic and Protestant hospitals and charitable institutions. It also maintains a sanitarium in Denver, and paid death benefits of $540,000 during the year.

It is proposed to establish a large reserve fund by obtaining an extra contribution of $1 a year from every member for the next ten years. The average assessment heretofore to each member was $3.60.

Cut Telephone Rates on June 1.

The New York Telephone Company has notified the Public Service Commission of the Second District that it will obey the order of the commission made on May 22, 1913, reducing the toll rate to Zone 1, Manhattan, from 10 to 5 cents from Bay Ridge, Bath Beach, Midwood, Coney Island, and Canarsie. The toll rate between these localities and Upper Manhattan and the Bronx, including Melrose and Tremont, is also reduced from 15 to 10 cents. The new rates will become effective after June 1.

Waltham Watches for Americans

On the broad basis of instrumental excellence and accurate performance, Waltham Watches have nothing to fear by comparison with any in the world. And for American use they are particularly fit. ST. MARK'S FIGHTS FOR CHURCH NAME

Warns Bishops It Will Withdraw if Protestant Is Dropped from Episcopal Title.

URGES CATHOLICS TO QUIT

No Man Who Didn't Like Church's Name Was Obliged to Join It, Leavitt Says.

The congregation of St. Mark's Church in the Bowery, it was said yesterday, was taking steps to leave the Protestant Episcopal Church, with which it has been associated since its founding in 1799, in case the word "Protestant" is dropped from the name of the general church and the name "American Catholic" substituted. John Brooks Leavitt, senior Warden of St. Mark's and one of the best known of New York's Episcopal laymen, has addressed to the ninety and more Episcopal Bishops of the country a letter in which he tells them St. Mark's purpose, and to which he signs his name as their obedient servant "so long and only so long as you remain officers of the Protestant Episcopal Church." Mr. Leavitt is forming a Protestant League, which it is said will be the nucleus of a new movement should the name of the church be changed.

Mr. Leavitt goes further than the Rev. Dr. A. G. Cummins of Poughkeepsie in his formal invitation to the High Church party, who call themselves Catholics, and who he says intend to wreck the Episcopal Church if need be to obtain the elimination of the Protestant name and character and the adoption of the name "American Catholic." He says:

"No man who did not like the name Protestant Episcopal was obliged to come in, and any man who can stand it no longer is at liberty to go out. How much better would it be if the Catholics among us were content to enjoy their right of private judgment, which we Protestants are glad to accord them, and give up their attempt to control our right of the same, which be assured this generation will never surrender. It is much to be deplored that the Catholics in our church are determined to force the issue."

The Senior Warden of St. Mark's, who is also a leading member of the New York Diocesan Convention, tells Episcopal Bishops that they endangered the position of Episcopal laymen in Canon 40, making the Episcopal Church to be governed by men rather than by laws. He tells them that one of the first things they ought to do in this city next October, when they meet here, is to restore the Episcopal Church to its ancient and proper form of government. He affirms that the words "Protestant Episcopal" were secretly taken out of the canons in successive conventions held in late years, and that the change of name is now the culminating act. He argues that legally the General Convention cannot change the name, and claims that the word "Catholic" has been for sixteen hundred years not in the popular mind universal, but the name of a sect, quite as distinctively so as the word "Presbyterian." He concludes:

"One would think that the flippant suggestion that affirmation of a belief in the Holy Catholic Church, as in the Apostles' Creed, amounts to a statement that the affirmant is a Holy Catholic would be credited with a smile rather than serious argument. We affirm a belief in the resurrection of the dead. We do not thereby mean to say that we are dead!"

It appears from the letter of Mr. Leavitt to the Bishops that officials of Episcopal dioceses are making their official returns to the Church at large on blanks from which the words "Protestant Episcopal" have been stricken, and that some of these officials have inserted the words, "American Catholic Church." It is found that High Church clergymen are using in their letters and printed matter the name "American Catholic," as if the change had already been made.

ALEXANDER MISSION CLOSES

No Field Left for Branch of Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church.

With the service held in the old Alexander Mission, at 7 and 9 King Street, last night, the work of the mission, which was incorporated on Dec. 6, 1872, was discontinued by the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church. The mission was established as a benevolent, educational, religious, and Sunday School institution, and its work of nearly forty-one years was recalled last night by some of the original members of the congregation. The mission's field has been destroyed by the change in the population of the neighborhood, and by the removal of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church from its old site at Nineteenth Street and Fifth Avenue.

The final service last night was in the nature of a testimonial meeting. The Rev. Hugh Pritchard, in charge of the work for the last thirty-three years, called on many of the men who had been associated with him in the work there, and each spoke with regret of the necessity for discontinuing the mission. One of the first to speak was W. A. Ferguson, who said that he had put the first pews in the chapel.

DEDICATE ST. AGNES CHURCH

Cardinal Gibbons Attends Service in Old Friend's Parish.

The members of the congregation of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Agnes, at Hoyt and Sackett Streets, Brooklyn, celebrated the dedication of their new church yesterday, and turned out in large numbers to greet Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore, who assisted at the dedication ceremonies. Streets in the vicinity of the church were decorated with flags of the Nation and the papal colors.

Cardinal Gibbons celebrated pontifical mass after the church had been dedicated by Bishop McDonnell of Brooklyn. Bishop Dennis J. O'Connell of Richmond, Va., who accompanied the Cardinal from Baltimore to this city, preached the sermon. Mgr. James S. Duffy, pastor of the church, is a lifelong friend of the Cardinal.

The new Church of St. Agnes takes the place of an old edifice which was almost destroyed by fire in the Summer of 1901 when it was struck by lightning.

CARING FOR THE BABIES.

New York Diet Kitchen Needs Funds for Its Summer Work.

Plans to safeguard the lives of 1,417 babies, now under the care of the New York Diet Kitchen Association of 1 West Thirty-fourth Street, and of as many more as may be brought to it this Summer, were announced yesterday by Miss M. L. Daniels, Superintendent of the organization.

Conferences are to be held by skilled physicians three times a week at all the eight stations of the association to instruct mothers in the care of their infants. Certified milk is to be dispensed below cost to mothers and as cheaply as they can buy ordinary milk at grocery stores. Nurses will be sent to the homes of mothers to see that instructions given at the conferences at the stations are carried out, and there will be much prenatal work to improve the health of mothers before their babies are born.

The Summer work of the association will last from June 1 to Oct. 1, during which period babies under 2 years of age are most susceptible to diseases that quickly, especially in the close air of tenements, snuff out their lives.

Miss Daniels said there was an urgent need of increasing the present staff of five nurses which must cover the eight stations of the association, and that $10,000 was needed to insure the success of the work during the Summer. Voluntary contributions may be sent to Mrs. Joseph H. Tilton, Treasurer, 1 West Thirty-fourth Street.

Anti-Suffrage Meeting Downtown.

The New York State Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage will hold a meeting at noon to-day at their downtown annex, at 39 Broadway. Everett P. Wheeler will preside and introduce the speakers, among whom will be Miss Lucy J. Price and Miss Rowe. These two young women are among the ablest of the anti-suffrage orators, and went through all the Michigan fight which the suffragists lost by 100,000. A group of Columbia students is expected to be on hand.

PROTESTANTS DENY A CATHOLIC TREND

Leaders Hunt Up the Data on the Recent Conversions to Their Churches.

SAY UNREST IS IN BOTH

But That Rather More Come from Catholic Church to Them Than Go the Other Way.

The statement of the English Dominican, the Very Rev. Vincent McNabb, that the tide from Protestantism to Catholicism had set in led some Protestant church leaders yesterday to give out some data from the records of their churches to show the other side of the situation. These leaders say they were led to look up their records anew by the announcement that Paul Patton, a son of the Rev. Dr. Francis L. Patton of Princeton, had entered the Roman Catholic Church.

The University Place Presbyterian Church—the Rev. Dr. George Alexander, pastor—has in its active membership 130 persons who came into that church from Roman Catholic churches.

The West End Presbyterian Church, Amsterdam Avenue at 105th Street, contains many, and the pastor, the Rev. Dr. A. E. Keigwin, says he constantly receives Roman Catholics, and has done so in all pastorates held by him.

"Every churchman recognizes that not only theology but the Christian life and church membership are in a state of flux in these days," said the pastor. "There is a passing from church to church as never before in history. This is true of the ministry as well as the laity. I do not think that these facts argue that any particular church is attaining the ascendency."

The First Presbyterian Church of Newark, the Rev. Dr. W. J. Dawson, pastor, has 150 former Roman Catholics in its membership.

Calvary Baptist Church, Fifty-seventh Street, near Seventh Avenue, whose pastor for forty years was the Rev. Dr. Robert S. MacArthur, has upward of 200 former Catholics in its membership. Of these 122 are Spaniards.

The Madison Avenue Baptist Church, at Thirty-first Street, has Catholics in attendance regularly, but none has actually taken up membership. The pastor, the Dev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, said that he had had Catholics in former pastorates.

In John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s, Bible class in the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church there are many Catholics. Whenever Mr. Rockefeller leads the class they are present in force. Asked why they came, they replied because their church provided nothing of the kind. Asked further if they intended to quit their church, they replied that they did not.

The Rev. J. Howard Melish, Holy Trinity Church, Brooklyn, said he had in Holy Trinity membership a former Roman Catholic priest and a former Deacon.

St. Thomas's Church, Bushwick Avenue, Brooklyn, has 100.

Bishop Greer was asked by other Episcopal clergy to make a statement, but said he preferred not to do so, beyond saying he felt sure changes were quite as numerous in one direction as in the other. Asked if Roman Catholic priests came to him to be admitted to the Episcopal Church, he said he wished to make no statement, but added that it was public information that the rector of a large Episcopal church, one of the largest in membership in this city, was until lately a Paulist priest. Other Episcopal clergy are known to have urged the Bishop to go further into details, but he declined, saying he disliked even the appearance of controversy.

A letter was produced by New York leaders from the Rev. Dr. W. H. Van Allen of Boston. He is a High Church Episcopalian leader. He says there are constant receptions of Catholics into membership in the Advent Church, and adds:

"Since the publication of the 'Ne Temere' decree I have an increasingly large number of Roman Catholics seeking marriage at my hands."

FELL DEAD WHILE BOWLING.

J. W. Hasemeyer of Manhattan Collapsed on Woodland Hotel Alley.

Just as he raised his body from a crouching position assumed in sending a ball down a bowling alley in the Woodland Lake Hotel, near Yonkers, N. Y., yesterday afternoon, John W. Hasemeyer, 63 years old, a retired hotel keeper of Manhattan, uttered a cry of pain and sank to the floor dead from heart disease. Coroner Iles, after an examination, consented to the removal of the body to this city.

Hasemeyer and several companions, all members of the Hagner Society, went to Yonkers yesterday as guests of the Teutonia Society. Late in the afternoon they made the trip to the Woodland Hotel to take part in the bowling in progress on the hotel alleys. Hasemeyer lived at 376 Bleecker Street.

STOWAWAYS ON TWO SHIPS.

St. Paul Brings Two from Southampton, Lorraine One from Havre.

The American liner St. Paul arrived from Southampton yesterday in company with the French liner Lorraine from Havre, and the Captains of both steamships reported at Quarantine that they had stowaways on board.

Robert Howarth, 28 years old, a laborer, and William Hobson, 34 years old, a type molder, were discovered on the St. Paul on Sunday night and were put to cleaning brasswork for the voyage. The stowaway on the French liner was Yves Loghic, 30 years old, a stoker, who was kept employed trimming coal.

All three were sent to Ellis Island yesterday with the immigrants, and will be returned on the same vessels.

The Woman in the Home

keenly alive to the comforts of her family, appreciates

SUBURBAN NEW YORK

Gentlemen:

We wanted to get a Suburban Home, but not being acquainted with the surroundings of New York, we were in a quandary which way to go. However, as I read The Globe every evening, I noticed your advertisement about SUBURBAN NEW YORK "That's just what we're needing!" I exclaimed, so the next day my husband brought me the book.

I was more than delighted with it, for not only did it describe the various home locations, but it gave so much information about decorations, furniture, cooking, etc., that especially appeal to the housewife that I consider it a perfect "mine of information."

I heartily congratulate you on this addition to the library of the home.

FROM BAD TO WORSE.

Why should the Democratic tariff reformers in Congress, while reducing duties, make their collection more vexatious, burdensome, and costly, so that the obstruction to legitimate foreign trade is greater than under the present law? Incredible as it may seem, that is what is done in the administrative sections of the Tariff bill now before the Senate. It should be undone, no matter what delay may be caused; for that matter, no great delay need follow. The process is relatively easy. The sub-committee of which Senator WILLIAMS is Chairman has before it suggestions carefully prepared by the Merchants' Association of New York and the Reform Club that would remedy the worst errors made by the House.

We think we can understand the way in which some of these errors have got by Mr. UNDERWOOD's committee. There have been a good deal of trickery and some fraud in the importing business. The committee in its desire to prevent this, and perhaps in its zeal to show impartiality as between importers and home manufacturers, has accepted many of the recommendations of the Curtis Commission appointed under the Taft Administration, some of which were sound and some of them cast in the old, bad spirit of obstruction and hostility toward all importing. Some of the latter have been pointed out to the committee by Mr. W. J. GIBSON, and his statement of them was reported in part in THE SUNDAY TIMES. They are almost inconceivably harsh and oppressive. Take two of them as examples. Duties are required to be levied on the foreign market value. If there is a question as to whether such market value exists—and it often arises—it is to be decided by the Secretary of the Treasury acting on the reports of special agents abroad. If he decides in the negative, duties are levied on the value in the American market, which is usually much higher. The fair method would be to assess duties on cost, honestly stated. Another instance is the provision that errors in invoices, no matter how honest, cannot be corrected after either the invoices or the goods have come under the observation of the appraiser.

The avowed purpose of the Underwood Committee is to make a tariff law that will permit fair importing competition. Such provisions as these tend in a most unfair fashion to destroy competition and to enhance the privileges of manufacturers at the expense of the consumer.

POPULARIZING CITY BONDS.

Controller PRENDERGAST has had such success in enlarging the number of those taking city bonds that there is encouragement for him to persist in that direction. The points where the system of sales to direct consumers is weak are obvious and easily removed. First, there is no system of practical safe deposit for owners of small amounts; and, secondly, there is no easy and simple way for those unaccustomed to business to collect their interest. Why should not the city make these matters easy for the little buyers, whose aggregate is a great financial force, almost the greatest? Why should not the city undertake the safekeeping of bonds for buyers? And why should not the city urge the taking of registered bonds and make the collection of interest as easy and simple as the cashing of a check, or even pay it over the counter to those calling for it? This would obviate the difficulty with coupon bonds and coupons, which are too much like cash to be attractive to those without safe deposit facilities and business experience or banking connection.

A similar process of popularization of the city's short-time obligations would be attractive to taxpayers. Now they pay their savings into banks in anticipation of tax day and sacrifice their interest, because the tax and interest periods are not arranged in relation to each other. If the taxpayers could use their savings in purchase of the city's short-time obligations receivable for taxes, the Controller would enlarge his already considerable accomplishments in this direction. There are hundreds of bond buyers, but there are thousands of taxpayers, and through them the bond-buying habit could be best taught by easy lessons in the purchase of tax warrants receivable for taxes, with interest allowance, for which the system of tax payments provides a familiar precedent.

ACTORS AND SOCIAL DUTY.

The ironical public rejoicing about the almost simultaneous marriage to their fifth wives of two esteemed humorists of the American theatrical stage may well be made the occasion of a few words of sympathy on behalf of that reasonably well-founded and still thriving institution. Public attention is frequently attracted to the matrimonial misadventures of members of a calling of which the worst that can be said was said years ago by one of its most renowned followers, that it gives too much freedom of action to women and tends to make men unduly vain. FANNY KEMBLE's arraignment of the actor's calling must stand, but in spite of it we can fairly say that in no other body of men and women devoted to a single pursuit are there women and men of more serious purpose, more devoted to the cause they serve, more decent in their lives, more observant of the proprieties.

The "stage" in this hour is a greatly diversified institution, and among its followers there are many thousands who have no possible claim to histrionic distinction. But that cannot be said of the much-married comedians, who are assuredly among our foremost histrions, and who might both have filled more distinguished places, if not in fleeting popular esteem yet in the permanent theatrical records, if they had been willing to view their duties more seriously and to recognize their social responsibilities.

The number of times each may eventually be married will be accounted of small moment by theatrical historians; but in the ill-natured ridicule their fellow-players must suffer because their domestic eccentricities will inevitably be charged to the account of a long-suffering profession they may, if they choose, find matter for reflection. There might be a lesson in this for some of the younger actors of this era when the stage is asserting itself as an engine of reform in the social uplift. When all the actors recognize that they may remove all the old reproach from their calling by clearly recognizing their social responsibilities, the theatre will have entered on a new chapter of its history.

THE LESSON OF STILWELL.

Ex-Senator STILWELL's consignment to a felon's cell ought to go far toward breaking down the hateful caste of which he has been an active member—the caste which claims and uses the privilege of getting and employing office for private gain. That he is an unusually shameless and disgusting specimen of his kind made his exposure and punishment easier and should make the effect greater. Every sensible citizen must ask himself how a man of this stamp could reach the Senate and a relatively high place in the Senate, and could traffic in his power as a legislator not only safely, but, for a long time, with the tacit or actual support of enough legislators of his own kidney to attain practical success.

The first answer to such a question naturally would be that roughly he is a fair representative of that part of his constituency which really controls elections. So he is, but certainly not at all of the general body of the party in the Bronx that voted for him. He stands for the politicians' trades union, and for that alone. It is to the disbandment and disarming of that class that rational citizens should now turn their attention. What is the secret of its steadily maintained strength, its subtle, persuasive, persistent influence? It is in the fact that our present scheme of administration—with its numerous elections, its multitudinous elective officers, its division and scatteration of responsibility, its inevitable distraction of the public mind—makes constant opportunity for a body of professional politicians. It not only makes opportunity for these with easy and ample ill-gotten gains, but it compels honest men who wish decent government to become themselves, as nearly as they can, professional politicians, to give much time and labor and money to fighting the mercenaries, and always at great disadvantage.

Undoubtedly it is a good thing to catch one of the worst of unclean professionals and put him behind prison bars. But the good will be fleeting unless we can get at the system that makes a field for such rascals. Some of our friends think that this can be done by direct primaries. Others suggest the initiative, the referendum, and the recall. None of these, in our judgment, will do. They all simply load the voters with more difficult tasks and in no serious degree improve the means for the performance of the added tasks. They scatter responsibility still further and make harder any actual accomplishment. So far from destroying the field for professional politicians, they make the field wider and likely to be more fertile. So far from making easier the work of honest men seeking decent government, they make it harder, more tedious, complicated, vexatious, and uncertain.

The radical and practical remedy is the "short ballot," that is to say fewer and more important elective offices, fewer and more important elections. We shall be told that we cannot very well have less than one Senator chosen from one district, as STILWELL was. That is beside the point. When STILWELL was elected every voter had to cast a ballot for a great number of offices, and it is in the manipulation of these that the professionals find their chance to befuddle and mislead the voters. We must have an election where real selection is possible, where the voters pass on certain definite and conclusive points to which it will pay them to give close attention. We must make the ballot an effective instrument and make it worth the while of the voter to use it. Anything short of that will but make matters worse.

NEEDS OF THE ARMY.

Secretary GARRISON in his speech at the banquet given in his honor by the bench of New Jersey Saturday night said that if our present active military force, apart from the troops detailed for coast defense, was equally distributed among the 157 army posts there would be 222 soldiers at each post. Every American citizen knows, or ought to know, that many of these army posts are kept up needlessly for various political reasons. Secretary GARRISON is as strongly in favor of abolishing the useless posts as his predecessor was.

The Secretary has great faith in the efficiency of the army, in the high quality of its officers and men, and he needs it all if he is to pursue his arduous labors cheerfully and reach any good results. He has undertaken a big job to look after the army, the Panama Canal, the river and harbor improvements all over the country, and the Government of the Philippine Islands. Probably the problem of how to keep 90,000 men and 5,000 officers, scattered all over this country and its island possessions, in such a state of efficiency as to get from them prompt and good service in an emergency is the one that troubles him most. The concentration of troops on the Mexican border has been an excellent thing for the army. Many defects in the system have been discovered and corrected, and the men have had excellent training. Training as good could only be obtained for the whole mobile continental force by concentrating the soldiers at a few well-chosen posts. This obvious fact has been urged in Congress many times and to no avail. Abolition of useless posts is made impossible through the exertion of political influences. As long as the people permit the politicians to meddle with their army there is no chance of getting it on a firm foundation.

THE DEATH OF M'CARTY.

No valuable moral lesson can be drawn from the death of LUTHER MCCARTY in the prize ring at Calgary. The facts that he was killed by a blow near his heart and that he was the fifty-seventh fighter to die in a fight within ten years will not deter a single aspirant for pugilistic honors from pursuing his chosen vocation. For the fifty-seven fighters who have been killed there were an equal number of opponents who were, doubtless, hit as hard and as frequently, but survived in good health and spirits. The average of nearly six fatal encounters a year is rather high, to be sure, considering the obvious lack of danger in most prizefights, but as it proves that danger is still associated with a calling the glory of which has been sadly dimmed since its palmy days, the sincere votaries of this kind of sport ought to be encouraged by it. The record of prizefighting casualties is still far behind the record of fatalities in aviation; while men have been killed on the polo field and the baseball diamond, and modern football has its tragic side.

Few prizefighters who gain renown have hardened arteries or aneurisms, or are ever affected by the atmospheric conditions in high altitudes. The hard knocks which bruise their bodies and disfigure their faces, and sometimes break their ribs, rarely disable them permanently, but if they have broken noses and scars they regard them as badges of honor. They generally live as long as others, and frequently gather so much wisdom by the way that, in their declining years, they enjoy the repute of sages. MCCARTY's physical condition was obviously bad, or, in the old unscientific parlance, "his time had come." If prizefighting is a commendable pursuit, his was a glorious death. He surely enjoyed the esteem of his fellows, and there is no doubt that he possessed the requisites of the successful pugilist, courage, determination, endurance, a quick eye, agility, and self-control. Those are all admirable qualities. They can all be employed to better purpose than in proving, before an assemblage of "sports" and gamblers, that one is a better man, physically, than his opponent; but it is a matter of fact that they are all employed, frequently, in worse ways.

A BAD WATER-STORAGE BILL.

The State Conservation Commission has done nothing to boast of in getting through the Legislature and before the Governor its "capital district" hydroelectric bill and the Walters bill for the purpose of water storage, stream regulation, and supplying water for drinking, commercial, agricultural, municipal, or power purposes. We have shown repeatedly the wastefulness and inequity of the "capital district" plan, which would benefit chiefly the contractors of the Democratic machine. They would build water works for favored districts at the expense of the whole State, and would rely upon the taxing power to make up deficits. The Walters bill is as bad in its way.

It permits individuals approved by the Conservation Commission to condemn towns, villages, cities, roads, railroad properties, cemeteries, and homes, this power of condemnation being "paramount as against all except the State." The corporations thus empowered are described as "quasi-public," and to be operated "without profit to stockholders." But the bill provides that "the surplus income shall be * * * paid to the parties who shall have paid for benefits." That the use of the water and power generated shall be a public use depends on the fiat of the Conservation Commissioners; the determination of the Commission "shall be conclusive evidence" that the property required for the undertaking is required for a public use.

Since when has the Legislature assumed the power to say, and to delegate to a commission to say, what are public and what are private purposes for which private property is condemned? That is the function of the courts. The Commission might declare a private use to be public, and there would be no redress. This provision is plainly unconstitutional. But the other objections urged are sufficient to warrant the veto of the bill by Gov. SULZER.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Concerning Race Prejudices. Having failed to notice that recent remarks in this column on racial antagonisms were intended to state certain facts rather than to judge them, The Springfield Republican presents at unnecessary length—since nobody denies it—the contention that intelligent moderns, unlike their ancestors, realize the possibility that peoples unlike themselves may be equals and deserving of treatment as such.

Of course this is true, at least in the sense that nowadays nobody who is decently civilized says, or even thinks, as did the ancient Greeks, that all foreigners are barbarians and inferiors. Feelings or instincts, however, that contradict both words and thoughts, survive in us all, and probably none is more firmly planted in the human mind than that which makes the obviously alien, the essentially different, distasteful or obnoxious. To call this "prejudice" is one of those easy, off-hand and circular condemnations by definition against which logicians are always on their guard, and the giving of a bad name no more excuses the hanging of an emotion than of a dog.

The judicious are cautious about denouncing as wholly bad or harmful a "folkway" which humanity as a whole has followed through all the ages. Few things are more nearly sure than that proximity to, and close association with, people really and in important respects different from ourselves is not conducive to peace or comfort. To avoid it, especially when the incompatibility is irremediable and irremovable, is certainly the part of wisdom, and, as surely, neighbors with whom we cannot "get on" harmoniously are for us "inferior" to those with whom we have at least a chance of doing so.

The one effective cure for race prejudice, properly so called, is an open-minded study of alien neighbors. When this results, as it does often, though not always, in the discovery that the seeming differences of character and conduct are unimportant or impermanent—that under the surface the alien is very much like ourselves—that in like conditions his reactions are about the same as ours—then the old, perfectly comprehensible, and therefore perfectly defensible, racial antagonisms fade away.

The fact remains that each of two really "unassimilable" races is "inferior" to the other—from that other's point of view, which is the only one it is under any obligation to take.

Another Unsound Decision. Miss ETHEL WOOD, a Chicago girl with her full share of that strict and stern regard for the proprieties which is the world-widely famous characteristic of her city's population, caused the arrest, the other day, of ERNEST PLATH, a young man to her personally unknown, who had persistently smiled and nodded at her in a street car. When arraigned before Municipal Judge GEMMILL, ERNEST made no denial of the facts as stated in ETHEL's charge, but he vehemently protested his innocence and irresponsibility.

From childhood's more or less happy hour, he said, it had been his lamentable habit, the result of some peculiar and mysterious affliction, to go to sleep in street cars with his eyes open, and while in this condition to smile and nod in just the way his accuser described. He solemnly assured the Judge that he had not even known of ETHEL's existence until after she had awakened him by the expression of her cruelly unwarranted anger. Her mistake was natural, and he did not blame her for it, but, unconsciously paraphrasing an old French proverb, he said he did think that both she and the Magistrate, understanding all, should pardon all.

What Miss WOOD's emotions were on hearing this novel explanation of Mr. PLATH's frowardness is not recorded in the accounts at hand, but Judge GEMMILL pondered long, as well he might, before he spoke, for he must have realized that the prisoner's narrative, besides being ingenious, was practically irrefutable and possibly true. The situation was difficult. The Magistrate met it by saying, "Young man, that makes no difference. Next time stay awake. You must account for your actions asleep or not. $5."

That was simple, but was it justice and was it law? Grave doubts arise on both points. We do not ourselves recall any leading case determinative of somnambulistic responsibilities. We think, however, that courts and custom alike have held the subconscious ego immune from punishment for its acts. Every psychiatrist declares that ego to be not immoral but unmoral, incapable of distinguishing right from wrong, and with no appreciation of the enormity that lies in winking at a pretty girl. Respect for the judiciary prevents the declaration that the Judge made a serious mistake, but if uneasy suspicion that he did so does not keep him awake through many a long night it will be because he is quite ignorant of the new psychology.

Defending Starboard and Port. As was to be expected, the older officers in the navy are still growling as loudly as they dare against the departmental proposition to substitute "right" and "left" for "starboard" and "port" in the nautical vocabulary. They see no good in the change and many possible evils to arise from the misunderstanding of orders by men to whom the old terms are full of meanings which none others can have for many a year, if ever.

This may be merely expressive of the pain which always accompanies the acquisition of new habits, but there certainly is plausibility in the contention that "right" and "left," when spoken in a howling gale, can be more easily confounded than "starboard" and "port."

An argument which apparently has not been used in the official controversy is suggested to us by an ancient mariner who came from away over in Darker Jersey to do it. The would-be innovators, he said, forget that "right your helm" has long been used as a direction to the steersman so to adjust his wheel that the ship will continue on a new course just given her instead of making a further divergence from the old one. That, of course, is quite different from putting the helm to starboard, and yet the two orders would be alike in the reformed language.

Of all landsmen, automobilists will most easily understand the weight of this plea for letting well enough alone. They have to "right" their helms after every turning, and they do it as often by turning their wheel one way as the other.

SPRINKLING THE STREETS.

Commissioner Edwards Finds Work Hampered by Scanty Funds.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I note in THE TIMES a communication signed Samuel Friedman, which is in the nature of a complaint against the Department of Street Cleaning for not doing the sprinkling of the streets with its own plant, and in a proper manner. Mr. Friedman says: "With the advent of warm weather the question of street sprinkling looms up large again."

With this department it loomed large some time ago, that is when money was being asked for work of this kind. We do not believe that sprinkling is the effective method, but would rather use flushing and squeegee machines. However, our request for plants of either kind have either been denied by the Budget Committee of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment or an inadequate allowance has been made.

We are to-day using every available part of our plant for this purpose to the best advantage that such a small plant may be put. Because of the fact that we are not able to give better service in this regard, the private contract for sprinkling has grown to be a large industry, and persons who are in sections which are peculiarly dusty or where business is affected by the dust, such as the merchants in the textile trades and people who are doing business or residing in the vicinity of street car lines or where building operations are being carried on, have availed themselves of this method as a matter of personal comfort.

WILLIAM H. EDWARDS,
Commissioner of Street Cleaning.

FIRST WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS.

Mormons Would Be Proud to Bear That Distinction.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

An article in your Sunday supplement of some weeks back credits to the Mormon Church the origin of the votes-for-women idea in this country. The article, I observe, has been widely copied and commented upon.

As voicing, I think, a practically unanimous Mormon opinion, may I step forward to say that we are very glad to welcome this charge? We willingly admit its truth, if exact historical data can fortunately bear it out. Personally I believe the statement is accurate, and I am sure it is very desirably so on our part. Utah initiated woman's suffrage with her own Statehood. While Wyoming had before that permitted a few women to vote, it was only on school matters in an early Territorial day, and for that matter Utah had also been in that restricted field from early Territorial times.

Now we are not only—we of the Mormon Church—delighted at the results of our own attitude toward suffrage, but we ardently hope to see the idea spread down from our mountain country even to the Eastern, as it has already spread to the Western, sea.

Cheap Ice a Necessity.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Apropos of the ice situation, the letter published in THE TIMES, signed by Mr. Cole, does not tally altogether in its statements with my experience or with that of my friends. The price of ice has advanced to us, since a few months ago we were paying 10 cents for 25 pounds, whereas now we pay 10 cents for 15 pounds. But price aside, the argument that many people in New York do not need ice and have no place to keep it is only a half truth.

Mr. Cole argues from an extreme case, omitting any mention of the great middle class—mechanics, artisans, and office people—whose salaries are constant, though prices advance. These people are no longer able to bear additional expense. The limit has been reached. And if the municipal ice plant will provide ice at a moderate charge to this class of the community it will prove a blessing.

GOV. SULZER'S FIGHT

Is for a Defective Primary Bill, Senator Saxe Asserts.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Governor has proclaimed that he will compel the Legislature to enact this bill of his without the crossing of a "t" or the dotting of an "i," and he has repeatedly threatened to use his Executive power to coerce the members of the Legislature through fear and favor. Without commenting on this attitude, I wish to contend, as one who has fought in a real fight for direct primaries, that without far more radical amendment than that suggested by his Excellency his bill should be unhesitatingly defeated.

From the glittering generalities spoken of in favor of the bill, I assume that one might at least be expected to glean the thought that the Governor's bill is a primary bill. Yet it is not. It contains some amendments to the primary law, but it is, as by its title apears, "An act to amend the election law generally," and relates to almost every chapter of the election law, including definitions, enrollment, procedure for lost blanks, registration, canvass of votes, State committees, party council, boards of election, ballots at general elections, time of closing the polls at general elections, and so on. It contains no less than ninety-nine sections, printed on 170 pages, and at least one-half of its provisions are taken bodily from Senator Blauvelt's bill, which the Governor twice vetoed as a fraud and a makeshift, although the Blauvelt bill would reduce the cost of elections a million dollars a year.

It was Charles E. Hughes who wrote the committee designation into the Hinman-Greene Direct Primary bill. Under Gov. Hughes's system, which is now a part of our law, party committees themselves, previously elected at primaries, make designations for nomination of candidates. Then other party members (anti-machine members) are given five days in which to examine the committee, or machine, designations, and, if they please, make contesting designations by petition. Then the voters at primaries choose the party nominees from among the candidates so designated. Since the enactment of this five-day provision the claim has been repeatedly made that five days are not enough and that the interval between the filing of committee and contesting designations should be further extended so as to give the anti-machine petitioners a greater opportunity to examine the machine designations and to secure signatures for their contesting petitions. The Blauvelt bill met this demand and increased this period of opportunity from five days to ten days.

What does the Governor's bill do? It takes away from the anti-machine voter even the five days that he has to-day! All designations are to be by petition and all may be filed at the same moment. The machine prepares its petition in darkness and files it at the sixtieth minute of the last hour. The anti-machine voter has no opportunity whatever of knowing what the machine is going to do, and no opportunity of making any intelligent contest. Do I exaggerate when I urge that no provision could be more wicked?

The Governor's bill abolishes all emblems on the primary ballot. The provision may be constitutional—I am not prepared to say—but it clearly flies in the face of precedent and flagrantly violates the rights of the more uneducated people so dear to the Governor's heart. Every male citizen, literate or illiterate, has the right to vote in this State. As the Court of Appeals has recently declared, "Emblems are necessary at primaries the same as at regular elections so as to enable the voter to avoid mistakes and vote intelligently."

The Governor's bill, leaving far afield the subject of direct primaries, also repeals provisions of the existing law safeguarding independent nominations for general elections. Most voters remember the enormous ballots at general elections prior to 1911, as, for instance, the Gaynor-Bannard-Hearst ballot of 1909, which contained no less than nineteen columns, with Mayor Gaynor's name standing at the head of eight and Mr. Bannard's at the head of three. The reason for those long ballots was the presence thereon of indorsing or mushroom columns purporting to contain independent nominations, but merely repeating the names of candidates already nominated, and the reason for the presence of these mushroom columns was that it was the easiest thing in the world to manufacture fraudulent independent nominating certificates. Indeed, under the law as it stood in 1909, there was no reason why the Mayor's name should not have stood at the head of eighty columns and Mr. Bannard's at the head of seventy-nine. Since 1909 the Legislature cured that abuse by providing that signers of independent nominating certificates must be or become registered, and prohibiting any party man from signing an independent certificate which merely increases his own party candidates. He may bolt his ticket, but he can no longer sign indorsing certificates. The Court of Appeals has held that both provisions are reasonable and constitutional. The one it says, "doubtless tends to prevent fraud and to make more certain the good faith of the persons seeking to present to the voters independent candidates for office," and the other "tends to prevent a wrongful use of independent nominations."

The Governor's bill repeals both provisions, provides nothing in their place, and welcomes back the municipal election of 1913, an eighteen-foot ballot made up of four or five nominations and fifteen or twenty fraudulent mushroom columns, repeating the names in the other columns.

There are many other provisions of the bill which I believe to be most ill-advised, but possibly the examples which I have given will serve the purpose.

AN ADVANTAGE.

An aeroplane is a beautiful thing
When you wish to go up to a star;
It sails through the air like a bird on the wing
With never a jolt or a jar.

That is, if constructed securely the ship,
The air currents friendly and kind;
If nothing blows up and the thing does not tip
And tumble us over behind.

An automobile is a lovelier thing
When you wish to go somewhere on earth;
It hasn't a thing you could take for a wing
But it hustles for all it is worth.

An aeroplane beats an automobile
When you wish to go up to a star,
But in riding these days it is worth a good deal
If you don't have to tumble too far.

LURANA SHELDON.

LA FOLLETTE'S TARIFF FIGHT

Wisconsin Senator a Protectionist, with Eye on the White House.

Special to The New York Times.

MADISON, Wis., May 25.—That Senator La Follette is preparing to make a vigorous assault on the Underwood Tariff bill pending in the Senate is conceded generally by his political lieutenants in Wisconsin. It is reported here that he not only will attack the tariff sections of the bill, but also will prepare to show that the income tax as now framed does not comply with the true spirit of income taxation; that under the high exemption only a very few persons will be taxed, while over 99 per cent. will not be reached, and that therefore the law does not operate as fairly as the Wisconsin State income tax law, of which Senator La Follette practically is the author.

There are various reasons why he takes this position. In the first place Mr. La Follette still has Presidential ambitions, and does not intend to place himself in the position of having helped to carry out the Democratic platform. Although he favors downward revision, he still is enough of a protectionist to find plenty of objections to the Underwood bill.

His attitude in demanding public hearings on the bill shows that he and his followers in the Senate are going to put all sorts of obstacles in the way of its easy sailing. A further proof of his attitude is the fact that all the Wisconsin Congressmen who are in sympathy with La Follette here voted against the bill in the lower house.

It seems certain Mr. La Follette will have a great deal to say about the income tax feature of the bill, as he practically was the originator of income tax legislation in Wisconsin, whose laws are conceded to be the best income tax legislation in the country. Senator La Follette has a very decided opinion as to how an income tax law should be framed.

The Wisconsin law provides for a low exemption, single persons being exempted on incomes of less than $800 and married persons on less than $1,200. Inasmuch as the proposed Federal law provides that the exemption point shall be $4,000, Mr. La Follette understands that a very small part of the population of the United States would be affected by the Underwood bill.

According to Wisconsin figures, to be taken as a basis because of the actual operation of the tax law here, the income from this State under the Underwood tax law would be less than $200,000, and of the 900 persons with incomes above the $4,000 exemption figure about 20 per cent. would be cut off the list of the taxable, owing to personalty exemptions. If Wisconsin figures are true proportionately of the Nation, the figures Senator La Follette expects to use would show that the Underwood income tax would provide only $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 a year, instead of the $70,000,000 to $100,000,000 which the author of the bill thinks it would raise.

CONTRADICTS SHEARN.

Charles H. Duell Insists Gov. Sulzer Will Speak Here on May 28.

Charles H. Duell, Jr., Chairman of the Non-Partisan Direct Primary League, in commenting upon the statement of Clarence J. Shearn in yesterday's newspapers to the effect that the Sulzer meeting which is to be held at Carnegie Hall on May 28 had been commercialized by Duell's organization, said:

"The statement of Clarence J. Shearn's War Board to the effect that the Carnegie Hall mass meeting on Wednesday, May 28, at which Gov. Sulzer is to speak, has been commercialized by the Non-Partisan Direct Primary League through the sale of seats for this occasion is both misrepresentative and false; misrepresentative in its attempt to mislead the people and false in that it is not true in fact. On the contrary, the meeting is an absolutely free one. No seats have been or will be sold. Every man and woman is welcome.

"The pernicious influence which is secretly trying to harm the cause of direct primaries by a veiled attempt to distort the truth is thoroughly reprehensible. Any attempt to prove one such charge must necessarily fail.

"Mr. Shearn has gone further. He has dared to say to me that Gov. Sulzer will not speak at Carnegie Hall on next Wednesday, and that he, Shearn, would be able to prevent it. He doubtless forgets that the Governor has promised the people of this city to speak in Carnegie Hall in their behalf at that time. Shearn does not know Gov. Sulzer if he thinks that in the final analysis the Governor will go back on the people, and, at this stage of the campaign crisis, desert them. Gov. Sulzer has given his word to me and has also verbally verified a telegram authorized by himself to this same effect.

"Mr. Shearn is doubtless aware of this meeting. If, as he says, the Governor does not speak at Carnegie Hall on May 28, the meeting will be held just the same, and the people will be told why; or if, as has been suggested from another source, the Governor refrains from speechmaking in the city on that date, this meeting of the people in support of direct primaries will be held at Carnegie Hall just the same, and, in this contingency, the people again must be told why."

BARNES THINKS OF JUDGES.

Will Call Committee to Consider Nominations When Law Is Settled.

Announcement was made yesterday by William Barnes, Jr., Chairman of the Republican State Committee, that as soon as the extra session of the Legislature was over and it was determined whether there would be any changes in the election laws he would call a meeting of the Republican State Committee to take steps for the nomination of a Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals and an Associate Judge, either by the State Convention or otherwise. Mr. Barnes added:

"At the last session of the Legislature the Republicans endeavored to get an amendment to the Election law which would permit the holding of an official State Convention this year for the purpose of nominating candidates to succeed Chief Judge Cullen and Associate Judge Gray, whose terms of office will expire on Dec. 31. As Chairman of the Republican State Committee I wrote to Majority Leader Wagner of the Senate and Speaker Smith of the Assembly asking for favorable consideration of this measure. To this letter I never received any reply. The Democratic majority refused to permit the consideration of this measure, so that no official convention can be held this year for the purpose of instructing the State Committee whom to nominate for these offices, legal nomination under the present law resting with the State Committee.

"The maintenance of the judicial establishment as an independent organ of government is of the most vital importance to the liberty of each citizen. As this independence has been assailed, a campaign for the election of able and honorable men who will maintain the dignity and mental calibre of the highest court of the State is a matter which should have the serious attention of all our citizens."

University Commencement Near.

New York University's eighty-first annual commencement week will begin next Sunday with the baccalaureate sermon, to be preached by the Rev. Charles Reynolds Brown, Dean of the Yale Divinity School. Monday will be given over to the prize speaking contests, the senior play, and the senior ball. Class day exercises will be held Tuesday. Degrees will be conferred on the candidates from the nine schools of the university Wednesday.

DEMOCRATS PLAN CIVIL SERVICE RAID

Senate Move to Deprive Minor Government Officials of the Protection by Rules.

WOULD RESCIND TAFT ORDER

Sequel to Charge That Commission Has Favored Republicans and Disregarded the Merit Principle.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Encouraged by President Wilson's acceptance of the resignations of two of the three members of the Civil Service Commission following strictures made on that body by the Commission on Economy and Efficiency, and the action of Mr. Wilson in requiring that fourth-class Postmasters shall hereafter be appointed by competitive examination, Democratic Senators are preparing to make an organized attack on the civil service laws with a view to expanding the patronage of their party.

The first definite movement in this direction will be made soon, probably to-morrow, through the introduction in the Senate of a joint resolution aimed primarily at removing the protection of the civil service regulations from Deputy Collectors of Internal Revenue and other minor officers of the Federal Government, who are required to give bond for the faithful performance of their duties.

This resolution will be presented by Senator Lee B. Overman of North Carolina, who, with Senator Atlee Pomerene of Ohio, was the prime mover in the recent effort to have a Senate investigation of the classified civil service. The Overman resolution will provide also for rescinding the executive order of President Taft, placing all fourth-class Postmasters under the protection of the civil service rules.

In preparing the resolution Senator Overman is understood to have acted with the knowledge and approval of other Democratic Senators, who contend that the civil service system as administered for many years has failed to recognize the merit principle, and that as a result three-fourths of those now under the protection of civil service laws are Republicans. In other words, they contend that the system is defective in that it permits manipulation enabling a dominant political party to give preference to its own partisans in making appointments.

This is the text of the joint resolution that will be presented to the Senate by Senator Overman:

> Resolved, That the order issued by President Taft under date of Oct. 15, 1912, placing fourth-class Postmasters under civil service rules be and the same is hereby suspended until March 10, 1917.
>
> Resolved, That any officer or employe of the Government of the United States who may be required by law or regulations to execute a bond to a superior officer or any other officer of the Government to secure a faithful performance of official duties may be appointed by the officer who may require such bond without regard to the provisions of an act of Congress entitled "An act to regulate and improve the civil service of the United States, approved Jan. 16, 1883," any amendment thereto, or any rule or regulation made in pursuance thereof, and the officer requiring said bond shall have power to revoke the appointment of any such subordinate officer or employe and appoint his successor at his discretion without regard to the act, amendments, rules, or regulations aforesaid.

Wilson May Veto Measure.

A joint resolution requires the concurrence of both houses of Congress and the approval of the President. In view of the frequent declarations of Mr. Wilson that he is a hearty believer in the principle of the competitive system for Government appointments, his inclination probably will be to veto the measure should it reach him, especially if the revocation of President Taft's order covering fourth-class Postmasters is retained. He said recently that he believed that the merit system should be applied to appointments to and promotions in the Consular Service—until recent years a marked example of the operations of the spoils system—and that his inclination even would be to follow the merit rule in making appointments to the grade of Consul General.

It is submitted that the provision of the Overman resolution removing civil service protection from certain bonded officers has received the approval of William G. McAdoo, the Secretary of the Treasury, and William M. Osborn, the new Commissioner of Internal Revenue. This provision of the resolution will not apply, it is asserted, to officers who are required by law to furnish security for the faithful performance of their duties. Its application, the sponsors for the resolution contend, is merely to subordinate officers who are appointed by those immediately above them, and who are required by their chiefs to give bonds to protect their chiefs from any loss of public money through the carelessness or dishonesty of subordinates. The argument for it is that an officer of the Government should have the right to select and remove subordinates who handle money for which the officer personally is responsible, and not be compelled to intrust such duties to persons he does not know, who happen to be assigned to assist him through the operations of the classified service administration.

No secret is made of the fact that the resolution is aimed directly at Deputy Collectors of Internal Revenue. It is denied that it will affect Assistant Postmasters and other postal officials who handle money, as these employes of the Government are required by law to furnish bonds.

When the Wilson Administration came into power there was a hopeful feeling among many Democratic Senators and Representatives that President Taft's order placing all fourth-class Postmasters under the protection of the classified service would be rescinded. This hope was increased through the appointment of Albert S. Burleson as Postmaster General, for Mr. Burleson was regarded as a believer in the spoils system. Mr. Burleson disappointed those who held this view, however. The modification of the Taft order to the extent of requiring candidates for fourth-class Postmasterships to stand competitive examinations did not satisfy the adherents of the spoils system, and the first provision of the Overman resolution is intended to nullify the practice of giving such Postmasters the right of civil service protection.

Advocates of the Overman resolution defend the section affecting fourth-class Postmasters on the ground that the method of selecting fourth-class Postmasters by competitive examination is farcical, and that the spoils system is the more honest and therefore preferable.

NEW HOSPITAL BUILDING.

Cornerstone for First of Four for Homeopathic College.

Mayor Gaynor and Melbert B. Cary, President of the Board of Trustees of the New York Homeopathic Medical College, will officiate next Thursday afternoon at the laying of the cornerstone of the first of four new buildings to be erected at Sixty-fourth Street and Avenue A for the joint use of the college and Flower Hospital. Mayor Gaynor, former Controller Herman Metz, Mgr. P. J. McMahon, Director of Catholic charities; the Rev. Dr. Luther B. Wilson, resident Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and Dr. Eugene H. Porter, State Commissioner of Health, will speak.

The first of the new buildings, which is now under construction, is to be for private patients. The three to be begun in the near future will be used respectively by Flower Hospital, the college, and the Nurses' Home.

The commencement exercises of the Homeopathic Medical College are to be held in the Engineering Societies' Building at 29 West Thirty-ninth Street next Wednesday evening. The address to the graduating class will be made by the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, rector of the Church of the Messiah, Park Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street.

NEWPORT PREPARES FOR LIVELY SUMMER

Cottagers Thronging to Famous Resort Thus Early and Villas Being Furnished.

OELRICHS FAMILY REUNION

Additions to Mrs. French Vanderbilt's Estate—Electric Light for Jamestown—Personals.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, May 25.—The Summer will see a reunion at Newport of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Oelrichs. Mr. and Mrs. Oelrichs have been at their cottage on Kay Street for some time. Mrs. Oelrichs, who was ill in the Winter while visiting her sister, Mrs. Theodore A. Havemeyer, in Switzerland, has fully recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. Oelrichs will have their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles de Loosey Oelrichs, and their son, Harry Oelrichs, for the Summer. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Peter D. Martin, who have been living abroad for several years, have rented the Morrell cottage on Ochre Point. Their other son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas of New York, have taken the Fairchild cottage on Bellevue Avenue for the Summer.

Mrs. David King has gone from the Muenchinger-King to her own cottage, Kingscote, on Bellevue Avenue, and will have her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. Maitland Armstrong of New York, with their children, for a part of the Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney J. Colford, Jr., have gone from the Muenchinger-King cottage to the Knight cottage for the Summer, and are entertaining E. C. Knight, Jr., father of Mrs. Colford, and her aunt, Miss Knight of Philadelphia.

Master Lorillard Spencer, Jr., is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Frederic P. Sands. Mr. and Mrs. Lorillard Spencer will arrive June 1 at their cottage on Rhode Island Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Welch of Philadelphia, who have rented James J. Van Alen's residence, Wakehurst, will arrive early in June.

Mrs. G. Hunter Brown and her daughter, Miss Gertrude Brown, of Torresdale, Penn., are visiting Mrs. Frederick Chapin at the Muenchinger-King.

Mrs. Pope Washington is leaving for Annapolis for the graduating exercises at the Naval Academy on Wednesday. Later she will return to the New Cliffs to join her husband, Lieut. Commander Washington, of the battleship Georgia.

Mrs. J. J. Mallery and her son, Master Garrick Mallery, will arrive at the Mallery residence on Kay Street June 1.

Langdon Bogert has gone to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Thaw have returned to their residence opposite Bailey's Beach to remain until June 1, when they will sail for Europe.

Edward J. Berwind has returned to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Emmons have arrived at their cottage, Hillside, on Gibbs Avenue.

Army and Navy Tournament.

The army and navy officers about Newport and their wives will have a golf and tennis tournament during the Summer at the Naval Training Station.

Commodore and Mrs. Edwin D. Morgan and family are expected at Beacon Rock early in June.

Mrs. William Grosvenor is expected at her residence on Beacon Hill at the end of the week from Providence.

Henry Walters will make Newport his headquarters again this Summer. Here the steam yacht Narada will be stationed when not in New York waters.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Suffern Tailer, who are planning to arrive at Honeysuckle Lodge the second week in June, are having the pretty home on the Cliffs made more attractive than ever. The large billiard room, shooting gallery and bowling alley have been renovated.

Julian McCarty Little, who recently entered the theatrical profession and who long has been called one of the best dancers in Newport, has been asked to take part in a competition dance at the entertainment the ladies are to give at the Training Station July 17 for the benefit of the Newport Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association.

When the additions to the estate of Mrs. French Vanderbilt are completed next month Mrs. Vanderbilt will have one of the most extensive, as well as one of the most beautiful, homes in Newport. Mrs. Vanderbilt will give a series of large entertainments at Harbourview this season.

Jamestown, across the bay from Newport, will give its many Summer residents and citizens electric light for the first time about the middle of next month, the power being supplied through a heavy submarine cable from Newport.

There was no lack of entertaining on the battleships of the Atlantic Fleet this evening and for the officers ashore. A number of dinners were planned for Admiral Charles J. Badger, Commander in Chief of the fleet, but the departure of the battleships for New York on Tuesday will delay these functions until some time next month, when the ships will return from Annapolis, where they are to take aboard the midshipmen.

Reginald C. Vanderbilt gave a luncheon at Sandy Point Farm this afternoon, and to-night motored back to New York with Lewis Wells.

Commodore Arthur Curtiss James and E. Hayward Ferry returned to New York to-night on board the yacht Aloha. Mrs. James, Mrs. Ferry, and Miss Harriet Ferry leave Tuesday for the city.

Mrs. Theodore A. Havemeyer plans to return from Switzerland to New York in the Fall.

Crocker Athletic Field.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Crocker of Fitchburg, Mass., have concluded a visit with their son at St. George's School, where Mr. Crocker is having constructed a fine athletic field.

Mrs. John J. Wysong has opened Greystone, on Ochre Point, where she will arrive June 10.

William Woodward has opened The Cloisters, on Ochre Point. The other members of the family are detained in New York owing to a recent accident to Mrs. Woodward.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan R. Wheeler will return from a year's stay in Europe about June 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Dyer have opened their residence, Wayside, where Mr. Dyer is expected June 4, followed later by Mrs. Dyer and Miss Laura Swan, who are in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Brownell of New York will spend their first season here this Summer, having rented the Hunter house, on Washington Street.

Mrs. J. Mitchell Clark of New York has deferred her Newport visit until the end of next week.

Andrew Robson of New York, who has registered at the Casino, is here for the Summer.

Mrs. William B. Parsons of New York will arrive at Pine Lodge for the Summer on May 31.

Miss Betton gave a large dinner at her cottage last evening for Dr. and Mrs. Charles D. Easton.

Mrs. Eugene B. Gibbs of Detroit is visiting Mrs. Theodore K. Gibbs on Gibbs Avenue.

The Newport station of the New York Yacht Club has gone into commission with Supt. Benjamin Whitten in charge.

Mrs. Thomas H. Howard and family have concluded their Newport visit and returned to New York. They may return later for a part of the Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Metcalf of New York are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William R. Hunter, who gave a dinner last night in their honor.

Samuel Norris, Jr., has arrived from New York, joining his family, who are the guests of Mrs. Joseph F. Stone, mother of Mrs. Norris.

Robert S. Hone has returned from New York.

The schooner yacht Osana, formerly the Kerin, recently bought by E. M. Padelford of the New York Yacht Club from Maximilian Agassiz, is in commission.

The steam yacht Irene, A. Lasker, Atlantic Yacht Club, is in the harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Rollins Morse of New York and Newport, are at their cottage, Villarosa.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Shaw-Safe will sail for Europe June 26, to remain for the Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. C. Taylor will sail from Europe for Newport June 7.

Jones Yacht in Commission.

The steam yacht Narada, Henry Walters, New York Yacht Club, arrived from Bristol to-day with Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones and Mr. and Mrs. John Russell Pope on board, en route to New York, and towing the Carolina II., the new yacht of Pembroke Jones. The party came on shore and looked over the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones, which the latter will occupy in the Summer.

The Carolina was later put in commission and named in honor of Pembroke Jones's native State, his daughter acting as sponsor.

Commander Hayes Sterling, Jr., a member of the Naval War College staff, will deliver a lecture at the college to-morrow afternoon, when many officers from the Atlantic Fleet will attend.

Capt. William L. Rodgers, President of the Naval War College, has gone to Washington to attend a meeting of the Naval General Board.

The Vicomte d'Osmoy of Paris, whose wife was Miss Susan Dresser, sister of Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, Daniel Le Roy Dresser, and Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt, has been seriously ill in Paris with typhoid fever. The last cable message stated that the crisis had passed. Members of the family have been constantly in attedance on the patient.

SOCIETY AT A 'COON HUNT.

Camping Fever Develops Among Visitors at Virginia Hot Springs.

Special to The New York Times.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., May 25.—Mrs. Seth Barton French is enthusiastic over the camping idea, and has sent for a camping outfit for herself and daughter, Clarice. When her son Barton arrives from an English school next month they will all go to Bath Alum Springs for a week's camping.

Mrs. French's secretary, Basil Savidge, is in camp there now. He entertained the family, with Mrs. French's guest, the Count de Charnace, at supper last night and at a 'coon hunt afterward. The party motored over. At 8 o'clock the hunters started out with dogs to locate a 'coon. After the night had worn on considerably they succeeded in treeing one. They cut down the birch in which he had sought refuge, but the 'coon got away. They got back to camp at 2 o'clock in the morning, and the visitors motored home in the moonlight through a forest of rhododendrons, reaching Barton Lodge as the roosters were beginning to crow. They are going again, but next time they will not cut down the tree, as they have concluded that was a mistake.

Mrs. French gave a luncheon yesterday for the Count de Charnace, inviting Mrs. Reginald de Koven, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Ryan, and George McFadden.

Mrs. R. N. Hinckley was Mrs. Ryan's guest at luncheon to-day at the Pillars. She spent the afternoon driving with her son, Julian Hinckley.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chappell, Miss Jeannette Chappell, and Miss Campbell, who returned to New York to-night, drove to Bath Alum Springs. Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Wagner made the ascent to Flag Rock. C. J. Ryan, E. A. Perry, Jr., of Charlottesville, and Dr. L. A. Bragg rode to Bath Alum Springs for a day's fishing. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hinckley and Miss Hinckley went to Oak Grove for luncheon.

A number of golfers were on the links caddying for themselves, as there is no caddy service in Virginia on Sundays. M. P. Washburn of Louisville and E. H. Hinton of Atlanta played thirty-six holes together.

Ingallscote, the villa of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Ingalls, was opened last week, and the family is expected from Washington in a day or two to occupy it throughout the early Summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stewart expect to come from Morristown the first of June and remain throughout the month. With them will come Mrs. Stewart's mother, Mrs. Capen, who has been in Baltimore until recently under treatment for an injury to her hip, received during the Winter.

Mrs. Robert Waller departed last night for New London, where she will spend several weeks with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Waller. Mr. Waller will remain here.

Arrivals from New York include Robin Walker, Mrs. T. Young, O. B. Capen, James Turner, Mrs. J. R. Guernsey, H. W. Simpson, and Mark Finstone. L. B. Brainerd came from Hartford.

Scott Expedition on Films.

The Lyric Theatre will house moving-pictures beginning next week, when, one week from to-night, the films made by Capt. Scott's south pole expedition will be shown. The exhibition will be called "The Undying Story of Capt. Scott" and "Animal Life in the Antarctic." The pictures were taken by Robert G. Ponting, F. R. G. S., who headed the photographic staff of Capt. Scott's expedition. The pictures show phases of the party's travel in one part, and in the other views of the animal and plant life of the antarctic region. One of the pictures shows the eruption of a volcano whose sides are covered with ice and snow.

"Iolanthe" Matinee for Fund.

The special performance of "Iolanthe" at the Casino Theatre, the receipts of which will be devoted to a fund in the New York Public Library for the purchase of authentic material on Gilbert & Sullivan, was announced yesterday to occur on Thursday afternoon, June 5. All the principals of the company have volunteered their services. Several prominent men have been invited to make addresses at the performance, among them Mayor Gaynor, Prof. Brander Matthews, and Augustus Thomas.

CHINESE MARRIED AFTER OUR FASHION

Miss Eng and Chin Chee United in the Central Church of the Disciples of Christ.

BRIDE'S DRESS GORGEOUS

But Mr. Chin Wore a Frock Coat—Wedding Breakfast Follows Service from Which "Obey" Was Omitted.

In the presence of 200 invited guests, many of whom were Chinese, Miss Eng Gun Low and Chin Chee, a prosperous tea merchant of 303 West 115th Street, were married yesterday in American fashion in the Central Church of the Disciples of Christ by the Rev. Dr. James M. Philputt, the pastor, assisted by the Rev. Charles Kew, a Chinese missionary from the Tompkins Avenue Congregational Church in Brooklyn. It was the first Chinese wedding performed in the church, which is much interested in Chinese missionary work, and one of the few Chinese weddings ever performed in this country according to a Christian ritual.

The bride lived with her grandfather, Shung Yoke, a merchant, in Harrison, N. J. She is 18 years old, and met her husband, who is ten years her senior, at her grandfather's home five years ago. The two men are warm friends. At the time of the first meeting Chin Chee regarded her simply as a pretty child. They were members of the same Sunday school class. He realized a year ago that the little girl had developed into a very pretty woman. He asked for her hand and was accepted. Her mother is in China.

The first eight pews in the church were reserved for the friends of the bride and bridegroom. Half a dozen Chinese women in gorgeous native costumes were present, and two Chinese babies, one in a pale blue satin dress, the other in pink silk, with wonderful embroidered head ornaments, attracted much attention.

When the strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding March came softly from the organ there was a craning of necks toward the rear of the church. Presently the bridal procession started down the main aisle. First came the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Philputt, and the Rev. Charles Kew. Behind them came Miss Chee Chong, daughter of a Chinese missionary, the maid of honor, and C. M. Jett, a silk merchant, the best man. Miss Chong wore a white silk Princess gown. They were followed by the bride and bridegroom. Mr. Chin wore a frock coat, but Miss Eng was attired in her native costume.

She wore a gorgeous pale-blue satin coat, heavily embroidered with gold dragons and butterflies, and beneath the coat a pink embroidered skirt. She wore no bridal veil, but instead a wonderful embroidered headpiece. In her arms she carried a bouquet of roses and sweetpeas, which was almost as big as she was. Miss Eng speaks English perfectly, but Mr. Chin has only a limited knowledge of the language.

As Dr. Philputt read the wedding service the answers and responses were interpreted by the Rev. Mr. Kew to Mr. Chin. He had rehearsed the service carefully, and he repeated the responses in English. The word "obey" was omitted from the ceremony. It was explained by the Chinese afterward that the enlightened members of their race did not consider it necessary, knowing that the wife would always obey her husband.

After the ceremony the guests went to the basement of the church, where the teachers of the Chinese Sunday school served a wedding breakfast. The bride and bridegroom, with a few of their friends, sat at a small table. Upon this table there was a frosted wedding cake two feet long and three and a half feet in circumference. The guests were served with sandwiches, cake, and coffee, and Chinese fruit punch. Each guest received a piece of wedding cake in rice paper tied with ribbon, and Chinese nuts.

After the breakfast the bridal party took carriages, the horses of which were gayly decorated with flowers, wreaths, and ribbons, and drove to 30 Pitt Street, where Mr. Chin has furnished an apartment for his bride. In Chinatown last night the feasting was continued in the real Chinese manner.

TRIPLE TURKISH WEDDING.

Celebrated Lavishly in the Style of the Near East.

A threefold Turkish wedding took place last night at Grand Palace Hall, 73 Allen Street, the grandest seen in many years, when, on account of the high cost of living, three Turkish couples were married by a single rabbi, the Rev. Joseph Abravaya, in Turkish style. The brides were all beautiful Turkish girls from the Dardanelles. The couples were: Joseph Agoade of 88 Rivington Street, who married Miss Annula Fiz of 55 East 110th Street; Samuel Varom of 179 Eldridge Street, who took his cousin, Miss Benvernita Varom; and Nissem Abravaya, who was wedded to Miss Clara Levy of 137 Orchard Street, where he lives, too.

It was real color of the Orient at this east side wedding. Some of the women wore turbans and the men smoked cigarettes. The feasting and dancing, according to Turkish custom, will last for three days. When the knot was tied candy and coin were scattered about and children scrambled like mad to pick up the pieces. Friends and neighbors from miles around assembled at the wedding. Above 500 persons took part. The foods were served in Turkish style. One of the best men at the wedding was Joseph Gedalecia, President of the Federation of Oriental Jews.

LIVELY SUNDAY AT TUXEDO.

Resort Thronged with Visitors—A Busy Week in Prospect.

Special to The New York Times.

TUXEDO PARK, May 25.—Doubtless the most busy week of the season will be the coming week at Tuxedo. The invitation golf, the horse show, house parties, and the informal dinner dances at the Tuxedo Club will draw a large crowd of society folk to Tuxedo.

This was a lively day. Numerous motor parties spent the day at the club and entertaining at luncheon and dinner was the rule at nearly every cottage. A lawn tennis tournament was held on the club courts for a special prize. The weekly yacht race on Tuxedo Lake resulted in a victory for Lewis S. Chanler, who won the monthly cup. Preston Davie was second and F. B. Keich third.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Cready of New York entertained a party at the club for the day, and Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Neeser "chaperoned" a party. Others who spent the day at Tuxedo entertaining at luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hardenburgh, Mr. and Mrs. David Wagstaff, and Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth Wyckes. Dr. and Mrs. George Draper spent the day at the Lukerman villa. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Vogel opened their house. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Pell have taken the Post cottage for the season.

Others who spent the day here were R. F. Purdy, Miss Clements, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Walker, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stewart Barney, Elisha Dwyer, Mrs. Charles Kidder, Dr. C. L. Dan, Dr. MacDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ford, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Savin, Charles E. Munroe, and Mrs. Stetson Hutchins.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice in Ottawa.

Special to The New York Times.

OTTAWA, May 25.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the new British Ambassador to the United States, is in Ottawa on his first official visit to the Dominion. He is the guest of Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Chief Justice of Canada, who is acting as Administrator in the absence of the Duke of Connaught.

AID GIVEN TRAVELERS.

Society Last Year Assisted 18,562 Persons, Many of Them Women.

The seventh annual report of the Travelers' Aid Society gives an account of its activities, especially in behalf of young and unprotected women traveling in this country, and many instances are quoted of its successful efforts to save them from unscrupulous persons.

Agents of the society who speak different languages meet trains and steamers to aid and conduct unfriended, needy, inexperienced, or confused travelers any hour of the day or night to their destination within the city or to trains or steamers for other points. This protection is continued by co-operation with other societies or friends at terminal points until the traveler is known to have safely reached the proper destination. When necessary the society provides temporarily for the traveler at headquarters.

Last year 18,562 persons were definitely assisted, an increase of 51 per cent. over 1911, and since its establishment 55,961 persons of 64 nationalities have received its benefits. Disbursements amounted to $30,910, and a special appeal is made by Samuel M. Taylor, Treasurer, for additional funds. Remittances may be addressed to him at 238 East Forty-eighth Street, New York.

GIVES DETECTIVES A RUN.

Leads for Several Blocks and Over Central Wall—Accused of Bigamy.

Detectives Kavanaugh and Kennedy of the Tremont Station were led several blocks and finally over a wall into the New York Central Railroad cut west of Washington Avenue, in the Bronx, yesterday afternoon by a fleeing man whom they had attempted to serve with a bench warrant, charging bigamy, in his room on the second floor of a building at 1,694 Bathgate Avenue, the Bronx. Martin Kaupp, an automobile machinist, who says he has acted as a driver's assistant in several big automobile races throughout the country, was the one the detectives were after.

Edith Laville, who lives at 1342 Alden Street, Philadelphia, says she was married to Kaupp in Baltimore four years ago, and that her husband disappeared in January, this year.

About the same time that Kaupp left Baltimore Christina Lang, a comely young Baltimore woman, left home, and was not heard of until she wrote a letter to a Maryland friend, in which she said she had come to New York with a "dandy" young fellow, and had been married. That was three months ago.

Christine Lang's husband tallied even to the slightest detail with the missing Kaupp, whom his wife sought through a detective bureau.

Kennedy had distanced Kavanaugh and was right behind Kaupp when he made the jump over the wall. He vaulted, too, and caught his man as the latter started down the tracks. At the police station Kaupp said he had just bought two railroad tickets for Tampa, Fla.

McCutcheon Story Staged.

Herbert Hall Winslow produced at the Colonial Theatre last night a playet entitled "Things Reversed" adapted from a story by George Barr McCutcheon, called "When Girl Meets Girl." It proved to be a satire in melodrama form on the feminist movement. While two women, one of whom has kidnapped him, fight a hand-to-hand conflict, the "hero" hides under the bed, at one point of the play. The cast was headed by Mme. Violet Besson. The playet won several curtain calls.

New York to See Criticised Play.

Special to The New York Times.

TORONTO, May 25.—Maynard White, manager of "Deborah," the play by Legrand Howland which appeared at the Princess Theatre last week and was attacked by a minister after having been passed by Toronto's play censor, the members of the company being taken into the police court, left for New York to-night to arrange for a Broadway theatre in which to present "Deborah" in the near future. The management stopped the production in Toronto.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Blanche Ring is on her way to her Summer home at Mamaroneck, N. Y., having completed her Chicago engagement in "When Claudia Smiles" on Saturday. She will be seen in the piece in New York next season.

Wills, Leon Errol, Martin Brown, William LuBrun, Murray Queen, J. Bernard Dillyon, Peter Swift, the Marvelous Millers, and Frank Tinney.

The coming week is announced as the last for the revival of "Arizona" at the Lyric Theatre.

The Winter Garden will observe a Maine Night on Thursday, when officers and sailors of the American fleet and of the Cuban warship Cuba will witness the 150th performance of "The Honeymoon Express."

The Aborn Opera Company will present at the Brooklyn Academy of Music to-night "The Bohemian Girl," and on Thursday "Cavalleria" and "Pagliacci."

A new kind of talking moving picture will be offered for the first time to-day at the Jefferson Theatre on East Fourteenth Street.

SCULPTRESS'S WORK RAISES HIGH HOPES

Studies of East Side Life Win Great Admiration from Cooper Union Teachers.

HAS TAKEN ALL THE PRIZES

And She Is Only 19 Years Old—Her Work Will Be Shown at the Coming Exhibit.

When the exhibition of the work of the Cooper Union classes is held in Cooper Square to-morrow evening many will pause with interest before several pieces of sculpture there. The interest is sure to be stirred by the unmistakable ability in the modeling, as well as by the subjects, for they are of the east side, the crowded quarters of Division Street, of Pitt Street, of Goerck and Delancey. But the interest will deepen when the visitors to the exhibition understand that these studies and sketches in clay are the work of a 19-year-old girl of the east side who came to study at Cooper Union and for whom her teachers hope big things.

In her four years at Cooper Union she has won all the prizes that she could win, all the medals and all the money awards. Next year she will turn to other work, perhaps in some studio here in New York—perhaps, if some good fortune drops from the skies, in Paris. Her name is Pauline Margulies and she lives at 84 Delancey Street.

"The girl ought to be sent abroad," said George Brewster, the Director of the sculpture class at Cooper Union, when he was asked about her yesterday. "She has great ability and very brilliant promise. She is serious, she works hard and she has ideas. I think she has a very brilliant future, and down at Cooper Union we wish her all the good luck in the world."

The girl herself talked of her work yesterday and of what she hoped to do. She is slim, dark haired and pretty, and quite unaffected.

"I have done some allegorical work," she said, "but I prefer to take my studies of the things and the people here on the east side. They are the people and things I see from my window, and I do not want to do anything else."

One of the things she will show to-morrow night is a study of a "Little Mother" struggling sturdily along with a baby in her patient arms. One shows a laborer with his family grouped about him. One is called the "Sweat Shop Worker." It shows an old man on his way to a tenement with his shoulders and arms laden with stuff for cloaks to be sewn in the crowded rooms. One is a bust of her grandfather, lovingly modeled, an old man with flowing beard and familiar black skull cap.

Pauline's artistic nature showed itself when she was 3, according to her mother's story of her career. The bent was unmistakable in those early days, when she would draw strange things on the sidewalk with watermelon rind. Later she preferred chalk, and was the despair of the neighborhood, so thoroughly did she cover the pavement with her studies. Later Mr. Margulies found it paid to have some of his little girl's sketches in the window of his store.

Then when the Hudson-Fulton celebration came, she did a picture of Fulton and exhibited it in the window of the store for the edification of the crowds. It did edify them, and one man who had a flowing necktie and an absent-minded manner came in to ask all about it one day. He said Pauline ought to be sent somewhere to study. He went out again, not to return, but he left with Father Margulies a conviction that the girl ought to be encouraged.

She was still a very little girl when she went to the University Settlement and studied under the sculptress Miss Abastenia St. Leger Eberle, and it was from there that she went to Cooper Union. Then some one saw her work, and the Art Students' League gave her a scholarship. She had been at the league two months when she was taken ill. After she was able to work again she went back to Copper Union, and has now completed her fourth year there.

SWANS DESTROY THEIR EGGS

But Keepers Also Suspect Others of the Practice.

Head Keeper Snyder and Keeper Donohue, who has charge of the swans in Central Park, have for a long time been trying to learn the cause of the destruction of so many swans' eggs and nests by the lake sides. Keeper Donohue believes he knows now some of the culprits, for yesterday he saw several swans destroying their own eggs. So many eggs have been destroyed, however, that he does not believe the swans can be wholly responsible.

Keeper Snyder presented a Japanese goose to Donohue as an ornament to the swan pond some weeks ago. The goose did not get on at all well with the swans, ducks and drakes, and it was suspected of knowing something about the disappearance of the eggs. In a battle with the swans its leg was broken. It was removed from the pond and sent to the hospital, yet the depredations continued.

Soon afterward it was discovered that a turtle had, in some manner, found a home in the swan pond, and as the eggs continued to disappear suspicion fell upon it. All attempts to trap it proved futile. Keeper Donohue finally shot it in the mouth, capturing it. It was removed from the pond, but the thefts of the eggs continued, and now the ducks and the swans themselves are suspected.

Rosie, a big snapper turtle, has laid a dozen eggs in a nest she has built in the ground. She remained in the hole most of the day yesterday bent on hatching the eggs.

It was estimated that more than 40,000 persons visited the Park yesterday.

TO TAKE UP INCOME TAX.

D. P. Kingsley Appears Before Senate Sub-Committee To-day.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The tariff situation will reach an interesting period the coming week, when the Senate Finance sub-committees get down to the actual work of writing their revisions of the Underwood bill.

Senator Williams's sub-committee will take up the insurance feature of the income tax section of the bill to-morrow, when Darwin P. Kingsley, President of the New York Life Insurance Company, appears on behalf of the insurance interests.

EXPLOSION WRECKS LAUNCH.

Five Men Aboard of Her, Badly Burned, Save Lives by Swimming.

Five men were hurt by an explosion of gasoline last evening on board of the launch Monarch off Greenville, N. J. The injured, all of whom live in Manhattan, are:

Arthur Woods, 27 years old, machinist, 216 East 119th Street, badly burned about the face, head and chest; John Goodwon, 30, machinist, 107 East Ninety-sixth Street, badly burned about the head and breast; Peter Leonard, 34, electrician, 109 East Ninety-sixth Street, burned about the legs and body; Henry Humphries, 41, butcher, 214 East 116th Street, burned about the head and arms, and Sydney Clark, chauffeur, 34, 109 East 112th Street, burned about the body and hands.

The five men left Jersey City for a trip to Newark. In the late afternoon the launch was headed for Greenville. As the anchor was cast over a spark from a lighted cigar held by Leonard fell into a five-gallon can of gasoline, causing an explosion which covered the five men with flames.

In their agony the men jumped overboard and swam to the shore. They were taken to a nearby boathouse, where they were attended by Drs. Atkins and Waller of Greenville. The physicians advised them to go to a hospital, but the men refused, and, procuring a private conveyance, were taken to their homes. According to the physicians the men will be laid up for some time, and all will be scarred for life.

The launch, valued at $4,200, burned to the water's edge, and the hull sank.

HELD UP CHIEF MAGISTRATE

Thieves Threatened to Throw McAdoo Off the Palisades.

Two footpads held up and robbed Chief City Magistrate William McAdoo and his brother while they were walking along the Palisades across the Hudson River from Yonkers two weeks ago, leaving them stranded in the wildest part of New Jersey and without even car fare with which to return to their homes. Magistrate McAdoo said nothing about the robbery at the time, hoping by his silence to help the authorities to find the thieves. But a search by detectives, constables and sheriffs in Hudson, Bergen and Rockland Counties has failed to produce them.

The ex-Police Commissioner and his brother, Joseph A. McAdoo, who is employed in the Custom House and lives at 149 Delaware Avenue, Jersey City, were cornered by the thieves on the narrow footpath along the top of the bluff of the Palisades that at this point are some 300 feet above the river.

"Two young men, holding revolvers, stepped from behind some shrubbery and confronted us suddenly," said the Magistrate. "They ordered us to put up our hands, saying they wanted everything we had of value. The robbers assured us that they did not intend to use the weapons, but they said that if we resisted, they would shove us over the cliff, which would mean certain death. Our deaths would be attributed to an accident, they asserted."

As the Magistrate and his brother hesitated, the robbers moved forward and put their hands on their shoulders, pressing them toward the edge of the Palisades. Magistrate McAdoo is an athlete, and, like his brother, is a large man, but their proximity to the edge of the cliff prevented them from making any resistance. Two gold watches, $85 in cash, two scarfpins, and the official gold badge of the Magistrate were taken from their pockets, but the badge was returned. Magistrate McAdoo and his brother had to walk to Tenafly, N. J., to borrow car fare from an acquaintance.

Some years ago Magisrtate McAdoo, then a member of Congress from New Jersey, represented the district in which the robbery occurred.

BRITISH GOLFERS FEAR AMERICANS

Douglas, Weber, and Others Expected to Make Good Showing at St. Andrews.

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 25.—On the eve of the amateur golf championship of the world, play for which will begin to-morrow morning, British opinion regarding the chances of the American contingent has undergone a considerable reversal.

It is now conceded that, although the best half dozen American players are absent, the United States has in Harold Weber of Toledo a dangerous player, who with luck should at least reach the last eight. C. W. Inslee of the Oneida Community Club of New York and W. Heinrich Schmidt of Worcester, Mass., it is also thought may make things interesting, while Campbell D. White of San Francisco is likely to make a good showing.

Both Weber and White have drawn byes for the first round. Inslee will play C. E. Yeotans of the Royal North Devon Club, while Schmidt will measure skill against D. S. Crowther. Two other American players are entered—Findlay S. Douglas of the Nassau Country Club, Long Island, and Douglas Grant of San Francisco. The sole Canadian representative is Jackson Walton. The entries in all number about 200.

The Americans are not yet acclimated, and feel the humidity greatly, and the atmospheric conditions take twenty yards off the average length of their drives. They have amazed the conservative Britishers by playing in their shirt sleeves.

Owing to the fear of suffragist outrages, the greens have been strongly guarded for the last week or two, and the guards have now been doubled. The greens are heavily insured against damage. Guards are also protecting the churches and the Castle, and the famous old square tower of St. Regulus. The appearance of an aeroplane flying over the course to-day caused a rush of the populace to the greens on the rumor that its purpose was to drop bombs. The aeroplane passed along, however, without making any warlike attempt.

Campbell D. White and John Lawson of San Francisco have engaged Edward Ray, the British open champion, and Harry Vardon, who five times held this title, to go to the Coast in October, after participating in the American championships at Brookline, Mass., to give an exhibition match at the Portola celebration. Ray and Vardon will receive $2,500 each.

COURSE IN BAD SHAPE.

Luck Will Play Important Part in Early Rounds.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 25.—The weather for the amateur golf championship at St. Andrews promises to be favorable, but the special correspondent who inspected the course is much concerned about its condition. Many of the bunkers are still waterlogged, and the sand in the others is so heavy that it will be hopeless to attempt to get out in one shot. Some experts declare that it will not be the expert player, but the luckiest man, who will win the championship.

ZBYSZKO'S SKULL BROKEN.

Polish Wrestler Hurt in Bout with Constant Lemarin.

MONTREAL, May 25.—Stanislaus Zbyszko, the Polish wrestler, is suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries as a result of a plunge from the ring to the floor and alleged fouling tactics used by his opponent, Constant Lemarin, in a match here last night. While his condition is serious, it is not believed that his injuries will prove fatal. The big Pole, however, will be idle for some time.

Zbyszko rose to his feet, but tottered and fell unconscious in the ring. He was taken to a hotel and an examination by the doctors disclosed a fractured skull.

"YANKS" GET PECKINPAUGH.

Lelivelt and Stumpf Exchanged for Cleveland Shortstop.

A trade between the New York and Cleveland teams of the American League has been completed whereby the Yanks secure Shortstop Roger Peckinpaugh in exchange for Infielder William Stumpf and Outfielder Jack Lelivelt. Peckinpaugh has been ordered to report here at once, and Manager Chance plans to use him regularly at shortstop. He may be in the Yankee line-up when the team takes the field against the Boston Red Sox at the Polo Grounds this afternoon.

Manager Chance has been trying to secure Peckinpaugh since the opening of the present season, but his previous overtures to the Cleveland management have been in vain.

Peckinpaugh first attracted attention in 1910 as a member of the New Haven team of the Connecticut League. In 101 games that year he batted .255 and fielded .934, ranking second in fielding among the league shortstops. He was drafted in the Fall of 1910 by Cleveland and turned over to Portland, Ore., of the Pacific Coast League for further seasoning after the Naps returned from their training trip in 1911. In 195 games in the Coast League Peckinpaugh fielded .924 and batted .258. He was recalled by Cleveland last year, and in sixty-nine games at shortstop for the Naps he fielded .924 and batted .212. With Chapman and Olson available for shortstop duty this year the Naps had no place for Peckinpaugh.

McGraw Gets Georgetown Pitcher.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., May 25.—Dave White of Dorchester, Mass., the crack Georgetown University pitcher, signed his name to a New York Giant contract this afternoon, and Manager John McGraw intends to give him a chance to show what he is capable of doing. He is a brother of Steve White, the old Princeton University football and baseball player, who also joined the Giants three years ago, but did not make good.

Chicago Bats Steele Hard and Defeats St. Louis, 9 to 2.

CHICAGO, May 25.—Chicago batted Steele hard in part of one inning to-day and won from St. Louis, 9 to 2. Burk relieved Steele, but he, too, was hit opportunely. Pierce of Chicago had little difficulty holding the visitors safe. In only one inning was St. Louis able to bunch hits, when the visitors bunched a double and triple for one run. The other run came in the first on an error and a single. Saier's home run in the first inning, clearing the bases, and the batting and fielding of Zimmerman were features. The score:

Cincinnati Blanks Pittsburgh.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 25.—Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh here to-day, 1 to 0, in a tight pitchers' battle between Benton and Adams, the former having a shade the best of it. The lone run of the game came in the fourth inning. Bates, first man up for Cincinnati, tripled to deep left, and scored soon after on Bescher's long sacrifice fly to Hoffman. Pittsburgh threatened in several innings, but Benton was able to stop all impending batting rallies. Becker's great running catch of Miller's long drive in the ninth inning, after Wagner had singled, was the stellar feature of the game. Adams was taken out in the eighth to allow Hendrix to bat for him. The score:

Highbridge's Owner Not Discouraged

John R. Fell, Jr., who arrived yesterday on the Carmania with his wife and two children, said that there was no truth in the cabled report that he had given up racing in England because his horse Highbridge had been defeated in the Grand National. "On the contrary," said Mr. Fell, "I am very well satisfied with racing conditions over there, and shall continue racing when I go back in the Fall."

PITCHER RUSSELL KNOCKED SENSELESS

Pitched Ball Puts Chicago Player Out of the Game with Cleveland.

CHICAGO, May 25.—Hard hitting by Cleveland, combined with poor fielding by Chicago, gave the visitors a one-sided game to-day 8 to 1. Mitchell, though shaky once or twice, was effective most of the time, while none of the three local pitchers could prevent Cleveland hits when they meant runs. Russell, who began the game for Chicago, was knocked senseless by a pitched ball in the sixth inning, and, though he recovered after a time, was unable to finish out the game.

A fumbled grounder by Lord and Russell's muff of a pop fly in the fourth put Olson in a position to score on Ryan's single. Chapman's double, followed by a sacrifice and Turner's hit, gave the visitors one in the sixth, and singles by Jackson and Ryan in the same round were wasted when Russell forced Graney and O'Neill to hit pop flies.

Singles by Johnston and Chapman, and Olson's "Cincinnati base hit" filled the bases for Cleveland in the seventh. Turner flied out, but Jackson's drive to left counted two runs, a passed ball let Olson in, and Jackson scored on a careless throw by Benz. A pass to Turner, Jackson's double, and two singles added two to the Cleveland total in the ninth.

Collins's double, Zeider's sacrifice, and Bodie's sacrifice fly gave the locals their one run in the fifth. The score:

Detroit Takes Two Games.

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—Detroit won both games of the double header from St. Louis here this afternoon, taking the first contest by a score of 7 to 4 and the second by 8 to 6. In the first game the visitors hit St. Louis pitchers hard in the sixth and eighth innings and took advantage of the local twirlers' wildness and their team mates' errors. In the second contest the visitors bunched hits in the earlier innings, and scored almost enough runs to win. The winning runs came in the eighth inning on Cobb's triple and Leach's single. Manager Stovall played his first full game since he was suspended by President Johnson of the American League three weeks ago for his argument with Umpire Ferguson. The scores:

BRITISH BOXING SNUBBED.

New Union Says English Organization Does Not Figure in the Sport.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, May 25.—Reference to the National Sporting Club of London that causes surprise to every Englishman interested in boxing was made in a notice appearing in the Temps, which stated that the new National Boxing Union just organized, with headquarters in Paris, will prepare definite and final rules for all world's championship bouts and decide all disputed cases arising in the sport.

The Boxing Union will consist of representatives of the New York State Athletic Commission and the French Boxing Federation. The National Sporting Club, the statement further says, does not figure in a boxing union because it is not considered sufficiently important to take part in any such international organization. The Temps adds that the National Sporting Club wil act through the French Boxing Federation in the International Union.

CROSS VS. MALONEY.

New York and Philadelphia Lightweights in Week's Leading Bout.

With the Garden A. C. closed to boxing for the present week the St. Nicholas A. C. again takes first place in the boxing programme arranged for the week at Greater New York clubs. The St. Nicks will be the only one of the leading clubs in operation, as the Forty-fourth Street Sporting Club remains closed and no important professional bouts will be staged at the Fairmont A. C. The card contains plenty of matches between boxers of note.

Leach Cross and Teddy Maloney will be the headliners in the show to be staged at the St. Nicholas Rink Wednesday night. Cross has engaged in two bouts during the last three weeks, one at St. Louis and the other with Johnny Dohan in this city, and he has had to do only light training to fit himself for the match with the clever Philadelphian. He boxed Maloney at Philadelphia last September, and at the end of six rounds there was a difference of opinion as to the winner. Maloney has been coming along steadily since that time, and many of the boxing followers of the Quaker City consider that he is the best lightweight in Philadelphia.

The ten-round semi-final will bring together Phil Cross and Johnny Marto of the west side in a return engagement. These two welterweights figured in a hard fought ten-round bout at the Empire A. C. during the last Winter, and Marto got the popular decision. The bout was one of the most exciting seen here in months, and Cross has been trying for a return bout since this defeat. Three six-round events will complete the programme, the final being between Eddie Webber of California and Billy Meyers, the Harlem lightweight.

Three ten-round bouts will be put on at the Atlantic Garden A. C., Canal Street and the Bowery, to-morrow night. In the feature event Eddie O'Keefe of Philadelphia, who has not boxed here in several months, will oppose Young Driscoll, the Brooklyn featherweight. In the ten-round semi-final Battling Mantell of Brooklyn and Johnny Martin of New York will be the contestants. In the opening ten-round bout Pinky Burns and Johnny Keyes, 108-pound boxers, will do the honors.

GOULLET BEATS KRAMER.

Australian Furnishes Surprise in Newark Cycle Races.

Alfred Goullet, the Australian, furnished a big surprise to Frank Kramer and several thousand enthusiasts at the Newark Velodrome yesterday afternoon when he defeated the American champion in the "Newark Thousand," a one-mile race which is the annual blue ribbon event of the early season at the Newark track. Goullet, Kramer, and Al Grenda had qualified for the final heat in the preliminary races of the past two Sundays, and Kramer was the favorite for first place, although it was recognized that the two Australians were fast enough to give him a hard fight. In a great sprint at the finish Goullet crossed the finish line a wheel's length in front of the American champion. Goullet also showed the way to Kramer in the three-mile open event for professionals. The summaries:

Newark Thousand, One Mile.—Won by Alfred Goullet, Australia; Frank Kramer, East Orange, N. J., second; Alfred Grenda, Tasmania, third. Time—2:04 4-5.

Half-Mile Novice, Amateur.—Won by J. Walter, Newark; John Pollachia, New York, second. Time—1:11 4-5.

Two-Thirds Mile Handicap, Amateur.—Won by William Hanley, San Francisco, (20 yards;) Donald McDougall, Newark, (scratch,) second; Gus Wohlrab, Jersey City, (30 yards,) third; Norman Hansen, Denmark, (20 yards,) fourth; William Pettit, Rockville Centre, L. I., (40 yards,) fifth. Time—1:16 3-5.

Australian Pursuit Match Race, Amateur.—Won by Ernest Ohrt, San Francisco; Donald McDougall, Newark, second. Distance—1 2-3 miles. Time—3:29 2-5.

Half-Mile Handicap, Professional.—Won by George Wiley, Syracuse, (60 yards;) Ernest Jokus, Newark, (60 yards,) second; Jackie Clarke, Australia, (scratch,) third; Worth Mitten, Davenport, Iowa, (50 yards,) fourth; Albert Crebs, Newark, (35 yards,) fifth. Time—0:53 4-5.

Two-Mile Invitation, Professional.—Won by Frank Cavanagh, Newark; Fred Hill, Boston, second; Elmer Collins, Lynn, Mass., third; Alvin Loftus, Providence, R. I., fourth; George Cameron, New York, fifth. Time—4:39 2-5.

Three-Mile Open, Amateur—Won by Norman Hansen, Denmark; Chester Smith, Baldwins, L. I., second; William Pettit, Rockville Centree, L. I., third; Donald McDougall, Newark, fourth; Gus Wohlrab, Jersey City, fifth. Time—6:45.

Three-Mile Open—Professional.—Won by Alfred Goullet, Australia; Frank Kramer, East Orange, N. J., second; Fred Hill, Boston, Mass., third; Jackie Clarke, Australia, fourth; Alfred Grenda, Tasmania, fifth. Time—6:17 2-5.

Xaviers Lose Handball Series.

St. Bartholomew's A. C. handball team defeated the Xavier A. C. team in the special tournament just closed, the final matches being played at Brown's Gymnasium, where the St. Barts won two straight games and the tournament. The St. Barts won the opening series at their club and the Xaviers won the second series on their home alleys. The contestants were George Vulz, George Greener, and Tom Cassidy of St. Bartholomew's A. C. and James Haggerty, Bob Connolly, and Rocco Parie of the Xavier A. C.

Heavy Scoring at Soccer.

Prolific scoring marked the last game of the soccer football season contested between the Brooklyn Football Club and the Newark Football Club yesterday on the grounds of the West Hudsons at Harrison, N. J., in the presence of a large crowd of onlookers. It was the final game of the National Football League's annual series and resulted in favor of the Brooklyns by the close score of 5 goals to 4, after the home team had led in the first half by 4 to 3.

Champion Quartet Plays Together for First Time at Phipps Field.

The American polo squad which is to defend the trophy in the international series against England next month lined up as a team yesterday for the first time this year in a match game against a picked American quartet on Phipps's Field, at Westbury, and defeated them by a score of 6½ goals to 6 goals, after what was admittedly a hard fought out and fast contest.

Probably 2,000 persons witnessed the play, which was over the required eight full periods of 7½ minutes each. Two accidents of a minor nature were witnessed during the game, one of which very nearly resulted in throwing Foxhall P. Keene from his pony, and the other warranting the withdrawal of Capt. E. D. Miller, the referee, when he was hit on the knee by a flying ball which he had just thrown in to start play.

Keene met with a similar mishap when Devereux Milburn made a 100-foot hit in an endeavor to save a goal being tallied against his side. The hit was a semi-lofter, and was traveling with great speed, having been propelled with all the power the famous international back is capable of. It caught Keene just as he was about to turn to follow its direction, and the contact was forcible enough to cause the veteran player to be all but knocked out of the saddle.

The champion four lined up as they will probably do in the series next month, with Larry Waterbury, No. 1; J. M. Waterbury, No. 2; H. P. Whitney, No. 3, and Devereux Milburn, back. Opposed to them were the Wanderers, made up of Rene La Montagne, Foxhall Keene, C. C. Rumsey, and Malcolm Stevenson.

The latter players proved to be very fast, and it was conceded that the back play of Stevenson saved the day for his team time and again. The international four appeared to fall into their old-time positions without any great trouble, and showed that ability at combination and team play which brought the cup back to the United States in 1909 and has kept it here since.

The members of the English team witnessed the efforts of their opponents in the coming matches, and it was announced that they would take part in a practice game this afternoon at Piping Rock against a four who are said to be the strongest aggregation they have been asked to meet on this side, and who are expected to give them one of the best of workouts, and who will be made up of F. S. Von Stade, F. M. Freake, C. P. Beadleston, and R. L. Agassiz.

MORE REGATTA ENTRIES.

Harlem Association Secures Big List for Memorial Day.

Members of the committe of the Harlem Regatta Association who have the arrangements for the Memorial Day series in hand had their final meeting yesterday at the Metropolitan Rowing Club, and completed the details in connection with the events for next Friday, for which sixty entries have been received for the fifteen contests, the largest lot of nominations received for any series since 1908.

A number of additional entries were passed upon, most of which will probably have the effect of making the competitions into which they were included much better fought out than was at first anticipated, when the entries tentatively closed. In the senior doubles the Riverside Boat Club of Boston will send H. H. Livingston, bow, and W. Faulkner, stroke, while in the intermediate doubles the New York Athletic Club will have representation in W. Carroll, bow, and E. J. Mordaunt, stroke.

Louis A Peterson of the West Side B. C. of Buffalo, an organization formed a year ago, will be a starter in the junior singles. It was announced that the junior four-oared gig crew of the Staten Island B. C. had been withdrawn because of the illness of one of the quartet. There are still four crews left in the race, and a keen contest is anticipated.

The best entry obtained is in the junior singles, for which seven have been nominated. The New York A. C. boats which will be used in the races arrived at the Nassau B. C. house yesterday, and the Winged Foot men will finish their training for the regatta during the week over the Speedway course.

INDIANAPOLIS SPEED TESTS.

Auto Drivers in Final Preparation for 500-Mile Race.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 25.—Final preparations for the third annual 500-mile automobile race, to be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Memorial Day, were started at the speedway today. The electrical timing devices had a thorough test, and the arrangements for scoring the drivers, who must circle the 2½-mile brick track 200 times to complete the distance, were practiced by the men who will have that work to look after during the race.

It was estimated that fully 15,000 persons watched the drivers give their cars the preliminary speed tests. Each machine entered must be able to make at least seventy-five miles an hour, and there is not a car that will contest that cannot better this record by several miles.

The race this year will assume an international aspect, as several foreign-made cars are entered. England, Germany, France, and Italy will be represented with one or more cars each and will be piloted by the best drivers of Europe. Among the better known foreign drivers at the track are Jules Goux, Paul Zucarrelli, Albert Guyot, and Theodore Pilette. There are so many foreigners at the speedway this year that the management has installed an interpreter to look after their wants.

N. Y. Motor Boat Club Races.

Commodore C. F. Chapman of the New York Motor Boat Club and his brother flag officers were congratulated yesterday by the members and guests upon the success of their continuous performance plan of opening the club for the season. The ceremonies began on Saturday with the hoisting of the flag and saluting it at 5 P. M. In the evening there was dancing in the new pavilion just completed, and all day yesterday boats were being put in commission.

SUBSCRIPTION RACE DRAW.

Forty Two-Year-Olds Expected to Start in Elimination Trials.

The committee, consisting of Thomas Hitchcock, Harry Payne Whitney, Joseph E. Davis, and Paul D. Cravath, which has charge of the arrangements for the races for the fifty two-year-old thoroughbreds which were distributed by lot last Fall, and which are to be raced at Piping Rock this year for purses aggregating $30,000, on Saturday superintended the drawing for the first and second elimination trials, which take place on the first day of the Spring meeting at Piping Rock, Thursday, June 5. On that day the two divisions compete in two elimination trials. There will be a purse of $2,500 for each division. On the second day of the meeting, Saturday, June 7, there will be a race for a consolation purse of $2,500 for the two-year-olds which are not placed in the eliminations. On the third day of the meeting Monday, June 9, the eight two-year-olds which are placed in the elimination trials held on the first day of the meeting will compete for a purse of $10,000.

McLOUGHLIN IN FORM.

Tennis Champion Plays Good Tennis on Westchester Courts.

America's representatives in the Davis Cup tennis matches changed the base of their operations yesterday from the West Side courts to the Country Club of Westchester. Maurice E. McLoughlin, the National singles champion, defeated T. R. Pell in three straight sets, 6—4, 6—4, 6—4. The Californian then took Pell as a partner and won a hard-fought four-set match from Harold H. Hackett and Raymond D. Little by the scores of 6—3, 6—4, 6—3, 6—3.

A big gallery greeted the players in the singles match and the improvement of McLoughlin was apparent from the start. He played with more confidence and showed more strength and variety in his service. Pell gave the champion a hard battle and never let up throughout the three sets. He kept McLoughlin busy in all parts of the court, and gave the champion the best practice he has had since his arrival in New York.

In the doubles contest McLoughlin and Pell played an excellent game, and led the Davis Cup doubles representatives through the four sets. Hackett and Little covered the court well and devoted most of their energies to team work. The display was an encouraging one for the international matches.

Mrs. Douglas and Gustave F. Touchard, handicapped at minus 15, defeated Miss Adee and E. P. Leonard in an exhibition match, 7—5, 3—6, 7—5.

Hall Takes Bronx Tennis Title.

Walter Merrill Hall defeated J. F. Condon in the final round for the Bronx men's singles championship yesterday on the courts of the Bedford Park Tennis Club. The match was an easy one for the Seventh Regiment champion, who captured the title in three straight sets. The doubles went to four sets for a decision, R. L. Baggs and S. H. Voshell defeating P. Mead and Arthur Lovibond 7—9, 6—4, 6—1, 6—4, in the final round. The winners were outplayed in the first set, but showed better form as the match progressed, and won the next three sets in succession. The summary:

Bronx Championship, Men's Singles—Final Round.—Walter M. Hall defeated J. F. Condon, 6—4, 6—1, 6—3.

Men's Doubles—First Round.—Skinner and Ostendorf defeated Childs and Lord, 6—4, 1—6, 6—2.

Semi-final Round.—Baggs and Voshell defeated Skinner and Ostendorf, 3—6, 6—2, 6—1.

Final Round.—Baggs and Voshell defeated Mead and Lovibond, 7—9, 6—4, 6—1, 6—4.

Kings County Wins Team Match.

The Marine and Field Club opened the tennis season on the club courts at Bath Beach yesterday in a team match with the Kings County Tennis Club. Seven matches were played, four in singles and three in doubles. The Kings County players captured the four singles and one double, giving them the victories by 5 matches to 2. Several of the matches required three sets to reach a decision. The most interesting contest was in the doubles between Cummings and Hazard of the Marine and Field and Allen and Langden of the Kings County, the former winning two sets to one, the first and third reaching deuce. The summaries:

Singles.—H. Mollenaur, Kings County, defeated M. Noble, Marine and Field, 6—4, 6—4; F. G. Anderson, Kings County, defeated A. W. Warken, Marine and Field, 6—4, 6—3; E. McCarrell, Kings County, defeated P. Cumings, Marine and Field, 6—4, 4—6, 6—3; C. Chambers, Kings County, defeated Reginald Wood, Marine and Field, 6—1, 7—9, 6—3.

Doubles.—Cummings and Hazard, Marine and Field, defeated Allen and Langden, Kings County, 8—10, 6—2, 8—6; Wood and Noble, Marine and Field, defeated Balse and Anderson, Kings County, 6—3, 6—3; Tomley and Dwight, Kings County, defeated Lewis and Bailey, Marine and Field, 6—3, 2—6, 8—6.

PASTIME'S RACE IS VOID.

Spectators Break Through Lines and Prevent Checking of Winners.

With an army of 196 starters yesterday in the four-mile road race of the Pastime Athletic Club, which was the introductory event held by the old-time organization from its new quarters at Jerome Avenue and 162d Street, the contest was practically declared void after two men had finished because the vast crowd of spectators bored in through the police lines and thereby nullified the efforts of the officials in the matter of properly checking off the respective winners.

NOTES OF THE GOLFERS.

Now that Jerome D. Travers has won the metropolitan amateur golf championship for the third year in succession and the fifth time in the course of his brilliant career, and the team of American professionals has sailed away in quest of foreign honors, other golf events will be given more attention. For the next two weeks or so the women of this district will occupy a considerable portion of the limelight.

There will be the invitation tournament for men at Tuxedo on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, with Travers and Kirkby entered. To-day the members of the New York Newspaper Golf Club will have a foursomes tournament at Wykagyl. There will be the holiday on Friday with a fine chance the day following for a lot of golf.

The annual meeting of the Sound Beach Golf and Country Club will be held on Monday, June 2, in the clubhouse. Four Governors will be elected for a term of three years. Mortimer B. Foster, James W. White, and Lucius R. Merritt have been named to succeed themselves, while Leonard E. Ware is slated to succeed Dutton O. Wright.

One of the features of the season at the Apawamis Club will be a competition for the Stayers' Cup, presented by J. Temple Gwathmey. Conditions provide for the six players having the lowest aggregate net scores for the three thirty-six-hole medal play handicap events on May 30, July 4, and Sept. 1 to play an additional thirty-six holes on Sept. 6, handicap conditions.

KOLEHMAINEN LOSES RUN BY SIX YARDS

Big Handicap Beats Olympic Champion at the Post Office Clerks' Games.

Hannes Kolehmainen, the Olympic champion long-distance runner, was defeated yesterday in a three-mile handicap run at the Post Office Clerks' games at Celtic Park, Long Island City. The defeat of the wonderful Finn came as a great surprise to the 10,000 spectators who witnessed the race. His vanquisher was J. McNamara of the Irish-American A. C., who received a handicap of 150 yards on the champion and secured the verdict by about six yards.

Although Kolehmainen was suffering from lameness, he ran a splendid race and finished within 5 1-5 seconds of the record for the distance, made by George V. Bonhag at Travers Island two years ago.

Half a dozen of the fastest middle-distance runners in the East competed in the Derby at 880 yards. The list included J. E. Meredith, University of Pennsylvania; T. Halpin and D. S. Caldwell, Boston A. A.; Homer Baker, New York A. C., and Abel Kiviat and Melvin W. Sheppard, Irish-American A. C. The men kept well together for the first lap, with McHugh of the Pastimes in the lead, but on the final lap McHugh dropped back and Meredith and Kiviat took up the running, with Baker in close attendance. The Pennsylvania crack made his run in the last quarter, and, drawing away from Baker and Kiviat, won by seven yards. Halpin came strong in the final century, but failed to catch Baker by three yards. Kiviat was unplaced.

The 1,000-yard handicap run went to J. Peese of the Mount Vernon High School, who was placed on the fifty-five-yard mark. Peese made such good use of his lead that he won by several yards from J. Power of the Boston A. A., who received thirteen yards start. The summaries:

90-Yard Dash, Handicap.—Won by E. Vester, unattached, (6 yards;) J. McKeon, Presentation A. C., (7 yards,) second; I. Glass, Sheridan A. C., (6½ yards,) third. Time—0:09.

One-Mile Run, Novice.—Won by M. Gertz, unattached; H. Seeman, Presentation A. C., second; A. Huntermark, Brooklyn Evening High School, third. Time—4:49 3-5.

600-Yard Run, Handicap, Catholic Athletic League.—Won by A. Lockwood, Ozanam Association, (18 yards;) T. Murphy, Ozanam Association, (15 yards,) second; J. Waldron, Knights of St. Anthony, (15 yards,) third. Time—1:14 3-5.

300-Yard Run, Handicap.—Won by F. Loehr, Hoboken Turners, (14 yards;) F. Houlihan, Paulist A. C., (12 yards,) second; W. Meanix, Colby College, (12 yards,) third. Time—0:32 3-5.

One-and-One-Half-Mile Walk, Handicap.—Won by T. Neundorfer, New York A. C., (25 yards;) K. F. Hearn, New York A. C., (45 yards,) second; J. Morrison, Long Island A. C., (45 yards,) third. Time—10:59.

220-Yard Dash, Handicap, Postal Employes.—Won by C. Nicholson, Foreign Post Office, (6 yards;) A. Dougherty, Station W, (scratch,) second; W. McLaughlin, Paterson, N. J., (5 yards,) third. Time—0:23 2-5.

Five-Mile Bicycle Race, Handicap.—Won by Lester Bowker, Glencoe A. C., (175 yards;) T. J. Murphy, Empire City Wheelmen, (55 yards,) second; T. A. Kennedy, Empire City Wheelmen, (70 yards,) third. Time—15:27.

880-Yard Run, Post Office Clerks' Derby, Scratch.—Won by J. E. Meredith, University of Pennsylvania; Homer Baker, New York A. C., second; T. Halpin, Boston A. A., third. Time—1:56 4-5.

1,000-Yard Run, Handicap.—Won by J. Peese, Mount Vernon H. S., (55 yards;) J. Power, Boston A. A., (13 yards,) second; J. Rosenbaum, Glencoe A. C., (40 yards,) third. Time—2:12 4-5.

One-Mile Run, Handicap, Postal Employes.—Won by B. Masterson, Pennsylvania Terminal Station, (60 yards;) E. Eisenring, Tremont Station, (65 yards,) second; F. Albertus, General Post Office, (50 yards,) third. Time—4:50 1-5.

Three-Mile Run, Handicap.—Won by J. McNamara, Irish-American A. C., (150 yards;) H. Kolehmainen, Irish-American A. C., (scratch,) second; T. Barden, Irish-American A. C., (175 yards,) third. Time—14:36.

Running Hop, Step, and Jump, Handicap.—Won by P. O'Connor, Pastime A. C., (1 foot 6 inches,) distance 47 feet 2 inches; I. Levy, Glencoe A. C., (5 feet,) distance 43 feet 4¾ inches, second; B. Eichell, National A. C., (5 feet,) distance 43 feet 1¾ inches, third.

Throwing the Discus, Handicap, Right and Left Hand.—Won by J. H. Duncan, Bradhurst F. C., (scratch,) distance 247 feet; E. Muller, Irish-American A. C., (scratch,) distance 240 feet ½ inch, second; A. J. Reich, Irish-American A. C., (20 feet,) distance 217 feet 2 inches, third.

Throwing 16-Pound Hammer, Handicap.—Won by Matt McGrath, Irish-American A. C., (scratch,) distance 185 feet 5 inches; P. Ryan, Irish-American A. C., (scratch,) distance 181 feet 5 inches, second; B. F. Sherman, unattached, (30 feet,) distance 147 feet 10 inches, third.

Tennis Cracks at Longwood.

BOSTON, May 25.—The courts of the Longwood Cricket Club will be the practice ground for the next two days of members of both the Australian and American teams, which are to meet in the preliminary tie for the Davis Cup. While they will not oppose each other, nor play in the same matches, players of both teams will be in action. Capt. R. N. Doust of the Antipodean team will meet either Horace Rice or J. H. Jones of his own team in a singles event to-morrow, immediately following which R. N. Williams of the American team and Beals C. Wright, a former internationalist, will play N. W. Niles and A. S. Dabney in a doubles affair.

"Everything for the Car Owner"

That is the slogan of the new shop for motorists, the Auto Center. It means just what it says. And not only is there everything but also many different kinds of everything.

Apparel for instance—you, or your wife, can fit yourself completely from top to toe in the latest motor togs, imported or domestic as you please. Tires? You have fifteen makes to choose from. And so it goes.

Auto Center

is the consumation of an idea that many New York motorists have devoutly wished for. Centrally located, with a stock remarkable alike for its size and diversity, you do your auto shopping here with a minimum outlay in time and energy.

In connection with the Auto Center is maintained the Metropolitan Car Owners Service which meets a long felt want. This service, which is operated day and night, includes towing, light and heavy repairs, upholstering, refinishing, storage, etc., etc. Its services are available anywhere within 75 miles of Broadway and 42nd Street.

The next time you are in the neighborhood visit the Auto Center, entire second floor of the Longacre Building. Look for the red window displays.

SING SING OBSOLETE, SAYS PRISON BOARD

NEED OF NEW INSTITUTION

Even Great Meadow Plant Will Not Meet Situation That Confronts State, Report Points Out.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 25.—The eighteenth annual report of the State Commission of Prisons says the State is in need of another large prison in addition to the new one being built at Comstock, and that Sing Sing, in its present condition, is not a fit place in which to confine human beings.

The commission urges that Sing Sing be rehabilitated or a new prison be constructed at Wingdale or elsewhere. When Gov. Dix stopped the Wingdale work it had cost the State $445,566, and damages claimed under contracts amounted to $149,472 more.

"Under the plans selected," the commission says, "the prison yard of this plant consisted approximately of thirty acres, and the commission determined to place the plant in a large meadow adjacent to the Harlem Railroad, building the cell house and administration building at an elevation of eleven feet above the rails on the railroad, which would make the first floor of the cell house fifteen feet above the railroad tracks."

The commission cites two reasons why Great Meadow Prison, even when it is completed, will not take the place of Sing Sing. Approximately 90 per cent. of the prisoners sent to Sing Sing are from New York City, and Great Meadow Prison is too remote, being 214 miles from New York City.

The population of the State prisons has increased 1,281 in the last ten years and 1,180 since 1906, the year it was determined by the Legislature to build a new plant to take the place of Sing Sing. This increase will fill Great Meadow Prison and leave the need of another institution.

"It is unthinkable that the State of New York will continue to use indefinitely the prison plant at Sing Sing in its present condition," says the report, "and the commission believes that it is the clear duty of the Legislature to provide a modern and sanitary prison either at Sing Sing or elsewhere." The urgency of the proposition is to be brought to the attention of Gov. Sulzer in the hope that he will recommend needed legislation in the matter at the extraordinary session of the Legislature next month.

The less expensive plan of remodeling Sing Sing is favored by the majority of the Commissioners. A new cell block of wider cells for the accommodation of 1,200 prisoners is necessary, the Commissioners say.

"Some years ago there was an excellent prison plant in Brooklyn, known as the Kings County Penitentiary," says the report. "The Legislature was persuaded by real estate interests in that general locality to pass a mandatory law requiring this penitentiary to be discontinued and dismantled, the site sold and the proceeds devoted to building a new penitentiary on Riker's Island. The dismantling of this institution proceeded with alacrity, but practically nothing has been done toward the construction of a new one in its place. The removal to Blackwell's Island of all the prisoners formerly sent to the Kings County Penitentiary has greatly congested that institution. Most of the cells are small and antiquated, and yet at certain seasons of the year they have to be occupied by two persons each.

"The city charter forbids the erection of any buildings for prison use on Blackwell's Island. This provision was in contemplation of the removal of all penal institutions from this island. Either the charter should be amended and the present prison plant enlarged and modernized at its present location, or a new plant be constructed elsewhere as formerly contemplated."

PURSUING GRAFTERS AGAIN.

Grand Jury on Trail to Headquarters—Sulzer Takes Hold.

Gov. Sulzer and District Attorney Whitman will hold a conference in this city on Wednesday regarding the condition of the Police Department in this city. Gov. Sulzer began a study of police affairs several weeks ago, but delayed it temporarily when the charges of bribery against State Senator Stephen J. Stilwell came up.

The conviction on Saturday in the Stilwell case has cleared the way both for the Governor and the District Attorney. Gov. Sulzer will come here on Wednesday, and on the following day a new graft trial will begin. This is the case of Sergt. Peter J. Duffy, a former attaché of Inspector Sweeney. Duffy is accused of collecting graft from several Harlem resorts.

The Grand Jury will resume to-day an investigation which takes it directly into Police Headquarters. Unusual precautions have been taken to keep secret the particular suspect which the Grand Jury will consider first, but it has been rumored that the evidence to be presented to-day involves a high police official.

MRS. POOLER LOST GEMS.

Two Jeweled Bracelets Vanished During Shopping Trip Here.

When Mrs. Louis J. Pooler of 140 West Fifty-fourth Street came to town ten days ago from her country home at Tuxedo Park she wore two bracelets, one set with diamonds and the other with diamonds and sapphires. She came here to shop and visited, among other places, a dressmaker in Fifth Avenue, where she took off the bracelets during a fitting.

Mrs. Pooler left the dressmaker's in a hurry to keep a dentist's appointment downtown. Late in the afternoon she went to her home in Fifty-fourth Street. While dressing for the theatre she missed her bracelets. She remembered taking them off at the dressmaker's, but was not sure whether she had them when she left there. Inquiries at the places she visited during the day failed to disclose the jewels, and yesterday she notified the Detective Bureau of the East Fifty-first Street police station of her loss.

NOTABLES ON CARMANIA.

Prince and Princess del Drago Back—Knight Who Opposes Suffragists.

Among the passengers arriving yesterday from Liverpool on the Cunard liner Carmania were Prince and Princess Giovanni del Drago, who were down on the passenger list as plain Mr. and Mrs. G. del Drago. The Princess was formerly Mrs. Josephine Schmid, widow of August Schmid, founder of the Lion Brewery. She was left a fortune of several millions, and married the Prince May 22, 1909, in Brooklyn. She was 50 and he was 27 at the time of the wedding. They have been spending the Winter in Rome.

Sir Ralph Anstruther, Bart, come over to attend the conference of the Canadian Explosives Company in Montreal this coming week. He is a Director of it. He is the Convenor of Fifeshire, and proprietor of the estates of Balhaskie and Watten and Colonel of the Seventh Battalion of the Black Watch Highlanders. Sir Walter G. Buchanan, also on the Carmania, has been a member of the House of Representatives in New Zealand for thirty years. He spent six months in Great Britain, and is now on his way home via Vancouver. With regard to the suffrage agitation in England Sir Walter said he did not think the Government was handling the militants as firmly as it ought to.

"Do you think they ought to have the vote?" he was asked.

"No, I do not. If one section of the community was allowed to gain its ends by violent means, it would be an incentive for other sections to follow its example."

LEAPS FROM CARMANIA.

Coal Trimmer Given Up After a Long Search.

When the Cunarder Carmania arrived yesterday afternoon from Liverpool, Capt. J. T. W. Charles reported that Frederick J. Danks, a coal trimmer, 24 years old, had jumped overboard on May 22, and was lost, although every effort was made to save him. He was seen by Miss A. L. Day, a second-cabin passenger, and also by a fireman, who had put his head out of the port of the fan room to get a little air. He was nearly hit by the body of the falling man.

A boat was launched and went away with eight seamen and First Officer Grier in command, but after forty minutes' tossing in the rough sea the Captain signalled the officers to return, as the sea was getting rougher and the wind freshening to a stiff gale.

From the papers in his kitbag, Danks, who, according to Purser Clark, was a well-educated man, had been a non-commissioned officer in the British army in Egypt, and had also been the steward of a soldiers' club in Alexandria.

Capt. Charles had to join the Carmania at an hour's notice on account of Capt. James Barr's having to go to the Laconia.

RUNAWAY SMASHES AHEAD.

Breaks Up Taxicab and Wagon; Hits Auto and Sight-Seeing Car.

A runaway horse, dragging an express wagon after him, made a rapid journey late yesterday afternoon from the Pennsylvania Station at Seventh Avenue and Thirty-first Street to Fifth Avenue and Thirty-second Street. When it was over he had delivered a fore-and-aft raking to a taxicab, struck a sight-seeing automobile, nearly overturning it, and shaken up the occupants of a touring car on Fifth Avenue. Incidentally, he accomplished the complete destruction of the wagon he was attached to, and put the nerves of several hundred pedestrians on edge.

Frederick Vogt of 2,051 Eighth Avenue was the driver. He said the runaway started when his horse was flicked by the whip of a passing rig while he was standing in Seventh Avenue. As the horse took the curve east into Thirty-first Street on two wheels, Vogt jumped and escaped injury. The taxicab was standing in front of 151 West Thirty-first Street. The runaway let it off with a broken windshield, a shattered lamp, and the loss of much paint on the starboard side. The sight-seeing auto was standing empty on Broadway. The express wagon lurched into it, nearly overturning it, but the main damage was to the wagon.

The touring car was going south in Fifth Avenue just as the runaway reached that thoroughfare. The two came together at a lively clip, and the impact swung the horse north on the avenue with what was left of the wagon. Sergt. John Conroy of the West Thirtieth Street Station ran into the runaway's path and seized the bridle. He was carried off his feet, but by the time Thirty-second Street was reached he had regained his balance and brought the animal to a stop. In the last machine to be struck were Mrs. Elizabeth Daly and her two daughters of 459 West Thirty-fourth Street, with the chauffeur. The two Misses Daly were thrown against their mother, but no one was hurt. The machine was only slightly damaged.

STILWELL EATING WELL.

Loses No Meals on Account of His Conviction for Bribery.

Stephen J. Stilwell, State Senator from the Bronx, who was convicted of bribery Saturday, denied himself to visitors at the Tombs yesterday and refused to make a statement to the newspapers. His counsel, Robert M. Moore, did not call on him yesterday, but from Mr. Moore's assurances that there were good grounds of appeal the convicted legislator derived some comfort, and he was able to eat three large meals with apparent relish.

Immediately after sentence is pronounced on Wednesday morning Mr. Moore will ask for a certificate of reasonable doubt, which would give Stilwell freedom on bail until his case had been passed upon by a higher court.

One of the leading points which Mr. Moore will argue in his appeal for a new trial is the exclusion of testimony regarding the conversation of Senator Stilwell with Patrick J. McGrath, Chairman of the Assembly Codes Committee. Senator Stilwell saw Assemblyman McGrath on a train for Albany on March 27, and said that he had heard that members of the Codes Committee had been attempting to "hold up" President Kendall of the New York Bank Note Company. The defense contended that this remark of Stilwell's showed that his own intentions were innocent, and Mr. Moore insists that Justice Seabury was mistaken in excluding the testimony as self-serving, for the reason that the words were spoken by the Senator before any accusation had been made against him.

Mr. Moore also holds that Assistant District Attorney Nott committed prejudicial errors when he told the jury that Gov. Sulzer had asked for the prosecution of the case and when he denounced the Senate for failing to expel Stilwell.

COLORED MEN IN NAVY.

Secretary Daniels Denies Any Discrimination Against Them.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, now in command of the Atlantic fleet, have completed an investigation of the charge of discrimination in the navy against colored enlisted men, and find that the charge is unwarranted, as there is no evidence of discrimination.

When 6,000 men of the navy paraded here last Fall and no colored men were seen in line, some of the negro leaders here concluded that the negro enlisted men were not permitted to parade. Cleveland G. Allen of 252 West Fifty-third Street, representing the various complainants, wrote to Secretary Daniels in April, calling his attention to the alleged discrimination, and suggesting that a way to avoid similar conditions in future might be in having some warships manned entirely by colored men, commanded by white officers.

To have ships manned by colored men, the Secretary and Admiral agree, would be "inadvisable and impracticable." Secretary Daniels has sent a letter to Allen, inclosing with it a report from Admiral Badger. The letter says:

> My Dear Sir: Referring further to your letter of April 12, complaining of alleged discrimination against colored enlisted men in the naval service, I inclose for your information a copy of a communication received from the commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, to whom your letter was referred. The department believes with Admiral Badger that you are misinformed as to the conditions of colored men in the navy, and further concurs with him as to the inadvisability and impracticability of having ships of the navy manned entirely by colored enlisted men commanded by white officers.

Rear Admiral Badger's investigation covers a report of two typewritten pages. He says the only colored men in the navy are those employed as "messmen," and while there are also some white men in that department, none are permitted to parade. The men who parade are those composing the deck and gun crews. The Admiral denies that the colored men are forbidden to use the reading room aboard ship.

Should be taught the lesson of conservatism by example. Invest for them some of your surplus dollars in thoroughly high-grade bonds. Let them cut the coupons on the first day of every semi-annual interest period. This will make upon their minds a lasting impression as to the wisdom of always investing money conservatively. Then, when they have reached the years of discretion, they will know how best to safeguard the fruits of your labors, as well as the dollars which they accumulate for themselves.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION IN AMERICA AND EUROPE

The fact that subscriptions to last week's New York City bond sale were as large as they were—$76,000,000 on an offering of $45,000,000—shows that a good deal of capital is available at a price. The fact that the subscriptions were not very much larger than they were places municipal borrowers and all other borrowers under caution to limit their demands upon the money market as much as possible. In considering the response made to this offering it must be recognized that a certain number of the large bids which helped to swell the subscriptions to a figure largely in excess of the amount of the issue were practically protecting bids. For some of them were put in by those who did not really desire to add to their city bond holdings, though anxious to assure the success of the new issue and incidentally to uphold the market for outstanding issues. Thus it happened that some of those who put in large bids for the bonds at par were not buyers the next day when the bonds freely sold at that price. But none of those who bid for the bonds at par were allotted any, the subscriptions, at some premium, being more than sufficient to absorb all the bonds. Even after allowing, however, for this phase of the bidding, the fact remains that there was a good deal of money in the market awaiting investment. There were some speculative bids put in, and these it seemed were largely responsible for the break which subsequently occurred in the price of the bonds, but these were a relatively small part of the total. The liquidation of allotments made on such bids afforded an opportunity which investors were quick to profit by. Abroad speculative subscriptions to attractive investment offerings run up to much larger totals than is usual in this market, and so it is also necessary to make proper allowance for this factor in considering the very great success of the international Chinese loan. In some markets those bonds were oversubscribed as much as twenty times, and none of the bidders got more than a small part of the amount they applied for. But here again, after all proper allowances have been made, the conclusion is plain that funds are available, which can be obtained by the offer of attractive terms. Thus it may be said that last week's financing has put a better aspect on the bond market, although no such aspect as to warrant, if that be ever warranted, too free resort to the capital market by borrowers of high or low degree. Since the severe liquidation of some weeks ago, which carried bond prices downward with unwonted severity, there has been a good deal of quiet absorption. This has steadied the market for many issues, although the tendency of prices in some quarters of the list has still been downward. It was learned last week that practically all of the St. Paul bonds which had been left in the hands of the issuing bankers had been placed with investors. This was another incident affording proof of the gradual improvement of the bond market.

Something analogous to this has been going on in the stock market. Incidents of a disappointing kind and the continued discussion of some of the broad factors of adverse import which have been much in the mind of the financial community for a long time past began, it seemed, a while ago to lose efficacy in the direction of further depressing prices. The resistance which the market as a whole showed early last week suggested some such inference and carried the indication that stocks were in a position to rise with a good deal of ease on any event which offered definite encouragement. Such a movement appeared toward the close of the week, but on general considerations rather than on any specific favorable developments. The action of the market, particularly on Saturday, indicated a pretty thoroughly liquidated situation in which no great effort was required to move prices up with some rapidity. Much was made, it is true, of reports regarding the Union Pacific situation, of rumors, specifically, that a plan had been formulated which had received the approval not only of the Union and Southern Pacific interests, but also of the Attorney General and the California Railroad Commission. These reports went far beyond anything for which basis was found in the information available in authoritative quarters. None the less they were used with much effect in the stock market. It is far from being clear that a way has been found to overcome the difficulties which were encountered in the attempt to arrange a transfer of the Central Pacific from the Southern Pacific to the Union Pacific, and no assurances were even had that a way satisfactory to the Union Pacific Railroad had been found for disposing of the road's holdings of Southern Pacific stock. Indeed, the probabilities seem to be directly opposite to the reports which were freely accepted by the stock market. The fact that there was an apparent lack of any authoritative basis for these Union Pacific reports and that they were none the less so effective in helping along the rise in prices on the Stock Exchange seems to throw a good deal of light on the position into which the market had moved. It had for a long period with few interruptions been declining under the influence of a number of factors, some of them actually operative but others merely foreseen by the market, and a stage had been reached at which—trading having fallen to a very low ebb—prices as a whole resisted sullenly efforts to depress them further. Under these circumstances it was natural enough that quotations should have responded to the most aggressive efforts which had been made in a long time to lift the market out of its rut by operations on the long side. Those who participated in this effort had the benefit of a substantial short interest in at least some of the leading issues.

Though originating perhaps very largely in the operations of professional traders, the upward tendency which the market showed may reasonably be regarded as reflecting certain changes for the better in the general situation. The result of the week's financing already referred to was helpful inasmuch as it reflected a much less barren investment position than many had previously assumed. Again, the European situation has undoubtedly changed for the better in recent weeks, with the promise of a fairly speedy return to use of the vast sums which have been hoarded because of fears which happily have been allayed. In this country's foreign trade statement issued last week was supplied another reminder of the highly satisfactory course of our trade with other nations. Whether this record will continue to show the gratifying results which have been reported so far this year depends in no small measure upon the result of the year's farming, and in this respect there is good reason for hopefulness. It is true that the Winter wheat crop seems to have fallen back a little during the past week or ten days, but such deterioration as has occurred has been from the unusually high condition reported early this month. Declines in stock market prices automatically lessen the force of adverse influences, and the emphasis which is being laid on the favorable features of the situation does not, therefore, assume that those factors which have been making for conservatism have been done away with—but, in a stock market sense they are naturally less potent now than when prices were at a much higher level.

With only two more decision days before the Summer recess of the Supreme Court, part of Wall Street was inclined to count on the handing down of the decision in the Minnesota rate case to-day. It was also being assumed in Saturday's stock market operations that the decision would be favorable to the railroads. That, of course, merely reflected the temporary frame of mind of the Street or, perhaps more accurately, the purposes of those who were emphasizing the possibility of a decision favorable to the railways. The fact is that the case is a complex one, and it will not be at all extraordinary should it be found that the decision, when rendered, will be regarded as a several-sided one.

LONDON AWAITS A LEAD.

Speculators Are Timid, and Stock Exchange Business Is Dead.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, May 25.—The week on the Stock Exchange ended with a little firmer tendency, but, contrary to expectations, business remains at a standstill. Experts are nonplussed. They agree that there is no further need for anxiety regarding the Balkan outlook, the intrigues among the allies being a matter of local concern, while the position with regard to money is steadily improving; the bank reserve will soon exceed that of last year, when the Bank rate was 3 per cent., and an early reduction of the rate is certain. The truth is that the ordinary speculator is unnerved by months of disagreeable scares, and will not venture until he gets a strong lead, which is not forthcoming.

Another factor producing general weakness is the glut of new issues, which not only divert the investment of money from the Stock Exchange but, owing to the fact that they are usually unsuccessful, result in a large number of "undigested securities," which remain to overhang and depress the markets. The Chinese loan has been an exception; it was oversubscribed twelve times, applicants for less than $1,500 receiving nothing.

There is little doubt that the underlying weakness of American securities has largely contributed to the general depression here.

PARIS FEARS FOR RENTES.

Thinks $160,000,000 Loan Will Depress National Securities.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, May 25.—The Bourse displayed a definite tendency last week. The foreign political situation ceased to play a rôle. Operators appear to be waiting for a good lead, and are meanwhile following day by day any movement which forecasts a rally in any special group.

Salient features were the advance of French rentes early in the week and the firmness of some Russian industrials, while Rios sagged all the week, following Wall Street reports.

The scheme of M. Dumont, the Minister of Finance, for a loan of $160,000,000, while praised by economists, is not at all well received on the Bourse, where it is considered too complicated and impracticable, especially in view of its effect upon small investors. Moreover, references to an income tax are interpreted as affecting French rentes, and despite the Ministerial declarations concerning the safeguarding of rente coupons and the national funds, these declined again in consequence.

The market remains sound, and there is a general optimistic feeling that a settlement in the Balkans is near. Operators predict a rally and a renewal of activity in the near future.

MONEY SCARCE IN BERLIN.

Heavy Slump in St. Louis-San Francisco Bonds Disturbs

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 25.—The stock market continued under pressure during the week, owing to the money stringency and the heavy slump in St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad bonds, which are largely held in Germany.

The money market improved somewhat, however, through discounting operations of foreign banks. Home supplies were also more abundant because of the postponement of the payments on the Prussian Treasury loan.

The general feeling in regard to money prospects remains pessimistic.

FOR A "FREE PORT" HERE.

Merchants' Association Sounding Public Sentiment on Subject.

"The advisability of establishing a "free port" in this city, similar to the famous free port of Hamburg, has been taken up by the Merchants' Association of New York. The question has been laid before the members of the association by its Committee on Foreign Trade, and if a general sentiment in its favor is found to exist the committee probably will recommend that the association endeavor to have provision made for it in the tariff law. Consideration of the matter is especially opportune at this time, while the tariff is in process of revision.

A free port is a neutral customs zone to which goods may be imported without payment of duty so long as they do not cross the boundary of the free port. In this city it would be an inclosure where imported goods might be discharged, then repacked, sorted, mixed, or otherwise treated without payment of duty. The goods might then be either stored or sent to foreign countries, such as the South American republics. Of course, if shipped to the interior they would have to pass through the Custom House. Samples and stocks of goods on consignment might be held in the limits of the free port without payment of duty, and manufacturers for the export trade might there receive imported raw material duty free.

The suggestion that it might be advantageous to establish a free port here came from members of the Merchants' Association who are familiar with the benefits of the free ports of Hamburg and Rotterdam. These suggestions are being considered by the Foreign Trade Committee, which consists of Paul Fuller, Jr., Chairman; Lucius R. Eastman, Jr., E. A. De Lima, C. F. Gregory, J. A. Terry, Gustav Vintschger, Silas D. Webb, Thomas H. Downing, and William H. Douglas.

In order to ascertain the views of the members of the association the committee has addressed a letter to each of them asking for an expression. If the plan is favorably received the committee will give hearings, after which it will make its report to the Directors of the association.

TAKE UP R. R. VALUATION.

Matter Will Occupy Much Time of Commerce Commission.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Physical valuation of railroads, authorized by Congress at the late session for use in connection with ratemaking, will occupy much of the time of the Inter-State Commerce Commission at a series of conferences which will be begun to-morrow in an effort to clear the commission's calendar for the Summer recess. At the conferences, which will continue for three or four weeks, administrative work, particularly with reference to the physical valuation of railroads, will be mapped out; decisions will be reached as to pending cases, and opinions already prepared will be discussed and passed upon.

The commission will confer next Tuesday with a committee of railroad Presidents upon certain phases of the physical valuation work. The officials have expressed their willingness to co-operate in the preparation of the data required, and Tuesday's conference will serve simply to determine the character and extent of the work.

It is expected that in a few days the commission will make some announcement concerning the application of the Eastern roads for hearings as to their request for an increase of 5 per cent. in freight rates.

Higher Income from Oil Stock.

Stockholders of the Galena Signal Oil Company who participated in the recent stock dividend are likely to receive a greater return on their present holdings than they did before, even though the dividend rate has been lowered 4 per cent. a year. This statement is based on the assumption that the company intended the latest dividend declaration of 3 per cent. to be an initial quarterly payment. On the $8,000,000 old stock dividends aggregating 16 per cent. a year were paid, or $1,280,000 all told. The 50 per cent. stock dividend brought the outstanding shares up to $12,000,000 in par value, and a return at the rate of 12 per cent. means the disbursement of $1,440,000. The 3 per cent. declaration was accompanied, however, by an extra distribution of 1 per cent., and predictions were quickly forthcoming in the Street after the dividend was made known that the enlarged capital will shortly be receiving as high a rate as was paid before the melon was cut.

MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS.

OFFICE OF THE NEW YORK CENTRAL AND HUDSON RIVER RAILROAD CO.

Albany, N. Y., May 14, 1913.

Notice is hereby given that a special meeting of the stockholders of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company has been called and will be held at the company's principal office in the Union Depot, in the City of Albany, N. Y., on Monday, the 16th day of June, 1913, at twelve o'clock noon, for the purpose of considering, voting upon, and consenting to the execution by that company of separate mortgages:

(1) Extending the lien of the mortgage executed by the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company to Central Trust Company of New York, Trustee, dated June 1, 1897, to cover the railroads formerly of companies recently consolidated with or merged into that railroad company, the leases of which were subject to said mortgage.

(2) To secure the payment of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company's 3½ per cent. gold bonds, Lake Shore collateral, its 3½ per cent. gold bonds, Michigan Central collateral, its thirty-year 4 per cent. gold debentures of 1904, and its thirty-year 4 per cent. gold debentures of 1912, and also to secure 4 per cent. bonds issuable only in exchange for such collateral bonds and debentures.

(3) To secure refunding and improvement bonds for corporate purposes of the company or of a successor corporation, to the amount and in the manner more fully set forth in the circular letter to stockholders dated May 14, 1913.

By order of the Board of Directors.
DWIGHT W. PARDEE, Secretary.

Dayton, Ohio

Municipal 5% Bonds

Dated May 1, 1913. Due serially May 1, 1923 to 1932.
Interest payable semi-annually, May 1st and November 1st, in New York. Coupon bonds which the City may exchange for fully registered certificates. Denomination $1,000

Legal Investment for Savings Bank and Trust Funds in New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and other States, and eligible to secure United States Postal Savings Bank Deposits.

Net Debt Less than 3½% of the Assessed Valuation

Dayton is one of the leading municipalities of the middle West. It is the natural location for a substantial distributing, commercial and manufacturing city, being situated in the center of an agricultural section, and having the advantages of cheap fuel supplied from the coal fields of Ohio and West Virginia. It is an important manufacturing center, exceptional freight and transportation facilities being furnished by the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, and the Erie Railroad systems.

We recommend these bonds for investment

Price, according to maturity, to Net 4.60%

The Union Trust Company of New York (established in 1864) has for many years made a specialty of Personal Trusts—under Will or under Agreement—and maintains a carefully organized department for handling them.

Many millions of dollars' worth of property—real and personal—have been entrusted to the company by conservative people, residents not only of New York State, but of other states in which the Union Trust Company is authorized to transact business.

Correspondence or interviews with persons considering the formation of trusts of any kind—for themselves or for others—are solicited.

TWO GENERATIONS OF BUSINESS

The Bank of the Metropolis has been in business on Union Square continuously for 42 years. Two generations of business men have come and gone since its doors first opened in 1871. Its growth is shown by the increase in its capital and surplus from $500,000 to $3,100,000.

Its officers will be glad to show merchants and manufacturers locating in the uptown district the banking facilities which the bank of the Metropolis can offer them.

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

Lord & Taylor to Open Later.

On and after June 16 the store of Lord & Taylor will open at 9 A. M. instead of 8:30 o'clock as heretofore. Cards have been placed on the main floor apprising the public of the change. The employes were informed Saturday, when this notice was posted:

> Starting Monday morning, June 16, the store will open to the public at 9 o'clock. In making this announcement the firm calls attention to the fact that it was also the first New York store to announce, some years ago, the opening hour as 8:30 instead of 8 o'clock. Progressiveness like this in all lines is the spirit which is creating the new Lord & Taylor building uptown.

The announcement was received with approbation by the employes, as it meant shortening their workday by half an hour.

Printcloth Trading Improves.

Printcloths moved more actively in the local market last week. The wider ranges were especially in demand, and the price tendency on these goods was strongly upward. Quotations by the Fall River mills were firmly held, and this was responsible in good part for the improved buying here. For June and July delivery there was an excellent call for 39-inch, 68-72s, at 5¼ cents, while the 72-76 construction of the same width was active at 6 cents. Seven cents was the figure asked for 39-inch, 80 squares, while 38½-inch, 64-64s, moved in a big way at 5 cents. The outlook for the present week was thought brighter than for some time. The week's comparative prices follow:

	Open.	Close.
27-inch, 56-56s	3c	3c
27-inch, 64-60s	3¼c	3¼c
28-inch, 64-60s	3½c	3½c
28-inch, 64-64s	3¾c	3¾c
38½-inch, 64-60s	4 13-16c	4 15-16c
38½-inch, 64-64s	4 15-16c	5⅛c
39-inch, 68-72s	5 5-16c	5½c
39-inch, 72-76s	5⅞c	6c

How Another Small Merchant Won.

Apropos the story published in this column recently telling how a small-town merchant had overcome the efforts of the big mail-order houses to corner the business of the place comes the following, along the same line, from a local wholesaler:

> A woman in a small town in Vermont that boasted of but one hardware dealer bought a kitchen range from one of the principal catalogue houses at a figure she considered very reasonable. Soon after it arrived and was set up, however, she began to find defects in it. The oven wouldn't heat properly and the smoke showed more desire to flood the kitchen than to go up the chimney. Hearing these things, in the small-town way, the merchant offered the woman a new range in exchange for the one that was defective. The offer being accepted, the merchant put the mail-order range in a window of his store, with a sign that read like this:
>
> "We have just exchanged this range, bought by Mrs. Jones from Blank & Co. by mail, without charge for a standard 'America' range regularly carried by us. We lost money on the deal, and we will not do it again. Those who don't want to buy two stoves to get one that is good had better come here first when they are ready to spend their money."

⁂

Traffic Club to Meet.

A meeting of the Traffic Club of New York, an organization composed of official representatives of the transportation companies and of the industrial and commercial shippers, will be held to-morrow evening at the Waldorf-Astoria. Resolutions will be offered asking that provision be made for the continuance of the Commerce Court and protesting against the clause of the Sundry Civil bill exempting labor and farm organizations from prosecution under the Sherman law. An amendment to the constitution of the club permitting residence membership for men whose places of business are within fifty miles of New York will be considered also.

⁂

Carpet and Rug Sales Heavy.

The slowing up of business reported from so many quarters since the tariff has been under the knife at Washington is not evident in the floor coverings field. Marshall Field's report of conditions in the Middle West last week told of excellent buying of these lines and expressed a belief that prices, especially on rugs, would not stand long at their present levels. In the East business has been just as active, and W. & J. Sloane, (wholesale,) have been forced by press of orders to withdraw from sale the offerings of one of their accounts. This is unusual so early in the season—prices were named only four weeks ago to-day—and is thought by the trade to presage an excellent season, despite the heavy sales that have been made at auction and the tariff outlook.

Drug Market Easier.

There were no important price advances in the local drug market last week, and there were more declines than seen for some time. Chicle and shellac gums were higher, at 48 and 26 cents a pound, respectively. Opium dropped to $6.35 a pound in jobbing lots, and bay oil was lower at $2.45. Alcohol, 190 proof, U. S. P., was also lower, at $2.46, and balsam tolu declined to 70 cents. Other declines were shown in mastic gum and cocoa butter, bulk, at 60 and 32 cents a pound, respectively. Aside from tariff developments at Washington there was not much new in the chemical market. Yellow prussiate potash was lower, at 16 cents a pound, as was carbolic acid, in drums, at 11½ cents.

LATEST CUSTOM RULINGS.

The Board of United States General Appraisers has overruled a contention made by De Forth Brothers of New York regarding the classification under the Tariff act of 1909 of baked biscuits known in the trade as "zwieback." Collector Loeb held that the biscuit was sweetened, and exacted a high rate of duty under Paragraph 244. The importers asserted that the product was unsweetened and subject to duty at 20 per cent. ad valorem under the first provision of the same paragraph.

The Stone & Downer Company was unsuccessful in a controversy with the Government over the duty to accrue on merchandise invoiced as zinc ammonia chloride. It was returned for duty by the Appraiser at Boston as a chemical compound, duty being taken at the rate of 25 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 3, act of 1909. The article was said to be dutiable under Paragraph 5 as sal ammoniac. An official analysis showed the merchandise to be a double chloride of zinc and ammonia, and not sal ammoniac.

The Southern Bagging Company was defeated in an attempt to obtain free entry for old sugar bags on the plea that the material was used chiefly for papermaking. The assessment of a 10 per cent. duty under the present tariff act as "waste" was affirmed.

HURT THEIR CREDIT BY POOR METHODS

Business Men Who Are Slow in Handling Correspondence Harm Their Standing.

PROMPT ANSWERS WANTED

Merchants Can't Hide Bad Practices, Says National Association of Credit Men.

Promptness in handling correspondence has a definite influence on the credit standing of business men and firms, according to a bulletin now being sent to commercial interests throughout the country by the National Association of Credit Men. The bulletin says:

"Credits are far more important to the general welfare than the average business man appreciates. Credits support commerce. Fully 95 per cent. of the total exchanges from buyer to seller in this country are on credit terms; credits, therefore, have become very extensive and complex.

"The safety of business is dependent on sound credits, and the soundness of credits is dependent on the manner in which the confidence expressed in them is respected. Any failure on the part of a business man to whom a credit is given to appreciate that something is expected of him to preserve its integrity, that an obligation has been created which he must live up to, is an injury to confidence. This obligation involves more than an intention to pay. It presumes that a receiver of a credit is not only honest, but has a respect for good order and system in business, which is one of the best assurances of being able to pay.

"Regard for good order in business is very important in the complexity of the present credit system, for now few sellers meet their customers personally. Credit granting is to-day largely influenced by the manner in which a merchant handles his business routine, and the information regarding a merchant's business methods is derived through exchanges between credit departments and from direct experience.

"The development of co-operation that has made possible extensive credits, has made it impossible for a merchant to persist in bad business practices without the general knowledge of the trade. No bad business practice exerts a more unfavorable influence on the seller or grantor of credit than that the buyer or receiver of credit be negligent or indifferent in the acknowledgement of letters and other communications. Here is the one way which, in the absence of a personal acquaintance, a seller may size up a buyer, and the seller's impressions are largely determined by the promptness and manner with which the buyer handles his correspondence.

"All letters from a creditor, no matter how unimportant they may seem, are entitled to an acknowledgment, especially those that bear on a past due account, the extension of a credit, terms, purchase, and shipments. Again, any information or advice should be asked and rectification of errors brought up by the buyer without delay. Explanation should be made promptly by the buyer if he is unable to fulfill the contract that is expressed or implied in extending him the credit.

"Observance of these points will save unpleasant situations, unnecessary withholding, at times, of confidence and accommodation, and will prevent a distrust that is of necessity created when a sound business rule is not respected."

DEMAND STANDARDIZATION.

Bureau of Municipal Research Would Make It a Campaign Issue.

In a statement issued yesterday by the Bureau of Municipal Research the voters of New York City are urged to make the subject of municipal extravagance a leading issue in the approaching campaign. The bureau asserts that standardization is absolutely imperative in five different fields—salaries, supplies, specifications, contracts, and work done on jobs not only by contractors outside the city government, but by employes and officers within. The statement says:

> Salary standardization is not an iridescent dream. The salaries of 45,000 employes, not already standardized by legislation, as in the cases of the Police, Fire, and School Departments, are being studied by a special staff authorized and financed by the Board of Estimate and supervised by the Controller. These salaries total between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 annually.
>
> Saving in taxes and increased efficiency must come primarily from the use of the city's pay roll, approximately $95,000,000 annually. When several hundred employes were studied it was found that of two men doing the same grade of work one gets $300 and the other gets $1,800; in another class one gets $600 and the other $2,400. Hundreds of similar instances abound in the city service. No one believes in such discrepancies, but to stop them they must be located. This is now being done for 45,000 men and women. It will not be finished by election time, and may not be finished when the new Administration comes in.

The investigation, according to the bureau, will reveal what employes are getting more than they should for the work which they perform and those who are getting less.

Of standardization of supplies the assertion is made that the city ought not to expend under proper supervision next year more than $60,000,000 for coal, butter, oats, hay, fish, and meat, but will probably be called upon to disburse $80,000,000 if the present system is continued.

REVIVES COTTON POOL CASE

The Federal Grand Jury is about to take up again the investigation of the cotton pool of 1909, of which James A. Patten of Chicago was the head. It will seek to find new indictments in conformity with the recent decision of the Supreme Court that in so far as a "corner" withholds commodities from the market it is a breach of the Sherman law. District Attorney Marshall has given his consent to the issuance of subpoenas for witnesses to appear before the Federal Grand Jury this week. Assistant Attorney General McKercher will be in charge of the investigation.

The subpoenas already issued are for well-known bankers and brokers, but the Government authorities refuse to say who has been called upon to come before the Grand Jury. Mr. Marshall says that the Government hopes to be able to obtain sufficient evidence, to reindict Col. Robert M. Thompson of New York, Frank Hayne and William P. Brown of New Orleans, and Eugene M. Scales of Texas for conspiracy in cornering the cotton market and putting up the price of cotton artificially, with the result that they cleared a profit which has been estimated at $10,000,000.

It is understood that the Government will also seek to indict Morris B. Rothschild of Woodsville, Miss., against whom the first indictment was found, which was afterward dropped because it was defective.

CONNECTICUT SEEKS MONEY FOR ROADS

Good Roads Association Charges Politics in the Appropriation Cut—Petition Issued.

There is a hard struggle in progress in Connecticut for an adequate good roads appropriation. Not long ago the Connecticut Good Roads Association promulgated a plan for a bond issue of $5,000,000 to raise money for trunk line highways of the finest and most permanent type of construction to network the State. This proposal has not met with favor in the committee of the Legislature, and the association, through its Legal Committee, of which Charles H. Robinson of New Haven is Chairman, has now issued a petition broadcast in the State, setting forth what it believes to be the political influences which have prevailed in the Legislature and presenting the argument for Connecticut's need of road building. This petition says in part:

"The Senators and Representatives of our State are now to determine whether Connecticut will advance along the line of good roads during the next two years, or whether it will stand still. The Highway Appropriation bill proposed by the Goods Roads Association was rejected by the Committee on Roads, Bridges, and Rivers. Highway Commissioner Bennett offered to the committee a substitute bill, calling for a bond issue in the amount of $5,000,000, and the committee reported unanimously in favor of the Highway Commissioner's bill. This bill appropriates $2,000,000 for the improvement of main trunk line highways, $2,000,000 for the general trunk line highways, and $1,000,000 for the State and town aid public roads. The Good Roads Association regrets that the committee could not favor its bill. Nevertheless, as it realizes that money invested in good roads is the most profitable investment a State can make, it is now urging that the measure proposed by the Highway Commissioner be passed.

"Opposition to an appropriation of sufficient size to permit of building any new roads in the State, or to permit of grading for new roads, developed as soon as it was seen that the recent Highway Commissioner would be replaced by some one else. This opposition, it may be accepted without reasonable doubt, originated among political and personal friends of the late Highway Commissioner. The final and concentrated effort to defeat an appropriation was focused on the Appropriations Committee. Without granting any public hearing to the citizens of the State, and without allowing other members of the House and Senate to know what was going on, the majority members of the Appropriations Committee introduced an appropriation for the Highway Department which, in amount, is one-half of what Highway Commissioner Bennett asked.

"To the man owning country property the approach of a good, permanent highway means an advance of from 200 to 500 per cent. in the value of the land. Seventy-five per cent. of the patronage of several of the large hotels in Connecticut comes to them by automobiles. The prosperity of a hotel means prosperity for the farmer who supplies the butter, milk, eggs, fruit, and vegetables. A few years ago Massachusetts built the Jacob's Ladder route from Westfield through Russell, Huntington, Chester, Becket Centre, and West Becket to Lee. Within a year after the road was undertaken, and even before it was finished, farms along the route which had been selling for $600 and $800 were selling for $3,000 and $3,500.

"Highway Commissioner Bennett states that if this sum of $3,400,000 (the sum proposed for all highway purposes in the bill passed) is given to him and no more, he can merely repair and rebuild the present mileage under his charge, and can hope to build no new roads."

The Connecticut Good Roads Association, according to the petition, is made up of practically every chamber of commerce, business men's association, and board of trade in the State.

The Maine Automobile Association has issued a complete automobile road book of Maine. This book is filled with touring information covering almost every section of the Pine Tree State. The book, which is illustrated by excellent photographs and contains a full road map, may be had on application to the Maine Automobile Association, Touring Information Bureau, 12 Monument Square, Portland, Me.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES

The Daily Consular and Trade Report notes the following foreign trade opportunities. Further information regarding them may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Washington, D. C., giving the number of the item referred to:

10,996. MOTOR LAUNCHES.—An American Consul in the Far East reports that the use of commercial motor boats in his district continues to increase, and the establishment of two services is contemplated. It is understood that the contract for the launches has been placed, but it is thought that there will be a good market for various grades of American marine motors.

10,997. PLATINUM-IRIDIUM TUBES.—A business firm in a European country informs an American Consular officer that it wishes to be placed in communication with American firms manufacturing platinum-iridium tubes of 20, 25, and 30 per cent. iridium content, with a view to making considerable purchases.

10,998. SYRUPS.—A report from an American Consular officer in Canada states that a local business man, who is a large manufacturer of high-class confectionery, wishes to obtain quotations from American manufacturers of all kinds of syrups.

10,999. CUT GLASS, SILVER MESH BAGS, &C.—An agent for silverware and electroplated goods in the United Kingdom is desirous of obtaining a suitable agency for salable American goods, preferably those allied to his own business, but he is prepared to consider any line likely to have a good sale. He has expressed himself to an American Consul as being particularly interested in cut glass, if it could be offered on terms to compete with German cut glass. He has also indicated a desire to obtain an agency for silver mesh bags.

11,000. DRY DOCK AND MEN'S BLOCK.—The American Consul General at Ottawa reports that the Department of Public Works has advertised for tenders, to be received until June 23, for constructing a dry dock in the county of Levis, Quebec. Tenders will also be received until June 24 for the construction of a men's block, New Barracks, Long Branch, near Toronto, Ontario.

11,001. FLOUR.—An American Consul reports that a produce firm in his district desires to secure the agency for the territory in which it conducts its business of some American manufacturer of flour.

11,002. MACHINERY AND ACCESSORIES.—The American Minister at Bucharest reports that bids to be opened at the Prefecture at Sofia, Bulgaria, have been invited by the direction of the Pernik mine, belonging to the Bulgarian Government, to furnish for the mine two boilers for locomobiles, two steam machines, three dynamo-electric machines, and an electromotor with their accessories. Intending bidders should communicate at once with the Ministry of Commerce, Industry, and Labor at Sofia, from which copies of the specifications may be obtained. In order to be admitted to compete an intending bidder must produce certificates to show that he has executed similar installations and that he has deposited the required bond (3,500 francs, or $675) in the Bulgarian National Bank.

11,003. CRUDE BOTANIC DRUGS.—In response to inquiries from the United States an American Consul furnishes the names of two firms that have been interviewed in regard to the purchase of crude American botanic drugs, such as roots, barks, &c. These firms are in the market for shipments of from $500 to $2,000 in value.

11,004. BICYCLES.—According to the report of an American Consul, a South American country offers a splendid field for bicycles. A local firm has expressed a desire to accept an agency for any American bicycle manufacturer on liberal terms.

SURROGATE CITATION.

LEWISOHN, ALBERT.—THE PEOPLE OF the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent, to Sarah Hinrichsen, Alfred Louis Bernays, Walter Bernays, and to all persons interested in the estate of Albert Lewisohn, late of the County of New York, deceased, as creditors, next of kin or otherwise, send greeting:

You and each of you are hereby cited and required personally to be and appear before our Surrogate of the County of New York, at the Surrogates' Court of said county, held at the Hall of Records, in the County of New York, on the 27th day of June, 1913, at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, then and there to attend a judicial settlement of the account of proceedings of Lillie L. Lewisohn, as administratrix of the goods, chattels, and credits of said deceased; and such of you as are hereby cited as are under the age of twenty-one years are required to appear by your guardian, if you have one, or if you have none, to appear and apply for one to be appointed, or in the event of your neglect or failure to do so, a guardian will be appointed by the Surrogate to represent and act for you in the proceeding.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of the Surrogates' Court of the said County of New York to be hereunto affixed. Witness, Hon. Robert Ludlow Fowler, a Surrogate of our said county, at the County of New York, the 7th day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirteen.

HOWLAND, as Receiver of Improved Property Holding Company of New York; T. SHERWOOD BOYD, JULIUS COHN, and MAX COHN, Defendants.—In Equity.—Docket 9-282.

Pursuant to a decree of foreclosure and sale made in the above-entitled cause by the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York, dated May 9, 1913, and filed in the office of the Clerk of said Court on May 10, 1913, the undersigned, as Special Master appointed by said decree, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder at Nos. 303 and 305 Fifth Avenue, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on June 10, 1913, at half past ten o'clock in the forenoon, in conformity with the directions in that behalf more particularly set forth in said decree, all right, title, interest, leases, contracts, privileges, property and right or equity of redemption of the defendant Fifth Avenue Investing and Improvement Company and all right or equity of redemption of the defendants in this cause, or any of them, and of all persons claiming by, through or under them, or any of them, in and to

ALL that certain plot, piece or parcel of land, with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying and being in the Borough of Manhattan of the City of New York, in the County and State of New York, bounded and described as follows: BEGINNING at the corner formed by the intersection of the northerly side of 31st Street with the easterly side of Fifth Avenue; running thence easterly along the northerly side of 31st Street one hundred and fifty (150) feet; thence northerly parallel with Fifth Avenue, fifty-six (56) feet nine (9) inches; thence westerly parallel with 31st Street and part of the distance through a party wall one hundred and fifty (150) feet to the easterly side of Fifth Avenue, and thence southerly along the easterly side of Fifth Avenue, fifty-six (56) feet nine (9) inches to the point or place of beginning; AND ALSO ALL buildings and improvements erected on said premises and all fixtures and equipment appurtenant thereto; TOGETHER with all and singular the rents, incomes and profits thereof, and the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, subject to covenants and restrictions in deed recorded in Liber 537 of Conveyances, Page 431, and also to restrictions contained in deed recorded in Liber 607 of Conveyances, Page 390, also to restrictions contained in deed recorded in Liber 632 of Conveyances, Page 373, as far as any of such restrictions remain effective; subject also to a certain agreement made by Improved Property Holding Company of New York with American Real Estate Company, dated April 26, 1912, recorded in the office of the Register of the County of New York in Section 3, Liber 178 of Conveyances, Page 26; subject also to the mortgage made by Fifth Avenue Thirty-first Street Company to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, dated January 11, 1909, and the indebtedness thereby secured, namely, $1,300,000 with interest accrued and unpaid thereon to the date of sale; subject also to the mortgage made by Fifth Avenue Thirty-first Street Company to the City Investing Company, dated May 27, 1907, and the indebtedness thereby secured, namely, $150,000 with interest accrued and unpaid thereon to the date of sale; subject also to any and all leases existing in favor of any person or persons, corporation or corporations not parties to said cause and to any and all leases or liens prior to the lien of the mortgage made by Fifth Avenue Investing & Improvement Company to The Standard Trust Company of New York, as Trustee, dated April 1, 1909, and the mortgage supplemental thereto, dated July 1, 1909, and to all valid taxes, assessments and public charges against the mortgaged premises unpaid at the date of sale.

The Special Master will receive no bid for any one offering to bid who, prior to said sale, shall not have deposited with him or delivered to him, as a pledge that such bidder will make good his bid in the event of its acceptance, in money, or certified check therefor on some bank or trust company in the City of New York approved by him, the sum of $10,000, or $20,000 in face amount of the bonds issued under and secured by the mortgage of Fifth Avenue Investing & Improvement Company to The Standard Trust Company of New York, as Trustee, dated April 1, 1909. The deposit made by any unsuccessful bidder will be returned to him when the property shall have been struck off. The deposit made by the successful bidder will be applied on account of the purchase price of the property, and, on the provisional acceptance of any bid, the purchaser will be required forthwith to pay or deliver to the Special Master such further amount in money or certified check or bonds as aforesaid as will make the total amount deposited by such purchaser in cash or checks equal to ten per cent. of the amount of such bid, or in face amount of said bonds equal to twenty per cent. of such bid.

The Special Master will make only a provisional acceptance of a bid, and will report the same to the court with all convenient speed. If the sale shall not be confirmed by the court, such deposit will be returned to the bidder. The purchaser, on the confirmation of the sale by the court, will be required to make such payment or payments in cash on account of the purchase price as the court may, at the time of the confirmation of such sale, or from time to time thereafter direct, and within thirty days after such confirmation shall pay the entire balance of the purchase price so bid. Current taxes, water rates, insurance, interest on prior mortgages, and rentals will be apportioned between the receiver appointed in said cause and the purchaser as of the date of the delivery of the deed, and credits will be allowed to, or debits charged against, the purchaser on his bid accordingly. The purchaser may satisfy and make good the balance of his bid above the amount required to be paid in cash by the terms of said decree or by any decree or order of the court hereafter entered in said cause, by delivering to the Special Master bonds issued under and secured by said mortgage made by the Fifth Avenue Investing & Improvement Company to The Standard Trust Company of New York, as Trustee, with all unpaid coupons for interest thereto belonging, including any of said bonds delivered by the purchaser to the Special Master at said sale, and such bonds will be received at such price or value as will be equivalent to the sum which would be distributable on said bonds out of the net proceeds of said sale if the whole purchase price were paid in cash. Any bidder or purchaser, in lieu of the actual delivery of bonds to the Special Master, either for the purpose of qualifying as a bidder, or on account of the purchase price, may deliver to the Special Master a certificate or certificates of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York that it holds said bonds to the amounts aforesaid, subject to the order of the Special Master. In case any bidder shall fail to make good his bid on its acceptance by the Special Master, or shall fail, after such acceptance, to comply with any order of the court relating to the payment of the purchase price, then the money or bonds deposited by such purchaser will be forfeited as a penalty for such failure and will be applied to the payment of the expenses of the resale and toward making good any deficiency or loss in case the property purchased by him shall be sold at a less price on such resale, or will be applied to the payment of any deficiency remaining on account of the amount adjudged by said decree to be due and payable by the defendant Fifth Avenue Investing & Improvement Company to the complainant as trustee, in the event that the sum realized on any resale had under the terms of said decree shall not pay in full the amount therein adjudged to be due and payable, together with all costs and expenses of this suit, and the court has reserved full jurisdiction to enter any order, judgment or decree necessary to enforce the provisions of said decree against any such defaulting purchaser or purchasers. The court, on the coming in of the Special Master's report of sale, may reject any bid and retake and resell the property purchased if the court shall deem such bid inadequate, or upon the failure of any bidder, the provisional acceptance of whose bid by the Special Master shall have been confirmed and ratified by the court, to comply with the terms of sale or with any order of the court regarding payment of the purchase price.

For a more detailed statement of the terms and conditions of the sale reference is hereby made to said decree dated May 9, 1913, on file in the office of the Clerk of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York, in the Post Office Building, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, copies of which may be obtained at the office of Guthrie, Bangs & Van Sinderen, the Solicitors for the complainant, 44 Wall Street, New York City.
Dated New York, May 12, 1913.
SAMUEL PARK, Special Master.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED States for the Southern District of New York.—In the matter of CARL HIRSCH, Alleged Bankrupt.

Upon reading and filing the annexed petition of Alfred C. Coxe, Esq., Temporary Receiver herein, and upon all the papers and proceedings had herein and on motion of Myers & Goldsmith, attorneys for the receiver, it is Ordered: That the above named alleged bankrupt and all creditors of the said alleged bankrupt (known to the receiver herein) and all persons whomsoever having an interest in the estate of the above named alleged bankrupt, show cause before one of the Judges of this court at a stated term thereof to be held in the courtroom, in the Post Office Building, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 26th day of May, 1913, at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon of that day or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, why an order should not be made authorizing the receiver herein to accept the offer for the purchase of all of the alleged bankrupt's assets of whatsoever kind, nature, and description for a sum equaling twenty-five cents on the dollar to all creditors whose names appear in a report made by Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery, Certified Public Accountants, and which report is in possession of the receiver herein, together with the expenses of the receivership, appraisers' fees, the receiver's commissions, the fee and expenses of the attorneys for the petitioning creditors and receiver, which offer is more particularly set forth in the annexed petition.

Let service of a notice of the filing with the Clerk of this court of the annexed petition, together with a copy of this order, on tht creditors of the above named alleged bankrupt, by mail addressed to such creditors as they appear upon the list of creditors furnished to the receiver by the alleged bankrupt, except where such creditors appear by attorneys, in which event service upon said attorneys, on or before the 20th day of May, 1913, be deemed sufficient service and notice. This order shall also be published on two occasions in THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Dated New York, May 17th, 1913.

J. M. MAYER, D. J.

Please take notice that there has been filed on the 17th day of May, 1913, with the Clerk of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York the petition mentioned in the foregoing order to show cause where the same may be inspected by any creditor or person in interest.

HOMES ON VERY EASY TERMS
With the double purpose of enhancing the value of our lot property, and affording people of moderate means an opportunity of owning their homes, we are building at New Dorp Manor, five, six and seven-room two-story dwellings in choice locations, ranging in price from $1,500 to $3,000. We accept $300 to $500 down, and you occupy a house at once, paying thereafter $15 to $25 monthly, just as you can afford, and probably less than the money you are now paying as rent and owning nothing. Think this over. Write for our free map, or call between 10 and 12 A. M., and see photographs of houses we build. Lots $200 to $500 each.

THE WEATHER.

A moderate high pressure area over the North Central portions of the country and a depression over the Lower Missouri Valley and the Central Plains States have caused showers in Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, and Western Pennsylvania. There were also local showers in New York and New England and portions of the Northwest, while over the remainder of the country fair weather prevailed. It is cooler in the upper lake and west lower lake regions and the middle Mississippi Valley, and generally warmer elsewhere, with temperatures ranging from 10 to 15 degrees above the seasonal average over the interior districts from the Rocky Mountains westward.

Unsettled showery weather will continue Monday, and probably Tuesday, in the central valleys and the lake region, and will extend into the Middle Atlantic States. There also will be local showers by Tuesday in the Northwest. In New England, the South, Southwest and the extreme West, the weather will be generally fair Monday and Tuesday. It will be warmer Monday in the Northwestern States, except Montana, in the upper Mississippi Valley, and the upper Lake region.

The winds along the New England and Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate northwest to north; South Atlantic Coast, light to moderate, variable; Gulf Coast, moderate south; on the lower lakes moderate north to east; upper lakes, moderate east to northeast.

Steamers departing Monday for European ports will have moderate northwest to north winds, with generally fair weather, to the Grand Banks.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND TUESDAY.

Eastern New York—Fair Monday; Tuesday cloudy, warmer in interior; light to moderate north winds.

Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey—Unsettled Monday and Tuesday, warmer Tuesday; light north winds, becoming variable.

New England—Generally fair Monday and Tuesday; moderate northwest and north winds.

Western Pennsylvania—Generally cloudy Monday and Tuesday, probably showers Tuesday; moderate north to east winds.

Western New York—Fair Monday; Tuesday cloudy and warmer, probably showers west portion; moderate north to east winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

Brevity is not the soul of Want Advertising. This brief advertisement in The New York Times would make no impression on employers:

OFFICE MANAGER wants position; experienced and capable; executive ability.

But the following, on its face, would seem worthy of prompt investigation:

OFFICE MANAGER, organizer, systematizer, wants position of responsibility, where executive ability and thorough knowledge of business methods are required; six years' valuable experience in office of mercantile house; manage office; highest references.

The Want Columns of The New York Times are consulted daily by the greatest metropolitan army of employers.

GRAND ARMY'S MEN MARCH TO CHURCHES

Spanish War Veterans and Boy Scouts Fall in Line to Fill Out Thinning Ranks.

FATHER LAVELLE'S PROMISE

Tells Those in Cathedral No Foe Will Dare Attack, While Dr. Reisner Urges Preparedness.

Many a pew throughout the five boroughs was filled yesterday by men who fought in the Grand Army of the Republic. With the buttons on the old uniforms rubbed until they shone afresh, the veterans from the different posts marched through the streets to the churches for the afternoon and evening services. Many a pulpit was flag-draped, many a sermon touched on war—the good in war—and told again the stories of hard battles well fought, and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" pealed from many an organ. For yesterday was the Sunday before Memorial Day, and memories of the civil war gave flavor to the day's devotion.

Seven Grand Army Posts and five posts of Spanish War Veterans attended the evening services in Grace Church in West 104th Street. There were more soldiers than there were seats, and the pastor, the Rev. Dr. C. F. Reisner, was moved to preach a war sermon.

"War is hell," he said, "but at times we do better to have a little hell here than to allow things to continue that will send hundreds to hell and ruin the happiness of millions more. Some jingoists are crying out very loudly just now in the apparent aim of bringing on a clash with Japan. Unless the spirit back of it is lofty in purpose such agitation is devilish.

Urges Peace and Preparedness.

"We may talk peace so much and so long as to be unready for an emergency," he went on. "The assassin may take courage to attack when preparedness would have made him hesitate. A thousand enemies threaten us in this year of our Lord on every hand. Do not rock yourself to easy sleep with the notion that our fathers alone had the privilege of suffering for their country."

The Rev. Dr. A. E. Keigwin preached the sermon at the West Side Presbyterian Church, where many veterans attended the evening services. The Subway Band led the column which marched in upper Broadway, and included in its ranks a battalion of the Seventy-first Regiment of the National Guard, a company of Boy Scouts, the Farragut Squadron of the Naval War Veterans, and the Roosevelt Camp of the Spanish War Veterans. The old soldiers walked into the church under a long arch of crossed flags.

Many naval veterans, their friends and their shipmates attended the evening service at the Broadway Tabernacle, where the sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr Charles E. Jefferson.

Father Lavelle's Assurance.

Members of the Sixty-ninth Regiment and Spanish War Veterans to the number of 400 carried their colors to St. Patrick's Cathedral in the afternoon, where Mgr. Lavelle greeted them with this assurance:

"The battle of fifteen years ago showed so well the strength of our great country that America need expect no more wars, for no foe will dare to attack us."

President Chidwick of Dunwoodie Seminary, the Father Chidwick who was Chaplain of the battleship Maine at the time she went to the bottom of Havana Harbor, is a favorite at all Spanish war anniversaries, and he was at the Cathedral to address the soldiers yesterday.

"For all that might be spoken against war," he said, "war is sometimes all that is left for a country to choose. It has been proved that the war in which you men engaged was right, for is not Spain a better, bigger, stronger, and happier country than before?"

Washington Greys at St. John's.

The Cathedral of St. John the Divine, at the same afternoon hour, was filled with members of the Eighth Artillery District, as they now call the famous Washington Greys, the military organization that goes back to the days of the General whose name it bears. The sermon was preached by the district's own chaplain, the Rev. De Witt L. Pelton of St. James's Episcopal Church in the Bronx.

When Gen. Grant was in New York he always attended the Metropolitan Temple in Seventh Avenue, just below Fourteenth Street, and they remembered him there yesterday. Many a member of the congregation paused to read the tablet marking his pew, and in the evening the Temple was full when Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss spoke of Grant and his work.

Other churches where special memorial services were held to mark the approach of the great war anniversary were the Hope Baptist Church, St. James Methodist Church, and Calvary Methodist Church in Harlem, the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, and the Puritan Presbyterian Church.

The Day in Brooklyn.

In observance of Memorial Sunday, the members of Grand Army posts in Brooklyn visited the local cemeteries and placed flowers and flags on the graves of their comrades.

The exercises at the Lincoln Statue in Prospect Park were under the auspices of the Abel Smith-First Long Island Post and the Memorial and Executive Committee of the G. A. R. in Kings County. There was music by the Thirteenth Regiment Band.

In the afternoon the Army and Navy Union paraded to the National Cemetery, on Jamaica Avenue, Cypress Hills, where memorial exercises were held. Besides the battalions of the union, detachments from the Forty-seventh Regiment, the Naval Militia, and the Sons of Veterans were in the line. The paraders numbered about 2,000.

Brig. Gen. John G. Eddy, commander of the Second Brigade of the National Guard, was the reviewing officer, and the orator of the day at the exercises in the cemetery was Borough President George McAneny of Manhattan. The parade formed at Gates and Bushwick Avenues, and the line of march was Bushwick, Jamaica, and Arlington Avenues, Elton Street, Ridgewood and Hale Avenues, to the cemetery.

In the evening memorial services, which were attended by the war veterans, were held in St. Ann's Protestant Episcopal, Bushwick Avenue Congregational, Puritan Congregational, Strong Place Baptist, Grace Methodist Episcopal, Flatbush Congregational, and other churches.

"SUNSET" COX MEMORIAL.

Letter Carriers Pay Their Annual Tribute to His Memory.

Once a year for the last twenty-five years the members of the New York Letter Carriers' Association have met to honor the memory of Samuel Sullivan Cox, familiarly known as "Sunset" Cox. It was Congressman Cox who, in the early '70s, took up the fight for the carriers for better hours, and although he has been dead for more than twenty years the New York branch of the association has held an annual memorial service for him, has decorated his statue in Astor Place every Memorial Day, and on the anniversaries of his birth has placed flowers on his grave in Greenwood Cemetery.

Yesterday there was a double occasion for memorial exercises. It was just twenty-five years ago that a law was passed by which the letter carriers got shorter hours, and although they contend that present conditions are far from perfect the Postal Department employes are confident that a new eight-hour law will be enacted during the present Administration. They have a new champion of their cause in Congressman Thomas F. Reilly of Connecticut. He and Senator James E. Martine of New Jersey and Chief Magistrate William G. McAdoo were the principal speakers at yesterday's celebration in Carnegie Hall.

The service began at 3 o'clock with President Tharp of the local branch acting as master of ceremonies. Grouped on the stage were the members of the People's Choral Union, who sang seven numbers during the afternoon under the direction of Edward G. Marquard. After a prayer by the Rev. Dr. Grannis the 2,000 or more people in the hall were welcomed by President Tharp, who then introduced Magistrate McAdoo, a fellow-member with "Sunset" Cox in the Forty-eighth Congress. Mr. McAdoo said of Mr. Cox:

"He was a great, broad-minded man, typifying what we call 'American.' He is worthy of all the praise you can give him here to-day. If he were living he would help you to provide a system of pensions for those in the postal service such as we have in our Fire and Police Departments."

Senator Martine told the carriers that he was for their eight-hour bill. "Never cease," said he, "to count me as your friend in all that is good and honest and just in new legislation."

Congressman Reilly received prolonged applause. He denied that an eight-hour law would contribute to the deficiency in the Post Office appropriation bill, and asserted that the deficiency was due to the "skinning of the Post Office Department under a former administration."

President Tharp presented to Mrs. Reilly, the Congressman's wife, a three-stone diamond ring on behalf of the association.

GIVE SKIN TO SAVE BOY.

Eight Men Volunteer for Second Operation on Coldwell Lad.

Special to The New York Times.

NUTLEY, N. J., May 25.—A second skin grafting operation was performed to-day on 7-year-old William Coldwell, who two months ago was badly burned while playing around a fire. The boy lost 180 square inches of skin, 40 square inches of which were transferred to him two weeks ago and 60 square inches at to-day's operation.

Twenty-five friends of Benjamin Coldwell, the burned boy's father, had volunteered, through Clarence B. Iliffe, to give up strips of their skin, which would have made up the entire 180 inches, but Dr. Edward Whelan, the physician in charge, decided that it was best not to perform the whole process at once. He accordingly asked the services of eight men, who came to the Coldwell home in Vreeland Avenue at 10 o'clock this morning.

The volunteers were Irving Mack, a broker; William S. Wallace, who is employed in a banking firm; Walter Fairbrother, a manufacturer; John Seltus, who is in the stereotyping business; John Mackay and Milton Ryan, members of a printing company; J. H. Epworth and H. C. Brown. All but the last named, who is a relative of Mr. Coldwell, live in Nutley, and are members of the Fortnightly Club here. The eight men sat on the porch until Dr. Whelan called them, when they went one by one to the burned boy's bedside. The pluck which the child displayed acted as a tonic to the men who volunteered their skin, and in less than two hours 60 inches of new cuticle had been grafted upon the sufferer.

There will be several more operations, it has been announced, the next one two weeks from to-day.

HEIR REWEDS IN RIGHT NAME

Englishman and Wife Have Second Nuptials—To Claim Estate.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Douglas F. Davis of Point Loma, Cal., were married here to-day for the second time, and left for New York to sail for Maidenhead, England. At the ceremony, with their infant child present, the couple changed their names to Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas Bishop, and thereby qualified for two English estates.

Mr. Bishop is a son of the late James Bishop of Maidenhead, who was the owner of a large property. Because of family difficulties the son left home eleven years ago, assuming the name of Davis. He came to San Diego in 1910 and married Miss Mary Keith, a society girl.

A year ago a relative left him $100,000. He was traced to Southern California. On a train one day Bishop sat behind the Chief of Police of San Diego and heard him say that the San Diego police had received instructions to search for the missing Englishman. Bishop, however, did not disclose his identity.

Last year a child was born to the couple. When Bishop heard a few weeks ago of the death of his father he decided that for his baby's sake he would claim his parent's estate as well as the $100,000.

RUINS EMPLOYER'S AUTO.

New Chauffeur Wrecks and Abandons It in Central Park.

An automobile that was found abandoned and wrecked in Central Park on the East Drive at Seventy-fourth Street early yesterday morning was identified last night as belonging to Daniel H. Kopferman, who lives at the Allenhurst Apartments, 216 West 100th Street. Mr. Kopferman told the police that he left the car with his chauffeur on Saturday afternoon to take to the garage. The machine was not taken to the garage and the police are now looking for the chauffeur. Mr. Kopferman bought the car only two days ago, and hired the chauffeur at the same time. He did not know anything about him and knew only his first name.

The car was found partly imbedded in a tree. It was wrecked beyond repair. Near by was a lamp post that had been snapped in two. Albert Vogel of 367 Amsterdam Avenue told the police that he saw the car flash by him at great speed with three men in it. A few minutes later he heard a crash.

AUTO AMBULANCE STALLS.

Injured Woman Held in It 15 Minutes Expires in Hospital.

Rushing up Avenue B last night, carrying a dying woman, an automobile ambulance from Bellevue Hospital "stalled" at Fourteenth Street and could not be made to go, despite the efforts of the chauffeur. The woman was kept waiting fifteen minutes for another automobile ambulance which was sent from the hospital in response to a telephone call. She died soon after being received at the hospital, but the doctors at Bellevue said she would have died if there had been no delay.

The woman was Mrs. Anna Carito, 25 years old, of 246 Avenue B. She lived in rooms on the fourth floor with her husband, James, and, according to him, in a fit of jealousy following a quarrel between them she jumped from a window to the sidewalk. The husband tried to hold her, he said, but was unable to do so.

Baltimore, May 25.—Mrs. Edward B. McLean of Washington made a second trip to Johns Hopkins hospital to-day to consult physicians about an operation. It is reported that she has appendicits.

FULLY 20,000 OUT FOR MILITARY MASS

Memorable Service, with a Fine Day, on the Marine Corps Parade Ground, Brooklyn.

AS OLD AS THE CRUSADES

Revived in This Country with End of the Spanish War—Bugles and Drums Proclaim the Elevation.

A congregation of at least 20,000 was on the Marine Corps parade ground in Flushing Avenue, Brooklyn, yesterday morning, to attend the solemn high military mass which, since the Spanish war, has been celebrated each year on the Sunday preceding Memorial Day. Not since the military mass was revived in this country have those who participate in the ceremony enjoyed a more perfect day for the event.

The congregation came from all parts of the city and from New Jersey and Connecticut and nearby towns and cities in New York. The skies were cloudless and there was a gentle and refreshing breeze. With past celebrations the day was often one of oppressive heat, when women fainted by the score owing to the great congestion in the parade ground. Yesterday not a single case was there for the ambulance doctor, nor was the marine guard called upon.

The history of the military mass goes back to the Middle Ages. In those days on every Sunday, when campaign conditions permitted, mass was said in the open field in the armies of Castile and Aragon, and in the conflicts with the Moslems it was celebrated with great splendor by the militant priests of crusading armies. They never failed to hold this beautiful service unless sorely pressed by the enemy, and from Spain the practice spread throughout Europe, especially in France, Italy, Bavaria and Poland.

At a military mass, instead of the bell which announces the elevation of the Host at ordinary mass, bugles are used. The drums beat a ruffle, and the soldiers and sailors present arms. The vestments worn by the priests are the chasuble, alb, cincture, and stole.

The celebration yesterday was under the auspices of the Gloucester Camp No. 5 of the Spanish War Veterans, and the Long Island Chapter of the Knights of Columbus. The Rev. Father James J. Coan was the celebrant, the Rev. Father John P. Chidwick, who was Chaplain of the battleship Maine when it was sunk in Havana Harbor fifteen years ago, was the deacon, and Chaplain E. E. McDonald, U. S. N., of the Atlantic Fleet, was the sub-deacon. Mgr. E. W. McCarty of St. Augustine's Church in Brooklyn preached the sermon. Father Reaney also took part in the ceremonies.

The music was under the direction of Arthur S. Somers of the Knights of Columbus, and consisted of a choir of 100 picked voices, the Marine Band from the navy yard, and the Police Band of New York. The musical programme included Haydn's Imperial Mass No. 3, the offertory Te Prego O Padre, Haydn's Sanctus Benedictus, and also his Agnus Dei, closing with the "Star Spangled Banner," in the rendition of which the choir and both of the bands joined.

Speaking in his sermon of the Spanish war dead, Mgr. McCarty said that in the great army of hero dead the soldiers and sailors who died in that brief struggle stood shoulder to shoulder with the heroic dead of the Revolution, the war of 1812, that with Mexico, and the great conflict between the States.

"Most heartily," said Mgr. McCarty, "do we unite in the annual tribute to the dead of all creeds who have died in the service of this great land of ours.

"The American Catholic," he observed, "owes no allegiance to any foreign power except a spiritual one. The Catholic Church is at home under any Government.

"The old Church of Columbus, of Isabella, of Lord Baltimore, of Lafayette, of Gov. Carroll, is at home in this fair land of ours, and if the time comes—and God grant that it does not!—her sons will be found ready to die for it with the bravest of the brave and ready to defend to the very last every star and every stripe in the flag."

The military formation on the parade grounds was under the command of Lieut. Col. John Archer Lejeune, U. S. M. C., commandant of the Marine Corps.

The Grand Marshal was Past Commander Alfred A. Mitchell, who was assisted by Past Senior Vice Commander John Fitzgerald, Past Adjutant William McCauley, and Past Commandant William J. Keating.

WON 5 DAYS IN 5 MINUTES.

Bradley Did It by Drinking a Quart of Wine on a Wager.

It cost Daniel Bradley of 449 East 183d Street five days in the Workhouse to consume a quart of sherry in five minutes. The consumption was the outcome of a wager, and resulted in Bradley being found in a helpless condition in East 183d Street yesterday by Patrolman Michael O'Rourke of the Tremont Station. When arraigned before Magistrate Corrigan, in the Morrisania Court Bradley was thoroughly repentant, however.

"I am not a drinking man," he informed the court, "and if I established a record by drinking a quart of sherry in five minutes, I am sure it's nothing to be proud of."

"I'm going to give you a chance to think it all over," returned the court, imposing the five-day sentence.

DAYTON'S $2,000,000 FUND.

Whole City Celebrates When Final Gifts Pour In.

DAYTON, Ohio, May 25.—After a week's campaign to raise $2,000,000 to safeguard the city against floods, the successful culmination of the work was marked to-night by demonstrations of rejoicing. In all churches the ministers urged their congregations to contribute liberally. Bands paraded the streets and a great cash register erected in the Court House yard was watched by thousands, who cheered as each new contribution was rung up.

Many instances are known of workingmen mortgaging their homes to contribute to the fund. The climax came at a mass meeting to-night, when it was announced that a local manufacturing company which had contributed $250,000 would double its gift.

SCATTER ASHES OF POET.

Destined for Flames, Wind Claims Remains of Joaquin Miller.

OAKLAND, Cal., May 25.—The ashes of Joaquin Miller, "the poet of the Sierras," were scattered to-day among the flames of a funeral pyre built by the poet's own hands. The ceremony was held at the Miller home, The Hights, in the picturesque hills near Oakland. The Bohemian Club of San Francisco had charge of the rites, which were witnessed by more than 500 persons, including the poet's widow and daughter, Juanita, and many old-time friends.

The services, short and impressive, were in accordance with Miller's dying wishes. At their conclusion Col. John P. Irish of Oakland mounted the steps of the pyre.

"This," said Col. Irish, "is not an occasion for mourning, but for repoicing. We are here not to mourn the death of Joaquin Miller, but to repoice that through his genius he still lives."

Col. Irish then applied a torch to the oil-soaked faggots on the pyre. As the flames shot up he took the copper urn containing the poet's ashes and gave them to the fire. Instantly a jealous wind whipped the ashes from the flames and bore them away.

WESTON'S FINAL EFFORT.

Veteran Pedestrian Starts Monday to Walk to Minneapolis.

Edward Payson Weston, the veteran pedestrian, with walking records by the score to his credit, has mapped out what he believes will be the crowning effort of his notable career in the walking line, and he will leave New York on Monday, June 2, on a 1,500-mile walk to Minneapolis. The start will be made at 12 o'clock noon from the College of the City of New York, and he plans to reach the grounds of the new Minneapolis Athletic Club on Saturday, Aug. 2. Dr. John H. Finley, President of the College of the City of New York, will be the official starter.

Mr. Weston, now in his seventy-fifth year, has a double motive for undertaking the long walk. The first is that he has long cherished the ambition to take an exetnded journey at this age, with the belief that he can further spread the gospel of walking, and thereby confer a boon on humanity by interesting others in its possibilities and good results. The choice of Minneapolis as the goal came as a result of an invitation from the Minneapolis A. C. that Mr. Weston lay the cornerstone of its new clubhouse on Aug. 2.

The distance of the long jaunt is 1,500 miles, and the veteran figures that he can cover the route in sixty days. As he never walks on Sunday during these long journeys, he will average about 158 miles per week, or almost 26½ miles per day, in the coming trip. He will follow the Erie Railroad route from New York to Chicago, and at the latter city he will turn to the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad for the last leg of his journey. The first seven and one-half miles to be covered by the veteran, from the starting point, at 139th Street, to the Twenty-third Street Ferry, will not be counted as part of the journey, this walk being offset for ferrying two and one-half miles across the Hudson River. The schedule calls for Weston's arrival in Chicago on Wednesday, July 9, and he is due to reach St. Paul, Minn., on Friday, Aug. 1.

SLIT SKIRT DRAWS A CROWD

Wearer Finally Flees in Taxi from Broadway Promenaders.

A golden-haired woman, with storybook eyes, clad in blue silk of the thinnest texture, joined the throng of promenaders on Seventh Avenue above Central Park yesterday afternoon. Before she had gone a block a crowd of men and women were tagging after her. They gazed at the blue silk hosiery revealed by long slits in the clinging skirt, at the enormous hat with long blue feather, and then at the houri eyes and the luxuriant hair.

"Some one ought to have her arrested," and "Some one ought to call the police," they said.

The woman was first seen at 116th Street. By the time she reached 125th Street five hundred persons were in the crowd following her, and disparaging remarks were flying thick and fast. It was then that she realized how unpopular she had become. Stepping to the curb she raised her hand to an approaching taxicab. The driver saw her, but refused to stop. A second taxi stopped at the woman's signal, and she hastily clambered inside and was whirled away while the crowd looked on and yelled.

FOUR MEN ATTACK WOMAN.

Held Her Prisoner After Robbing Her Apartment—Two Arrested.

Charged with having attacked Mrs. Sarah Whalen of 439 West Forty-sixth Street after unlawfully entering and robbing her apartment, two men, who said they were Joseph Gratz of 534 West Thirty-ninth Street and Joseph Nilserb of 510 West Thirty-ninth Street, were held yesterday in the West Side Court by Magistrate Campbell in $2,000 bail each for examination to-morrow.

Mrs. Whalen identified the two as members of a quartet which had forced the door of her apartment on the ground floor shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday morning, when she was alone. After struggling with her assailants half an hour, she says, she freed herself and ran to the street screaming. Her cries were heard by Patrolmen McKernon and Shevlin of the West Forty-seventh Street Station. They caught Nilserb and Gratz after a chase of several blocks. The latter denied having been concerned in the attack and robbery. None of the property taken from the Whalen home was found in their possession.

HUNDREDS HUNT FOR MAN.

Chicago Militia Captain Had $450 and Relatives Fear Foul Play.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 25.—Seven hundred members of the Second Regiment, National Guard; the entire Police Department, and scores of friends and relatives have enlisted in a city-wide search for Capt. William Ramaker, missing from his home since Thursday evening.

Failure to find any trace of the missing man has led relatives to believe that he met with foul play. He had $450 with him at the time of his disappearance. The money represented the receipts of his coal business, and he was on his way to the bank to deposit it.

'BIG BILL' EDWARDS HOST TO 5,000 MEN

Commissioner Gives an Entertainment at Hippodrome for Street Cleaning Employes.

SPEECH BY KINETOPHONE

Department Workers Congratulated on Their Splendid Work in the City Clean-Up.

Nearly 5,000 men of the Department of Street Cleaning attended a special performance arranged for them yesterday afternoon at the Hippodrome. The entertainment opened with a concert by the Department of Street Cleaning Band, and then Commissioner "Big Bill" Edwards stepped forward on the stage. When the cheering had died away Mr. Edwards welcomed the workers of his department, and congratulated them on the splendid manner in which they had gone about the recent Spring clean-up of the city.

The special performance was arranged for by the Commissioner, as a mark of appreciation of the work of the men of the Department of Street Cleaning throughout the last year generally, and in particular during the recent Spring clean-up campaign.

Mr. Edwards, wearing a silk hat and frock coat, was at the main entrance of the big playhouse when the first of his guests began to arrive for the performance. He stayed there until the house was filled to its capacity, acting as a special escort to many of the veterans of his department, whom he led by the hand to their boxes and seats. When Mr. Edwards appeared on the stage, following the band concert, he said:

"I have seen most of you men before, and I am glad to welcome you here this afternoon. I am not going to make you a speech, because later you will hear me give to the men of the Department of Street Cleaning a new kind of talk on the kinetophone, recently perfected by Thomas A. Edison. I hope you will all have a profitable and pleasant afternoon."

The kinetophone was then put in operation while Commissioner Edwards retired from the stage to his box. In the prelude was shown a crowd of college boys, who started to sing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" until they were drowned out by the audience applauding. When the college boys finished their song one of them stepped to the front in the picture and made the presentation of the Commissioner.

For a few moments it was simply a motion picture performance by Mr. Edwards, for his words were lost in the uproar crated by his 5,000 loyal men as he came forward in the picture to address them. When the audience was quieted his speech could be plainly heard until interrupted again by the enthusiastic street cleaners.

"I am allowed through the courtesy of Mr. Edison to make an address to the 6,500 men of the Department of Street Cleaning," said he, "and I am very glad to thank you for the good work you are giving to the City of New York.

"Few people realize that every morning 6,500 men start out to clean the streets of this city, and I am glad to speak to the men of this department who earn their money by the sweat of their brows. Their work is the hardest of any city department, and there is not the slightest question that your salaries should be increased. I am confident that this will come sooner or later. The people of this city ought to arise and call you most efficient. I believe that a large majority of them do.

"The cleaner the streets are the fewer will be the beds in the city's hospitals, because clean streets largely do away with unsanitary conditions.

"Nothing tends toward good street cleaning conditions so much as the cooperation of the people themselves. This city must realize that it can do just as much as the Department of Street Cleaning. The street cleaners leave their jobs at 4 o'clock in the morning, and after that it is up to the citizens of the city to decide whether the streets shall be kept clean. They should consider how much paper and rubbish they throw on the streets. It is estimated that it costs the city $50,000 additional each year for the time used by the department in picking up paper and other rubbish thrown in the streets.

"Those who criticise must criticise intelligently. Those who want clean streets must help. Every one is responsible for the condition of the streets of New York City. My whole idea of co-operation is contained in the following verse:

Why don't they keep the streets a little cleaner?
You ask with keen amazement, not undue.
Why don't they keep the parks a little cleaner?
Did you ever stop to think that this means you?

"Yes, this means you and every other citizen in this city. You have a responsibility to bear. See that you bear that responsibility, and see that your neighbor helps do something to keep the streets clean. It is hardest to help those who will not help themselves. In some localities the streets are littered ten minutes after the street cleaners have left them clean."

The TRUTH About PIANOS

We have just published a booklet, "The Pith of the Piano Problem," which goes to the very heart of the piano question and tells the truth about pianos.

If you are considering the purchase of a piano—no matter how remotely—you owe it to yourself to read this new booklet.

All is not as it seems with pianos. The outside is the least important part—it's the inside mechanism which really counts.

WRITE FOR THIS BOOKLET

"The Pith of the Piano Problem" tells in an interesting, easily understood way how to separate the wheat from the chaff—how to distinguish the good from the bad.

If you wish to avoid possible future regrets—if your aim is to buy a lifetime instrument—write to-day for your copy of "The Pith of the Piano Problem"—no obligation.

VENTILATED STRAWS

20 Degrees Cooler

UNUSUAL styles I'm known for: That my hats contain better value than any hat at the price is also a known fact. So ventilated straws are an added feature without an added cost to you. Little windows concealed by a ventilated band, woven specially for my hats, let the hot air out and the cool air in. Remember you can't get this added feature except at my stores. As usual they're $2

Usual $7.50 Panamas...... $5
Usual $5.00 Bangkoks..... $3.75

CAFÉ BOULEVARD

Let us suggest to you a slight departure from the usual table d'hote or bothersome a la carte ordering.

In the dinner at a fixed price you may leave the selection to our steward or chef or you may include your favorite dishes.

Each course is cooked to order for your party. There is no delay. You are served as promptly as in table d'hote. While one course is being served the next course is being prepared.

You may order by telephone, arranging the cost per plate and the selection of dishes to suit your desires or arrange with the head waiter when you arrive.

You will find the diner à prix fixé a distinctive way of entertaining.
